Thinking Big How The Evolution Of Social Life Shaped The Human Mind:

Thinking Big: How the Evolution of Social Life Shaped the Human Mind Robin Dunbar, Clive Gamble, John Gowlett, 2014-06-17 A closer look at genealogy incorporating how biological anthropological and technical factors can influence human lives We are at a pivotal moment in understanding our remote ancestry and its implications for how we live today The barriers to what we can know about our distant relatives have been falling as a result of scientific advance such as decoding the genomes of humans and Neanderthals and bringing together different perspectives to answer common questions These collaborations have brought new knowledge and suggested fresh concepts to examine The results have shaken the old certainties The results are profound not just for the study of the past but for appreciating why we conduct our social lives in ways and at scales that are familiar to all of us But such basic familiarity raises a dilemma When surrounded by the myriad technical and cultural innovations that support our global urbanized lifestyles we can lose sight of the small social worlds we actually inhabit and that can be traced deep into our ancestry So why do we need art religion music kinship myths and all the other facets of our over active imaginations if the reality of our effective social worlds is set by a limit of some one hundred and fifty partners Dunbar's number made of family friends and useful acquaintances How could such a social community lead to a city the size of London or a country as large as China Do we really carry our hominin past into our human present It is these small worlds and the link they allow to the study of the past that forms the central point in this book

Canvi lingüístic, estandardització i identitat en català / Linguistic Change, Standardization and Identity in Catalan Hans-Ingo Radatz, 2020-05-15 The multiplicity of parallel identities that make up our personalities is a phenomenon in which our individual identity choices merge with diverse collective identities The present volume is a contribution to the field of Identity Studies but from a clearly linguistic perspective It unites several contributions which analyze discourses centered on national or regional identities as for instance the Catalanity of the frontier city of Lleida the connection between the natural environment and the conceptualization of deictic space or the dialectics between center and periphery Other chapters try to shed light on problems arising from the particular situation of Catalan as a non state language The contributions thus range from aspects of Cultural Studies on identities and their constituting discourses to Catalan linguistics and sociolinguistics

Desired Language Francesc Feliu,2023-01-15 National linguistic ideology has been at the base of most historical processes that whether they are complete or not have brought us to the current reality a world of languages that represent with greater or lesser exactitude the diversity and convergences of human groups Various of today s thinkers have predicted the decline or even the end of national ideologies In the area of language postmodernism would make the linguistic affiliation of the community individuals irrelevant de ideologise language use and extend plurilingualism and language alternation in association with a new distribution of physical or functional spaces of linguistic practice But is this true everywhere Are languages now nowhere the core of collective identity Or are we witnessing a distinction between languages that because of their magnitude status strategic position etc can continue to exercise the function of national languages and languages that have to renounce this function Has national linguistic ideology really ceased to make sense What other strategies should the historic language of a given geographic area employ if it wants to continue forming part of the life of the community that is set up there What kinds of languages are desired by politicians intellectuals and philologists This book aims to bring some thoughts about these questions

Crossing the Human Threshold Matt Pope,John McNabb,Clive Gamble,2017-11-22 When was the human threshold crossed What is the evidence for evolving humans and their emerging humanity This volume explores in a global overview the archaeology of the Middle Pleistocene 800 000 to 130 000 years ago when evidence for innovative cultural behaviour appeared The evidence shows that the threshold was crossed slowly by a variety of human ancestors and was not confined to one part of the Old World Crossing the Human Threshold examines the changing evidence during this period for the use of place landscape and technology It focuses on the emergence of persistent places and associated developments in tool use hunting strategies and the control of fire represented across the Old World by deeply stratified cave sites These include the most important sites for the archaeology of human origins in the Levant South Africa Asia and Europe presented here as evidence for innovation in landscape thinking during the Middle Pleistocene The volume also examines persistence at open locales through a cutting edge review of the archaeology of Northern France and England Crossing the Human Threshold is for the worldwide community of students and researchers studying early hominins and human evolution It presents new archaeological data It frames the evidence within current debates to understand the differences and similarities between ourselves and our ancient ancestors

From Object to Experience Harry Francis Mallgrave,2018-06-28 Harry Francis Mallgrave combines a history of ideas about architectural experience with the latest insights from the fields of neuroscience cognitive science and evolutionary biology to make a powerful argument about the nature and future of architectural design Today the sciences have granted us the tools to help us understand better than ever before the precise ways in which the built environment can affect the building user's individual experience Through an understanding of these tools architects should be able to become better designers prioritizing the experience of space the emotional and aesthetic responses and the sense of homeostatic well being of those who will occupy any designed environment In From Object to Experience Mallgrave goes further arguing that it should also be possible to build an effective new cultural ethos for architectural practice Drawing upon a range of humanistic and biological sources and emphasizing the far reaching implications of new neuroscientific discoveries and models this book brings up to date insights and theoretical clarity to a position that was once considered revolutionary but is fast becoming accepted in architecture

The Earliest Europeans Robert Hosfield, 2020-05-31 The Earliest Europeans explores the early origins of man in Europe through the perspective of a year in the life how hominins in the Lower Palaeolithic coped with the year round practical challenges of mid latitude Europe with its distinctive temperatures seasonality patterns and available resources Current research has provided increasingly robust archaeological and Quaternary Science records but there are ongoing uncertainties as to both the earliest Europeans specific survival strategies and behaviours and the character of their dispersals into Europe In short how sustained and successful were the individual phases of European occupation by Lower Palaeolithic hominins and what sorts of human were they Using a season by season chapter structure to explore for example the contrasting demands and opportunities of winter versus summer survival Hosfield explores how foods and other resources would vary across the four seasons in quantity and quality and the resulting implications for hominin behaviours Text boxes provide the background on key issues and the book draws on a range of supporting evidence including technology e.g the nature of Lower Palaeolithic stone tools the evidence for organic tools hominin life history e.g the length of infant dependency the nature of parenting the implications of different mating models the Social Brain Hypothesis cognitive studies e.g brain scanning research into possible planning capabilities and potential bias in the archaeological record e.g in terms of what is and isn't preserved By testing the likelihood of different scenarios by comparing short term site based insights with long term regional trends Hosfield is able to put forward ideas on how our earliest European ancestors survived and what their lives were like
