Halliday, 2017-10-26

Global lawmaking by international organizations holds the potential for enormous influence over world trade and national economies. Representatives from states, industries and professions produce laws for worldwide adoption in an effort to alter state lawmaking and commercial behaviors whether of giant multi national corporations or micro small and medium sized businesses. Who makes that law and who benefits affects all states and all market players. Global Lawmakers offers the first extensive empirical study of commercial lawmaking within the United Nations. It shows who makes law for the world how they make it and who comes out ahead. Using extensive and unique data the book investigates three episodes of lawmaking between the late 1990s and 2012. Through its original socio legal orientation it reveals dynamics of competition, cooperation and competitive cooperation within and between international organizations including the UN, World Bank, IMF and UNIDROIT as these IOs craft international laws. Global Lawmakers proposes an original theory of international organizations that seek to construct transnational legal orders within social ecologies of lawmaking. The book concludes with an appraisal of creative global governance by the UN in international commerce over the past fifty years and examines prospective challenges for the twenty first century.

UNCITRAL Model Law on Secured Transactions United Nations Commission on International Trade Law, 2016. The Model Law deals with security interests in all types of tangible and intangible movable property such as goods, receivables, bank accounts, negotiable instruments, negotiable documents. Using the Uncitral Legislative Guide as a Tool for a Secured Transactions Reform in Sub-Saharan Africa Marek Dubovec, 2013. The purpose of this article is to introduce the reader to the on going reform of the secured transactions framework in Malawi that seeks to increase access to credit particularly for small and medium sized businesses (SMEs). Malawi may become the first jurisdiction in Africa to have a modern and efficient legal framework in place for security interests in personal property. The legal reform culminated in the adoption of the Personal Property Security Act in July 2013. Report of the United Nations Commission on International Trade Law on the Work of Its Session[s] United Nations Commission on International Trade Law, 2008.

Official Records, 2012. Cross Border Secured Transactions Anjanette Raymond, 2014. One year after the adoption of UNCITRAL's Legislative Guide on Secured Transactions provides us with a wonderful opportunity to look both forward and back in assessing the progress of harmonization within the context of the law governing secured transactions. The purpose of this paper will be to review developments in the field of secured transactions law, assessing the different approaches that have been used both successfully and not within the context of the harmonization efforts. Part II will briefly consider the ongoing debates and argue that it is time to move past these issues. Part III will discuss the legislative guide and the impact it could have on the harmonization efforts and Part IV will consider the next step in the harmonization efforts.
