administrations in all countries are those posed by the continuing developments in the digital economy Whereas societies are grappling to come to terms with the transitions from the third industrial or digital revolutions revenue authorities grapple with the consequences for the sustainability of their tax bases and the efficient administration and collection of taxes This book presents a critical review of the status of tax systems in Asia and the Pacific in the era of the digital economy The book suggests how countries can maximize their domestic resource mobilization when confronted by the challenges that digitalization inevitably produces as well as how they can best harness or take advantage of aspects of digitalization to serve their own needs The full implications of the COVID 19 crisis are still too uncertain to predict but it is clear that the crisis will accelerate the trend towards digitalization and also increase pressures on public finances This in turn may shape the preference for and the nature of both multilateral and unilateral responses to the tax challenges posed by digitalization and the need to address them This book will be a timely reference for those researching on taxation in digital economy and for policy makers The Open Access version of this book available at www.taylorfrancis.com has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4 0 license
