The War On Lebanon A Reader:

The War on Lebanon Nubar Hovsepian, 2008 Israel's 34 day bombardment of Lebanon in the summer of 2006 demands international attention not only for its tragic results the death of over 1 000 Lebanese civilians and the devastation of Lebanon's infrastructure and environment but for its implications for all of the Middle East What explains Hizballah's capture of two Israeli soldiers and the scale of Israel's retaliation Why did the US reject an early cease fire instead encouraging Israel as Lebanese casualties mounted Why did President Bush and Secretary of State Rice claim the Lebanese and the Arab world would welcome the birth pangs of a new Middle East designed by the US and Israel And where will it all lead Will Lebanon become a modern non sectarian state or will the confessional order be further entrenched

Peacekeeping in South Lebanon Vanessa F. Newby, 2018-06-08 Although the concept of credibility has been identified by the United Nations as a significant factor in successful peacekeeping operations its role has largely been ignored in the literature on peacekeeping at the local level In this book Newby provides the first detailed examination of credibility's essential place in peacekeeping With empirically rich analysis Newby explores the United Nations Interim Force in Lebanon UNIFIL and its navigation of political tensions in one of the world's geopolitical flashpoints a place where the mission's work is constrained by weak local legitimacy born of a complex political situation Identifying four types of credibility technical material security and responsiveness Newby traces the ways in which building credibility served UNIFIL and has enabled the mission to exercise its mandate despite significant challenges on the ground Peacekeeping in South Lebanon unpacks the day to day business of running a peace mission and argues that credibility should be regarded as an independent construct when considering how a peacekeeping operation functions and survives Reconceptualizing Deterrence Elli Lieberman, 2013

This book offers a reconceptualisation of conventional deterrence theory and applies it to enduring rivalries in the Middle East The work argues that many of the problems encountered in the development of deterrence theory lay in the fact that it was developed during the Cold War when the immediate problem it had to address was how to prevent catastrophic nuclear wars The logic of nuclear deterrence compelled a preoccupation with the problem of stability over credibility however because the logic of conventional deterrence is different the solution of the tension between credibility and stability is achieved by deference to credibility due to the requirements of reputation and costly signaling This book aims to narrow the gap between theory and evidence It explores how a reconceptualization of the theory as a process that culminates in the internalization of deterrence within enduring rivalries is better suited to account for its final success a finding that has eluded deterrence theorists for long This interdisciplinary book will be of much interest to students of deterrence theory strategic studies international security Middle Eastern studies and IR in general The Shi'ites of Lebanon Rula Jurdi

Abisaab, Malek Abisaab, 2014-12-09 The complex history of Lebanese Shi'ites has traditionally been portrayed as rooted in religious and sectarian forces The Abisaabs uncover a more nuanced account in which colonialism the modern state social class and provincial politics profoundly shaped Shi'i society The authors trace the sociopolitical economic and intellectual transformation of the Shi'ites of Lebanon from 1920 during the French colonial period until the late twentieth century They shed light on the relationship of contemporary Islamic militancy with traditions of religious modernism and leftism in both Lebanon and Iraq Analyzing the interaction between sacred and secular features of modern Shi'ite society the authors clearly follow the group's turn toward religious revolution and away from secular activism This book transforms our understanding of twentieth century Lebanese history and demonstrates how the rise of Hizbullah was conditioned by Shi'ites consistent marginalization and neglect by the Lebanese state

Middle East Studies for the New Millennium Seteney

Shami, Cynthia Miller-Idriss, 2016-11-15 Few world regions today are of more pressing social and political interest than the Middle East hardly a day has passed in the last decade without events there making global news Understanding the region has never been more important yet the field of Middle East studies in the United States is in flux enmeshed in ongoing controversies about the relationship between knowledge and power the role of the federal government at universities and ways of knowing other cultures and places Assembling a wide range of scholars immersed in the transformations of their disciplines and the study of this world region Middle East Studies for the New Millennium explores the big picture issues affecting the field from the geopolitics of knowledge production to structural changes in the university to broader political and public contexts Tracing the development of the field from the early days of the American university to the Islamophobia of the present day this book explores Middle East studies as a discipline and more generally its impact on the social sciences and academia Topics include how different disciplines engage with Middle East scholars how American universities teach Middle East studies and related fields and the relationship between scholarship and U.S. Arab relations among others Middle East Studies for the New Millennium presents a comprehensive authoritative overview of how this crucial field of academic inquiry came to be and where it is going next

