Street Trees of Seattle Taha Ebrahimi, 2024-04-16 The majestic trees of Seattle's neighborhoods take center stage in this illustrated and informative walking guide Want to discover which neighborhood has the highest concentration of cherry street trees when cherry blossoms are at their peak Eager to stroll down the only street lined with western red cedars Curious how monkey puzzle trees made their way to the city Using data visualization as a starting point the author takes readers on a tour of existing street trees throughout Seattle's neighborhoods and iconic parks through charming illustrations and maps. In the process she educates readers on the history of the trees and the city and offers up sketches of trees, leaves, and leaflets to identify trees throughout 33 different neighborhoods. The most notable of each species are highlighted so urban adventurers can fully appreciate their surroundings or design their own walking routes to experience these natural wonders in their favorite areas of the city. The book is organized alphabetically by neighborhood and each area showcases a species of tree. Includes a history of the tree and neighborhood. Offers maps and callouts for spotting the best street specimens. In an increasingly digital world, the book invites readers to slow down and embrace an analog approach to tree spotting during their urban meanderings. European Rural Landscapes Hannes Palang, 2004-05-31

This book, a compendium of 28 papers selected from two recent conferences on the topic, focuses on aspects of rural landscape broadly related to issues of language representation and power. These are issues that have not been addressed on a pan-European landscape level before. The aim is to offer a deeper interdisciplinary understanding of historical and contemporary processes in European landscapes. Cerambycidae of Northern Asia A.I. Cherepanov, 2023-10-09

Volume I of this monograph describes the morphology, geographic distribution, and biology of cerambycid beetles (Coleoptera: Cerambycidae) of four subfamilies: Prioninae, Disteniinae, Lepturinae, and Aseminae, comprising 124 species. Keys to taxa based on different developmental stages are presented here for the first time; host relationships are explained, and the life cycle and ecology of each species are assessed. This information forms the theoretical basis for resolving various practical problems For the Love of Trees Richard Hinchcliff, R. V. Popadiouk, 2007 Bibliography of Agriculture, 1974 OTS. United States. Dept. of Commerce. Office of Technical Services, 1964 OTS, 1963 Acarid Phylogeny and Evolution: Adaptation in Mites and Ticks Fabio Bernini, Roberto Nannelli, Giorgio Nuzzaci, Enrico de Lillo, 2013-03-09

The words pronounced by Serge Kreiter during the meeting come to mind They could record exactly the situation of Acarology in Europe and in the World I think that in many European countries there are very few full time acarologists It is very rare to have new positions available And public money from the European Community but also from national countries is very hard to get when you want to work on mites Could two acarological associations in Europe Eur A Ac and S I A L F work together or better get married So the fourth symposium of the European Acarologists has not only been the occasion to have an idea on which direction the research is addressed today but also it pointed out the difficulties of our scientific branch On the basis of the presentations and invited papers we had evidences of a new Acarology based on modern techniques and methods of investigations but also the importance often sheltered even if of relevant value of the old Acarology made on the alpha taxonomy and basic studies So a new Acarology needs the old one In this context the hope to put together the European acarologists has been coming up This fact of political meaning can surely improve the acarological movement and the discussion on this point showed clearly the importance of several other activities and efforts in this direction We hope that the meeting in Siena will represent a significative stone for the progress of Acarology
