

The book cover features a background pattern of a grid of squares. Each square contains a series of vertical lines, creating a textured, woven appearance. The colors of the squares transition from a deep blue at the top to a teal and then a greenish-blue at the bottom. A large, solid red rectangle is positioned in the upper-middle section of the cover, containing the title text in white. Below the red rectangle, three horizontal orange bars contain additional text in white.

Twentieth Century Building Materials History And Conservation:

Twentieth-Century Building Materials Thomas C. Jester, 2014-08-01 Over the concluding decades of the twentieth century the historic preservation community increasingly turned its attention to modern buildings including bungalows from the 1930s gas stations and diners from the 1940s and office buildings and architectural homes from the 1950s Conservation efforts however were often hampered by a lack of technical information about the products used in these structures and to fill this gap Twentieth Century Building Materials was developed by the U S Department of the Interior s National Park Service and first published in 1995 Now this invaluable guide is being reissued with a new preface by the book s original editor With more than 250 illustrations including a full color photographic essay the volume remains an indispensable reference on the history and conservation of modern building materials Thirty seven essays written by leading experts offer insights into the history manufacturing processes and uses of a wide range of materials including glass block aluminum plywood linoleum and gypsum board Readers will also learn about how these materials perform over time and discover valuable conservation and repair techniques Bibliographies and sources for further research complete the volume The book is intended for a wide range of conservation professionals including architects engineers conservators and material scientists engaged in the conservation of modern buildings as well as scholars in related disciplines Twentieth-century Building

In the mid 1920s a physiologist a glass chemist and a zoo embarked on a project which promised to turn buildings into medical instruments The advanced chemistry of Vita Glass mobilised theories of light and medicine health practices and glassmaking technology to compress an entire epoch s hopes for a healthy life into a glass sheet yet it did so invisibly To communicate its advantage Pilkington Bros spared no expense as they launched the most costly and sophisticated marketing campaign in their history Engineering need for Vita Glass employed leading edge market research evocative photography and vanguard techniques of advertising psychology accompanied by the claim Let in the Health Rays of Daylight Permanently through Vita Glass Windows This is the story of how despite the best efforts of two glass companies the leading marketing firm of the day and the opinions of leading medical minds Vita Glass failed However it epitomised an age of lightness and airiness sleeping porches flat roofs and ribbon windows Moreover through its remarkable print advertising it strove to shape the ideal relationship between our buildings and our bodies

The Ecologies of the Building Envelope Alejandro Zaera-Polo, Jeffrey Anderson, 2021-05-11 The Ecologies of the Envelope theorizes the building envelope as a literal embodiment of the social political technological and economic contingencies which have become embedded within it over the last century analyzing the historical lineages heroes and villains that helped define the complex material ecologies we see within the envelope today While the fa ade is one of the most thoroughly theorized elements of architecture it is also one of the most questioned since the end of the 19th century Within the discipline of architecture the traditional understanding of the fa ade focuses primarily on semiotic and compositional operations such as proportional laws and linguistic codes which are deployed on the building s surface In contrast to this our material and environmental theory of the envelope proposes that the exponential development of building technologies since the mid 19th century coupled with new techniques of management and regulation have diminished the compositional and ornamental capacities of the envelope in favor of material quantitative and technical performances Rather than producing a stylistic analysis of the fa ade we investigate the historical lineages of the performances components assembly types and material entanglements that constitute the contemporary building envelope