Covering the Shi'a Robert W. Tomlinson, 2018-11-15 Often demonized by the Western media and press Hezbollah's origins are rooted in activities of the Lebanese Shi'a in the late 1970s and early 80s Covering the Shi'a English Press Representation of the Lebanese Shi'a 1975-1985 chronicles how the English language press and media represented the most consequential group in Lebanon to Western audiences during the critical period of 1975-1985 Focusing on three of the most prominent English language newspapers at that time the book outlines how the Western media frequently disregarded the Shi'i civil rights movement in Lebanon Conflating that movement with other Arab independence campaigns the Western media missed key aspects and the dynamics at work in the Lebanese Shi'i community Additionally in failing to understand and report the nature of the transnational networks that supported the Shi'i community in Lebanon the resultant news narrative reported in the English language media was at odds with the narratives harbored by the Lebanese Shi'a themselves In order to gain an understanding of the operations of Lebanese Hezbollah today and the current media coverage of the organization this book offers insights on the origins of Shi'a resistance and how one can evaluate the group today

Lebanon after the Syrian Withdrawal Ohannes Geukjian, 2016-11-10 Lebanon experienced serious instability and ethno-national conflict following the Syrian withdrawal in 2005 compounded by the Arab Spring which led to regional instability and civil war in Iraq and Syria Why did consociational democracy fail Was failure inevitable What impact could external powers play in creating an environment where consociationalism might be successfully implemented This book addresses these key questions and provides a comprehensive analysis of how internal and external elite relations influence the chances of a successful regulation of ethno national conflict through power sharing Exploring the roles played by Syria Qatar Iran Saudi Arabia the United States and France it argues that external actors in the Lebanese conflict largely determined whether power sharing was successfully established and shows that the consociational democratic model cannot provide long term conflict regulation in their absence The author argues that relationships between internal and external actors determine the prospects for successful conflict regulation and pinpoints the crucial role of the external forces in the creation of power sharing agreements in Lebanon concluding that future success is dependent on the maintenance of positive exogenous pressures This book will be of key interest to students and scholars studying politics international relations and Middle East studies

Contemporary State Terrorism Richard Jackson, Eamon Murphy, Scott Poynting, 2009-09-10 This volume aims to bring the state back into terrorism studies and fill the notable gap that currently exists in our understanding of the ways in which states employ terrorism as a political strategy of internal governance or foreign policy Within this broader context the volume has a number of specific aims First it aims to make the argument that state terrorism is a valid and analytically useful concept which can do much to illuminate our understanding of state repression and governance and illustrate the varieties of actors modalities aims forms and outcomes of this form of contemporary political violence Secondly by discussing a rich and diverse set of empirical case studies of contemporary state terrorism this volume explores and tests theoretical notions generates new questions and provides a resource for further research Thirdly it contributes to a critical normative approach to the study of terrorism more broadly and challenges dominant approaches and perspectives which assume that states particularly Western states are primarily victims and not perpetrators of terrorism Given the scarceness of current and past research on state terrorism this volume will make a genuine contribution to the wider field particularly in terms of ongoing efforts to generate more critical approaches to the study of political terrorism This book will be of much interest to students of critical terrorism studies critical security studies terrorism and political violence and political theory in general Richard Jackson is Reader in International Politics at the University of Wales Aberystwyth He is the founding editor of the Routledge journal Critical Studies on Terrorism and the convenor of the BISA Critical Studies on Terrorism Working Group CSTWG Eamon Murphy is Professor of History and International Relations at Curtin University of Technology in Western Australia Scott Poynting is Professor in Sociology at Manchester Metropolitan University

Lebanon / Liban Nadia Tuéni, 2006-04-25 This bilingual anthology edited by Christophe Ippolito contains Samuel Hazo's complete translation of Lebanon Twenty Poems for One Love and Paul B Kelley's selections from the never before translated Sentimental Archives of a War in Lebanon The Francophone poet Nadia Tuéni has devoted readers in Lebanon and elsewhere in the Middle East and has quickly achieved poetic distinction in France The fluency of her poetic language and motifs reflecting Tuéni's love of her people and country is illuminated in Ippolito's introduction She chose to create a new poetic language that captured the fragile essence of her troubled country and exposed the many crises of identities present in the war By identifying with her country she placed herself beyond all parties and created a sacred river that irrigates her poems Drawn from two collections that were published during the civil war in Lebanon in 1979 and 1982 these poems are haunted by the Lebanese war some transcend famous Lebanese locales as the symbolic incarnations of the land's eternal essence others illuminated at first by nostalgic memories take on a prophetic tone Tuéni's work merges the poetic with the political landscape of her country She writes I belong to a country that commits suicide every day while it is being assassinated The languages of Rimbaud Lautréamont and surrealist poetry have had a decisive influence on Tuéni's poetry But she also owes a great debt on the Arabic side to the avant garde poets for example the celebrated Adonis Like many Lebanese writers Tuéni was active in political circles particularly after the war in 1967 Her poems tell of suffering memories of an abandoned garden slip away of her own life slipping away and in the end the reader is invited to reflect on the mimesis of identity identity of a country identity of a woman each echoing the other
