Thinking Without Thinking In The Victorian Novel:

Thinking Without Thinking in the Victorian Novel Vanessa L. Ryan, 2012-06-07 In Thinking without Thinking in the Victorian Novel Vanessa L. Ryan demonstrates how both the form and the experience of reading novels played an important role in ongoing debates about the nature of consciousness during the Victorian era. Revolutionary developments in science during the mid and late nineteenth century including the discoveries and writings of Herbert Spencer, William Carpenter and George Henry Lewes had a vital impact on fiction writers of the time. Wilkie Collins, George Eliot, George Meredith and Henry James read contributions in what we now call cognitive science that asked what is the mind. These Victorian fiction writers took a crucial step asking how we experience our minds, how that experience relates to our behavior and questions of responsibility, how we can gain control over our mental reflexes and finally how fiction plays a special role in understanding and training our minds. Victorian fiction writers focus not only on the question of how the mind works but also on how it seems to work and how we ought to make it work. Ryan shows how the novelistic emphasis on dynamic processes and functions on the activity of the mind rather than its structure or essence can also be seen in some of the most exciting and comprehensive scientific revisions of the understanding of thinking in the Victorian period. This book studies the way in which the mind in the nineteenth century view is embedded not just in the body but also in behavior, in social structures and finally in fiction.

The Routledge Research Companion to Anthony Trollope Deborah Denenholz Morse, Margaret Markwick, Mark W. Turner, 2016-09-01 Bringing together leading and newly emerging scholars, The Routledge Research Companion to Anthony Trollope offers a comprehensive overview of Trollope scholarship and suggests new directions in Trollope studies. The first volume designed especially for advanced graduate students and scholars, the collection features essays on virtually every topic relevant to Trollope research including the law, gender, politics, evolution, race, anti-Semitism, biography, philosophy, illustration, aging, sport, emigration and the global and regional worlds.

Mindful Aesthetics Chris Danta, Helen Groth, 2013-11-07 In the last few decades literary critics have increasingly drawn insights from cognitive neuroscience to deepen and clarify our understanding of literary representations of mind. This cognitive turn has been equally generative and contentious. While cognitive literary studies has reinforced how central the concept of mind is to aesthetic practice from the classical period to the present, critics have questioned its literalism and selective borrowing of scientific authority. Mindful Aesthetics presents both these perspectives as part of a broader consideration of the ongoing and vital importance of shifting concepts of mind to both literary and critical practice. This collection contributes to the forging of a new interdisciplinarity to paraphrase Alan Richardson's recent preface to The Neural Sublime that is more concerned with addressing how rather than why we should navigate the increasingly narrow gap between the humanities and the sciences.

