Two And Three Dimensional Patterns Of The Face:

Two- and Three-Dimensional Patterns of the Face Peter W. Hallinan, Gaile Gordon, A. L. Yuille, Peter Gibling, David Mumford, 1999-06-15 The human face is perhaps the most familiar and easily recognized object in the world yet both its three dimensional shape and its two dimensional images are complex and hard to characterize This book develops the vocabulary of ridges and parabolic curves of illumination eigenfaces and elastic warpings for describing the perceptually salient features

Handbook of Research on Face Processing A.W. Young, H.D. Ellis, 2013-10-22 The high degree of scientific interest in face processing is readily understandable since people's faces provide such a wealth of social information Moreover investigations have produced evidence of highly precocious face processing abilities in infants and of neural mechanisms in adults that seem to be differentially involved in face perception Such findings demonstrate that as one might expect the psychological importance of the face has clear biological underpinnings There are also urgent practical reasons for wanting to understand face processing The most extensively investigated of these involve forensic issues Other applications include the development of automated recognition systems for security and other purposes and understanding and rehabilitating disorders and impairments linked to brain injuries and psychiatric conditions Current studies of face processing are grouped in the volume into eleven topic areas For each area the editors approached an acknowledged authority and commissioned a review chapter summarising the findings that have been made These chapters were then circulated to other experts who were asked to write brief commentaries that developed theoretical or empirical points of importance to each area In this way a balanced coverage of each topic is achieved The book begins with a section examining the evidence suggesting that there may be something special about face processing This is followed by consideration of the face as a visual pattern Then there are four sections dealing with major uses of facial information followed by sections discussing the development of face processing abilities and the neural mechanisms involved The last three sections of the book deal with topics for which there are important practical applications for the studies reported

Das zweite Gesicht Wolfgang Brückle, 2002 The human face has fascinated photographers and their audiences ever since the medium's inception in the 19th century And just as photography has changed since its invention so has the way in which the human face is portrayed Using the work of photography's great pioneers to its contemporary innovators this book traces the stunning technical possibilities of camera and film As subject matter the human face is continually manipulated through amazingly diverse aesthetic strategies playful imaginative provocative and even subversive Here nine brilliant essays focus on the many techniques of rendering the photographic portrait such as photocollage multiple exposures digitalization and animation The book includes nearly 150 images ranging from Francis Galton's composite pictures from the 1880s pictorialism at the turn of the century experiments by the avant garde and subjective photography of the post war years to today's synthesized photographs and interactive sculptures The book arranges the photographs into five thematic sections revealing how the act of reinventing the classic image of the human face compels us to reexamine our relationships with others and with life itself Proceedings of the Sixth International Conference on Advances in Pattern Recognition Pinakpani Pal,2007 Contains a series of ICAPR proceedings on the advances of different facets of pattern recognition This work tackles open problems in the classic fields of image and video processing document analysis and multimedia object retrieval as well as more advanced topics in biometrics speech and signal analysis English Homes, Period I-[VI] ...: Period IV, v. 2 Henry Avray Tipping,1928 Navigating Through Geometry in Prekindergarten-grade 2 Carol R.
