This Seat Taken Notes Of A Hapless Commuter:

This Seat Taken? Anthony Buccino, 2013-09-10 If you ever commuted to work you'll enjoy this ride reading Anthony Buccino's latest collection THIS SEAT TAKEN Notes of a Hapless Commuter about the joys and follies of getting to and from work in the city using public transit. Buccino spent 12 years editing business news copy at Dow Jones Co for the Ticker NewsPlus and The Wall Street Journal professional web pages in Jersey City and later at the NewsCorp building in the Times Square district of midtown Manhattan. For five years Buccino wrote about commuting and transit in metro New York New Jersey for NJ.com. His transit blog on NJ.com earned the New Jersey Society of Professional Journalists Excellence in Journalism award. Many of those blurbs are gathered in this collection. Commuters who knew he wrote for NJ.com would seek him out and tell him their commuter tales of woe. Often they would simply commiserate and try to see who had a worse ride in that day. But more than once Buccino was button holed after a scathing piece on say homeless people using the stairwells as toilets in the Newark Subway and told that it was cleaned up within hours of his writing about it online. For the most part these are short so readers and commuters can pick it up and read at random or read as far as they can before their own stop. Then it's easy to pick up where you left off or try pot luck in the four sections of the book. This collection is available in print and as an ebook because when he wasn't busy writing notes about his commute Buccino was reading a newspaper paperback or an ebook. My first generation Kindle got me through a lot of long long waits at the Port Authority Bus Terminal when no one from the bus company would tell us what was going on and the lines stretched down the halls down the escalators and back out into the lobby. Buccino said It's hard to believe I once had a job where I drove 40 miles each way to work. I was changing the oil in my car every three months. Buccino said Then for more than 10 years I mostly drove to the bus stop and home and out for groceries once a week. I practically forgot how to drive. And something strange happened in the years I was commuting. People who drive cars all went screwy. They pull out in front of you. They don't use their turn signals. They drive above the speed limit. These days drivers hold conference calls and write emails while they are driving on the road. That's one group of people I don't want to read this book at least not while they are driving. Buccino said Perhaps they should set their ereaders to read This Seat Taken aloud as they sit in a traffic jam wondering if the author is on a bus passing them in the express lane. In 2008 Buccino published Voices on the Bus Train Subway Bus and in My Head a collection of non rhyming verse written while commuting from northeastern Essex County to Jersey City N.J. After mulling it over for ten years Jack has decided to tear the family house down board by board just as his father built it up. Fired by the memory of his parents, one among the losses he has suffered, he purchases a crowbar. But the bar jams between the old planks; it seems the house is determined to remain. In a story about families and family history Jack's calculated plans for demolition are interrupted by the will of the house and
