

"But how does she cut?" the people asked. "How does she sleep?"

What they didn't know was that other word shakers threw syllables across, and the girl climbed down to the lower branches to collect them.

IT SUCCEEDED. It rained. Someone came and went. The word shaker returned.

When the last answer gave up, he called up to her. "Word shaker! You can come down now! There is no one who can defeat this tree!"

The word shaker, who could only just make out the last sentence, replied with a whisper. She handed it down through the branches. "No, that isn't so," she said, for she knew that it was only herself who was holding the tree straight.

NO ONE knew how long it had rained, but one afternoon, a new answer walked into town. His bag looked too heavy for him. His eyes drooped. His feet drooped with exhaustion. "The tree," he asked the people. "Where is the tree?"

An audience followed him, and when he arrived, clouds had covered the highest regions of the branches. The word shaker stood near the people calling out that a new answer had come to put an end to her reign!

"She will not come down," the people said, "for anyone."

They did not know who the answer was, and they did not know that he was infernal!

He opened his bag and pulled out something much smaller than an ax.