The Cambridge Companion to Literature and Science Steven Meyer, 2018-05-03 In 1959 C. P. Snow lamented the presence of what he called the two cultures, the apparently unbridgeable chasm of understanding and knowledge between modern literature and modern science In recent decades scholars have worked diligently and often with great ingenuity to interrogate claims like Snow's that represent twentieth and twenty first century literature and science as radically alienated from each other The Cambridge Companion to Literature and Science offers a roadmap to developments that have contributed to the demonstration and emergence of reciprocal connections between the two domains of inquiry Weaving together theory and empiricism individual chapters explore major figures Shakespeare Bacon Emerson Darwin Henry James William James Whitehead Einstein Empson and McClintock major genres and modes of writing fiction science fiction non fiction prose poetry and dramatic works and major theories and movements pragmatism critical theory science studies cognitive science ecocriticism cultural studies affect theory digital humanities and expanded empiricisms This book will be a key resource for scholars graduate students and undergraduate students alike Pain and the Aesthetics of US Literary Realism Cynthia J. Davis, 2021 Demonstrates the importance of physical pain to late nineteenth century aesthetic sensibilities and in particular to American literary realism with a focus on the work of William Dean Howells Henry James Edith Wharton Mark Twain and Charles Chesnutt The Intelligent Unconscious in Modernist Literature and Science Thalia Trigoni, 2020-11-16 This book reassesses the philosophical psychological and above all the literary representations of the unconscious in the early twentieth century This period is distinctive in the history of responses to the unconscious because it gave rise to a line of thought according to which the unconscious is an intelligent agent able to perform judgements and formulate its own thoughts The roots of this theory stretch back to nineteenth century British physiologists Despite the production of a number of studies on modernist theories of the relation of the unconscious to conscious cognition the degree to which the notion of the intelligent unconscious influenced modernist thinkers and writers remains understudied This study seeks to look back at modernism from beyond the Freudian model It is striking that although we tend not to explore the importance of this way of thinking about the unconscious and its relationship to consciousness during this period modernist writers adopted it widely The intelligent unconscious was particularly appealing to literary authors as it is intertwined with creativity and artistic novelty through its ability to move beyond discursive logic The book concentrates primarily on the works of D H Lawrence Virginia Woolf and T S Eliot authors who engaged the notion of the intelligent unconscious reworked it and offered it for the consumption of the general populace in varied ways and for different purposes whether aesthetic philosophical societal or ideological Shortlisted for the Modernist Studies Association MSA First Book Prize and for the 2021 British Society for Literature and Science Book Prize The Cambridge Companion to the Body in Literature David Hillman, Ulrika Maude, 2015-05-19 This Companion offers the first systematic analysis of the representation of the body in literature It historicizes embodiment by charting our evolving understanding of the body from the Middle Ages to the present day and addresses such questions as sensory perception technology language and affect maternal bodies disability and the representation of ageing eating and obesity pain death and dying and racialized and posthuman bodies This Companion also considers science and its construction of the body through disciplines such as obstetrics sexology and neurology Leading scholars in the field devote special attention to poetry prose drama and film and chart a variety of theoretical understandings of the body Imagining Otherwise Debra Gettelman,2024-08-13 From fan fiction to relatability the assessment of novels based on how easy it is to imagine the represented experiences the individual reader's imagination has become a determining part of the contemporary literary environment Literary studies has a long history of critical approaches from New Criticism to surface reading devoted to minimizing the associations and inventiveness that readers bring to a text Imagining Otherwise instead seeks to explain how we came to view fiction as available for imaginative appropriation in the first place Gettelman argues for the Victorian roots of the core modernist belief that readers complete an author's vision As novel readership expanded in the nineteenth century many Victorian writers became frustrated with readers formulaic expectations and sought to engage aesthetically with their readers' imaginations Gettelman argues that the elevation of the novel as a genre began when writers started to incorporate rather than exclude the common reader's daydreams and emotions into their work Taking a fresh look at works by Austen Dickens George Eliot and Trollope as well as some of their modernist successors Henry James Virginia Woolf and others Gettelman traces narrative techniques including direct address verb tense syntax and prose style that reflect Victorian authors' changing perceptions of and engagement with their readers

The Novel in Nineteenth-Century Bengal Sunayani Bhattacharya,2023-07-13 How does a reader learn to read an unfamiliar genre The Novel in Nineteenth Century Bengal answers this question by looking at the readers of some of the first Bengali novelists including Bankimchandra Chattopadhyay and Mir Mosharraf Hossain Moving from the world of novels periodicals letters and reviews to that of colonial educational policies this book provides a rich literary history of the reading lives of some of the earliest novel readers in colonial India Sunayani Bhattacharya studies the ways in which Bengalis thought about reading how they approached the thorny question of influence and uncovers that they relied on classical Sanskrit and Perso Arabic literary and aesthetic models whose attendant traditions formed not a distant past but coexisted albeit contentiously with the everyday present Challenging dominant postcolonial scholarship The Novel in Nineteenth Century Bengal engages with the lived experience of colonial modernity as it traces the import of the Bengali reader's choices on her quotidian life and grants access to 19th century Bengal as a space in which the past is to be found enmeshed with the present Endemic Kari Nixon,Lorenzo Servitje,2016-09-01 This book develops a new multimodal theoretical model of contagion for interdisciplinary scholars featuring contributions from influential scholars spanning the fields of medical humanities philosophy political science media studies technoculture literature and bioethics Exploring the nexus of contagion's metaphorical and material aspects this volume contends that contagiousness in its digital metaphorical and biological forms is a pervasively endemic condition in our contemporary moment The chapters explore both endemicity itself and how epidemic discourse has become endemic to processes of social construction Designed to simultaneously prime those new to the discourse of humanistic perspectives of contagion complicate issues of interest to seasoned scholars of science and technology studies and add new topics for debate and inquiry in the field of bioethics Endemic will be of wide interest for researchers and educators
