Twenty-Five Years in the Rifle Brigade (Classic Reprint) William Surtees,2015-07-14 Excerpt from Twenty Five Years in the Rifle Brigade The Author of the following Narrative entered the Army in early life He commenced his military career in 1795 as a private soldier in the Northumberland Militia and in the following year he volunteered into the Pompadours In this regiment he first faced the enemy during the expedition to Holland under the Duke of York On getting his discharge from the Pompadours in 1802 he again entered the service as a private in the Rifle Brigade to which he was attached for a period of twenty five years From his steady conduct and ardent love for his profession he was soon advanced from the ranks and after various intermediate steps was appointed Quartermaster a situation which he held as long as he continued in the corps enjoying the respect and esteem of his brother officers of all ranks as is amply testified by the letters which form the Appendix to this volume Though as Quartermaster the Author was not called by duty to join in battle yet he lost no opportunity of entering the scene of action or of placing himself in a favourable situation for observing what was passing It is unnecessary to enumerate the arduous services of the Rifle Brigade from 1802 to 1815 About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

Wurtees,1833 Wellington's Light Division and the Invasion of Spain Robert Burnham,Ron McGuigan,2025-12-30 After evicting the French from Portugal in 1811 the Duke of Wellington went on the offensive having decided to attack into Spain and liberate the country To do this however he first had to capture the key border fortresses of Ciudad Rodrigo and Badajoz By doing this he would secure the main routes into Portugal and protect his supply lines By mid April in 1812 Wellington s forces had captured both fortresses and he began planning to move into central Spain to liberate Madrid Then by late July he fought and effectively destroyed the French Army of Portugal at the Battle of Salamanca and a month later was welcomed by the population of Madrid as its liberator However

September saw the offensive stall and a gathering of French forces By October the order came to abandon Madrid and withdraw back to Portugal Wellington's army had to move quickly to avoid being cut off and its line of communication with Lisbon severed The retreat soon turned into a grueling slog in miserable weather with little food all the while the British troops were pursued by a relentless enemy hard on their heels It would be late November before the army reached the safety of the Portuguese border As in previous years the Light Division was in the thick of the fighting It was part of the assault force at both the storming of Ciudad Rodrigo and of Badajoz It led the army into Spain and was on the left flank at Salamanca It was one of the first units to march into Madrid and during the retreat it was part of the rear guard By the end of November 1812 the division was back in its cantonments around Ciudad Rodrigo It had however taken horrendous casualties at all levels over the past eleven months and it was only a shadow of itself Packed with first hand accounts and previously unpublished material these new sources especially the diaries permit us to check the movements and locations of the regiments the impact of over extended supply lines and the arrival of reinforcements and new commanders as never before revealed
