Thinking About God In An Age Of Technology:

Thinking about God in an Age of Technology George Pattison, 2005-09-22 Taking up the critique of theology found in the work of Heidegger George Pattison argues for a model of thinking about God that would not be liable to the charge of enframing that Heidegger sees as characteristic of technological thinking He constructs his case in relation to particular issues in bioethics the place of theology in the university the arts and the contemporary experience of living in the city

Thinking about God in an Age of Technology George Pattison, 2007 Bonhoeffer's Christocentric Theology and Fundamental Debates in Environmental Ethics Steven C. van den Heuvel, 2017-05-04 There is widespread understanding of the close connection between religion and the ecological crisis and that in order to amend this crisis theological resources are needed This monograph seeks to contribute to this endeavor by engaging the theology of Dietrich Bonhoeffer His theology is particularly suitable in this context due to its open ended nature and to the prophetic and radical nature of the questions he was prepared to ask that is why there are many other attempts to contextualize Bonhoeffer's theology in areas that he himself has not directly written about In this monograph Steven van den Heuvel first of all addresses the question of how to translate Bonhoeffer's theology in a methodologically sound way He settles on a modified form of the general method of correlation Then secondly van den Heuvel sets out to describe five major concepts in Bonhoeffer's work bringing these into critical interplay with discussions in environmental ethics and eco theology In making the correlations he thoroughly describes each concept situating it in the historic and intellectual background of Bonhoeffer's time He then transposes these concepts to contemporary environmental ethics describing what contribution Bonhoeffer's theology can make Technofutures, Nature and the Sacred Celia Deane-Drummond, Sigurd Bergmann, Bronislaw Szerszynski, 2016-03-03 The capacity of human beings to invent construct and use technical artifacts is a hugely consequential factor in the evolution of society and in the entangled relations between humans other creatures and their natural environments Moving from a critical consideration of theories to narratives about technology and then to particular and specific practices Technofutures Nature and the Sacred seeks to arrive at a genuinely transdisciplinary perspective focusing attention on the intersection between technology religion and society and using insights from the environmental humanities It works from both theoretical and practical contexts by using newly emerging case studies including geo engineering and soil carbon technologies and breaks open new ground by engaging theological scientific philosophical and cultural aspects of the technology religion nature nexus Encouraging us to reflect on the significance and place of religious beliefs in dealing with new technologies and engaging critical theory common in sociological political and literary discourses the authors explore the implicit religious claims embedded in technology Eschatology and the Technological Future Michael S. Burdett, 2014-12-05 The rapid advancement of technology has led to an explosion of speculative theories about what the future of humankind may look like These technological futurisms have arisen from significant advances in the fields of nanotechnology biotechnology and information technology and are drawing growing scrutiny from the philosophical and theological communities This text seeks to contextualize the growing literature on the cultural philosophical and religious implications of technological growth by considering technological futurisms such as transhumanism in the context of the long historical tradition of technological dreaming Michael Burdett traces the latent religious sources of our contemporary technological imagination by looking at visionary approaches to technology and the future in seminal technological utopias and science fiction and draws on past theological responses to the technological future with Pierre Teilhard de Chardin and Jacques Ellul Burdett's argument arrives at a contemporary Christian response to transhumanism based around the themes of possibility and promise by turning to the works of Richard Kearney Eberhard Jüngel and Jürgen Moltmann Throughout the author highlights points of correspondence and divergence between technological futurisms and the Judeo-Christian understanding of the future

Kierkegaard and Modern Continental Philosophy Michael Weston, 2003-05-20 In Kierkegaard and Modern European Philosophy An Introduction Michael Weston argues that despite being acknowledged as a precursor to Nietzsche and post-Nietzschean thinkers such as Heidegger and Derrida the radical nature of Kierkegaard's critique of philosophy has been missed Weston examines and explains the metaphysical tradition as exemplified by Plato and Hegel and the post-metaphysical critiques of Nietzsche Heidegger and Derrida He shows how Kierkegaard's ethical critique of philosophy undermines the former and escapes the latter He considers another ethical critique of philosophy that of Levinas before identifying ethics as the non-philosophical site where philosophy can be criticised Kierkegaard and Modern European Philosophy An Introduction argues that by refusing to allow philosophy jurisdiction over ethics and religion Kierkegaard's critique applies as much to modern continental thought as to the metaphysical thought it seeks to undermine

Youth Ministry in a Technological Age Peggy Kendall; Claire Smith; Tim Ke, 2011-07-08 The many and continual advances in technology can be both exciting and daunting exciting because of the multitude of opportunities at our grasp yet daunting when faced with the prospect of keeping up with and/or affording them This holds true in youth ministry where as youth workers we serve a population that seems to be innately in tune with technology and what it offers We're all technological users but much of our adult expertise pales before the intuitive use of our students What do we do Youth Ministry in a Technological Age seeks to offer a window into understanding and using technology in youth ministry that is grounded theologically In this book researchers and people involved in youth ministry share insights and make recommendations concerning how we approach and use technology in youth ministry always recognizing our need to be faithful to the gospel of Jesus Christ Claire Smith

Critical Thinking and the Bible in the Age of New Media Charles Ess, 2004 Contemporary scholarship to address the question What does critical thinking about the Bible mean as the Bible itself is transmediated from print to electronic formats

Exploring Religion and Diversity in Canada Catherine Holtmann, 2018-06-25 This book is intended for advanced undergraduate and graduate students interested in learning about the many ways in which religious diversity is manifest in day to day life Canada Each chapter addresses the challenges and opportunities associated with religious diversity in a different realm of social life from families to churches from education to health care and from Muslims to atheists The contributors present key concepts relevant statistical data and real life stories from qualitative data The content of the book is supplemented by links to online learning resources including videos websites and photo essays The Essential Caputo B.
