The Sketch, the Tale, and the Beginnings of American Literature Lydia G. Fash, 2020-03-31 Accounts of the rise of American literature often start in the 1850s with a cluster of great American novels Hawthorne's The Scarlet Letter Melville's Moby Dick and Stowe's Uncle Tom's Cabin But these great works did not spring fully formed from the heads of their creators All three relied on conventions of short fiction built up during the culture of beginnings the three decades following the War of 1812 when public figures glorified the American past and called for a patriotic national literature Decentering the novel as the favored form of early nineteenth century national literature Lydia Fash repositions the sketch and the tale at the center of accounts of American literary history revealing how cultural forces shaped short fiction that was subsequently mined for these celebrated midcentury novels and for the first novel published by an African American In the shorter works of writers such as Washington Irving Catharine Sedgwick Edgar Allan Poe and Lydia Maria Child among others the aesthetic of brevity enabled the beginning idea of a story to take the outsized importance fitted to the culture of beginnings Fash argues that these short forms with their ethnic exclusions and narrative innovations coached readers on how to think about the United States past and the nature of narrative time itself Combining history print history and literary criticism this book treats short fiction as a vital site for debate over what it meant to be American thereby offering a new account of the birth of a self consciously national literary tradition

Racial Innocence Robin Bernstein, 2011-12 In Racial Innocence Robin Bernstein argues that the concept of childhood innocence has been central to U.S. racial formation since the mid nineteenth century Children white ones imbued with innocence black ones excluded from it and others of color erased by it figured pivotally in sharply divergent racial agendas from slavery and abolition to antiblack violence and the early civil rights movement Bernstein takes up a rich archive including books toys theatrical props and domestic knickknacks which she analyzes as scriptive things that invite or prompt historically located practices while allowing for resistance and social improvisation Integrating performance studies with literary and visual analysis Bernstein offers singular readings of theatrical productions from blackface minstrelsy to Uncle Tom's Cabin to The Wonderful Wizard of Oz literary works by Joel Chandler Harris Harriet Wilson and Frances Hodgson Burnett material culture including Topsy pincushions Uncle Tom and Little Eva handkerchiefs and Raggedy Ann dolls and visual texts ranging from fine portraiture to advertisements for lard substitute Throughout Bernstein shows how innocence gradually became the exclusive province of white children until the Civil Rights Movement succeeded not only in legally desegregating public spaces but in culturally desegregating the concept of childhood itself Publisher's description Uncle Tom's Cabin Harriet Beecher Stowe, 2010 One of the most important activist texts in American Literature is now available in a thoroughly updated and revised Norton Critical Edition In the nineteenth century Uncle Tom's Cabin sold more copies than any book in the world except the Bible Upon publication it was quickly translated into thirty seven languages and has never gone out of print It remains a controversial and complex text that along with David Walker's Appeal Henry David Thoreau's Walden W E B DuBois's The Souls of Black Folk and Helena Mar a Viramontes Under the Feet of Jesus among others stands out as an important text in the progressive struggle for social justice in the United States This Second Edition is based on the original 1852 book edition published in two volumes by John P Jewett and Company Boston and includes all original illustrations The text is accompanied by a preface and detailed explanatory annotations to assist the reader with obscure historical terms and biblical allusions Backgrounds and Contexts includes a wealth of historical documents addressing the issues of slavery and abolitionism New visuals in the Second Edition include a selection of abolition posters and records of torture Also newly included is J Hector St John de Crèvecoeur's eyewitness account of slavery as a visitor to the United States a selection from David Walker's Appeal and Henrietta King's autobiographical account of the horror of slavery Criticism presents a balanced view of the ongoing controversy over Uncle Tom's Cabin in fifteen reviews and scholarly interpretations spanning more than 150 years of writing about the novel Paul Laurence Dunbar Jane P Tompkins and Susan M Ryan among others admire Uncle Tom's Cabin for its social vision and artistry while James Baldwin and Sophia Cantave among others argue that the book's racism continues to promote misperceptions and that its prominence does ongoing damage A Chronology of Stowe's life and work a Brief Timeline of Slavery in America and an updated Selected Bibliography are also included The History of Reading S. Towheed, W. Owens, 2011-08-25 Bringing together research from a variety of countries and periods this volume introduces readers to the diverse approaches used to recover the evidence of reading through history in different societies and asks whether reading practices are always conditioned by specific local circumstances or whether broader patterns might emerge Glancing Visions Zachary Tavlín, 2023-06-13 The sweeping vantages that typify American landscape painting from the nineteenth century by Thomas Cole and other members of the Hudson School are often interpreted for their geopolitical connotations as visual attempts to tame the wild alleviating fears of a savage frontier through views that subdue the landscape to the eye Zachary Tavlín's Glancing Visions challenges the long standing assumption that visuality in nineteenth century art and literature was inherently imperialistic or possessive While there is much to be said for both material economic and theological impulses to clear the wilderness superimpose a national identity and usher in a Puritanical idyll many literary figures of the era display a purposeful disdain for the possessive gaze signaling instead a preference for subtle glances often informed by early photography Impressionism new techniques in portraiture and soon after the dawn of cinema The visual subjectivities and contingencies introduced by these media made room for a visual counter narrative one informed by a mode of seeing that moves fast and lightly across the surface of things Tavlin probes Nathaniel Hawthorne's idea of the imagination one that derives from both the camera obscura in The Custom House and the daguerreotype in The House of the Seven Gables each in its way an instance of the glance and entirely dependent on temporal moments The poetry of Frances Ellen Watkins Harper toggles between gazes and glances unsettling two competing forms of racialized seeing as they pertain to nineteenth century Black life and racial hierarchies the sentimental gaze and the slave trader's glance highlighting the life and death stakes of both looking anyone squarely in the eye and looking away Emily Dickinson's certain slant of light syntactical oddities and her stitching of scraps and fragments into the fascicles that constitute her corpus all derive from a commitment to contingency the ungrounded life's only defense against the abyss of non being Tavlin investigates as well Henry James's vexed but entirely dependent relationship to literary and painterly impressionism and William Carlos Williams's imagist poetics as a response to early cinema's use of the cut as the basis for a new visual grammar Each of these literary artists Tavlin argues via their own distinctive sensibilities and the artistic or technological counterparts that informed them refuse the authoritative all possessive gaze in favor of the glance a mode of seeing thinking and being that made way for what we now think of as commonplace namely modernity

Spectacles of Reform Amy E. Hughes, 2012-12-17 In the nineteenth century long before film and television brought us explosions car chases and narrow escapes it was America's theaters that thrilled audiences with sensation scenes of speeding trains burning buildings and endangered bodies often in melodramas extolling the virtues of temperance abolition and women's suffrage Amy E Hughes scrutinizes these peculiar intersections of spectacle and reform revealing the crucial role that spectacle has played in American activism and how it has remained central to the dramaturgy of reform Hughes traces the cultural history of three famous sensation scenes the drunkard with the delirium tremens the fugitive slave escaping over a river and the victim tied to the railroad tracks assessing how these scenes conveyed allayed and denied concerns about the rights and responsibilities of citizenship These images also appeared in printed propaganda suggesting that the coup d'état was an essential part of American reform culture Additionally Hughes argues that today's producers and advertisers continue to exploit the affective dynamism of spectacle reaching an even broader audience through film television and the Internet To be attuned to the dynamics of spectacle Hughes argues is to understand how we see Her book will interest not only theater historians but also scholars and students of political literary and visual culture who are curious about how U S citizens saw themselves and their world during
