Under Siege Inter Ethnic Relations In Abkhazia Columbia Or Hurst:

Under Siege Tom Trier, Hedvig Lohm, David Szakonyi, 2010 Located in the northeastern corner of the Black Sea Abkhazia was once part of Georgia but broke away from the country after the fall of the Soviet Republic For fifteen years the region functioned as a de facto independent though internationally unrecognized state until August of 2008 when the short war over South Ossetia another breakaway territory ended in Russia's recognition of Abkhazian and South Ossetian sovereignty With the exception of Nicaragua however no other state has recognized the two breakaway republics Therefore though few might be familiar with the political and economic mechanics of this small post Soviet country Abkhazia has become a crucial component of Russia's struggle to redefine its global influence and a major player in its geopolitical battle with the West Under Siege clarifies Abkhazia's ethno political dynamics which have played a major role in the country's state building efforts and have come to shape the conditions under which the country's many ethnic communities live Abkhazians Armenians Georgians and Russians all call Abkhazia home and this volume explores the effect of the government's de facto status on these groups idea of nationhood and how continuing tensions between Georgia Abkhazia and Russia fail to improve the socio political situation of the region The book also investigates the conflict between human rights minority protections and Abkhazia's state building project Nation-Building and Identity in the Post-Soviet Space Rico Isaacs, Abel

Polese, 2016-04-14 Nation building as a process is never complete and issues related to identity nation state and regime building are recurrent in the post Soviet region This comparative inter disciplinary volume explores how nation building tools emerged and evolved over the last twenty years Featuring in depth case studies from countries throughout the post Soviet space it compares various aspects of nation building and identity formation projects Approaching the issue from a variety of disciplines and geographical areas contributors illustrate chapter by chapter how different state and non state actors utilise traditional instruments of nation construction in new ways while also developing non traditional tools and strategies to provide a contemporary account of how nation formation efforts evolve and diverge Opportunity, Identity, and

Resources in Ethnic Mobilization Ahmed Abdel-Hafez Fawaz, 2017-06-15 Recent unrest and political upheaval in Iraq and Georgia have brought attention to the place of minority populations in both countries Using Iraqi Kurds and the Abkhaz of Georgia as case studies this book addresses how ethnic identities become politicized across boundaries by states and political entrepreneurs leading to mobilization of ethnic populations This book bridges Middle Eastern studies with Post Soviet studies exploring the commonalities of cases in these regions to draw out patterns in cases of ethnic mobilization It also provides a theoretical framework to examine the process of ethnic mobilization Building on this theoretical framework the book provides a detailed empirical analysis of the case studies of the Kurds in Iraq and the Abkhaz in Georgia Analysis of both cases shows several common variables in cases of ethnic mobilization including ethnic entrepreneurs political opportunity structure ethnic identity politicization and resource mobilization These variables form the environment in which ethnic mobilization occurs motivated by such factors as state policy towards ethnic groups and external intervention to support ethnic groups

States, Secessionists and De Facto Control after Separatist Wars Nicholas Barker, 2025-05-05 This book investigates how states and secessionists seek to resolve questions of de facto control in the aftermath of secessionist wars This work presents a study of the termination and aftermath of separatist wars using two in depth case studies the Georgia Abkhazia conflict 1994 2006 and the Serbia Kosovo conflict 1999 2008 to develop an empirically grounded theoretical framework to explain state and secessionist strategies for controlling territory and populations in post war environments It draws on fieldwork and archival research carried out in Georgia Abkhazia Serbia Kosovo and the UN archives and presents further evidence to develop and extend the framework using shadow cases of the separatist wars in the Caucasus and the Balkans By focusing on actors objectives and their strategies for controlling territory and populations within the constraints and opportunities of a post war context this study helps explain what states and secessionists do and why in the critical period after a war ends and helps inform understanding of the formation and trajectories of post war orders This study has relevance for international policymakers with reflections on how the theoretical framework may facilitate conflict analysis and inform policy responses towards protracted armed conflict This book will be of interest to students of statehood intra state conflict and civil wars international security and International Relations in general

Conflict and Co-existence Andrea Juliane Peinhopf, 2020

The Conflict Over Abkhazia (1989-2010) David Matsaberidze, 2011-10 This study reflects on the role of institutions and institutional actors in the conflict over Abkhazia from the late 1980s till the Russian recognition of the independence of Abkhazia and South Ossetia after the August War of 2008 Institutionalism is chosen as the theoretical framework of the study The investigation does not follow the traditional chronological description but offers a problem based narration The research explores the Soviet inherited institutions constitutions supreme soviets political and economic decrees which determined the path dependence of the conflict The research claims that the failure of the conflict resolution projects was caused by divergent interpretations of the future institutional relations between the two ethnic groups Therefore overcoming the Soviet institutionally inherited legacies is the number one problem It is also argued that the re institutionalization of Georgian Abkhazian relations requires the re modeling of the relations between external actors Nevertheless the flexibility of institutional solutions brings some hopes for the re negotiation of inter ethnic political relations between Georgians and Abkhazians
