

THEORY OF MIND

The theory of mind is a concept in psychology that refers how someone ascribes mental states - such as beliefs, intentions, desires, and emotions - to both oneself and others.

DEFINITION

Premack & Woodruff (1978), the founders of the concept, explain theory of mind: "...one infers states that are not directly observable and one uses these states anticipatorily, to predict the behavior of others as well as one's own. These inferences, which amount to a theory of mind, are, to our knowledge, universal in human adults. " (p. 525).

COMPONENTS

- Perception: Perceptiveness can include the ability to identify facial expressions, body language, and other social cues that signal a person's emotional state.
- Perspective-taking: Perspective-taking refers to the capacity to put yourself in someone else's shoes. It involves looking at a situation from another person's point of view.

Parenting and Theory of Mind Scott A. Miller, 2016-02-22 Parenting and Theory of Mind represents the conjunction of two major research literatures in child psychology One is longstanding The question of how best to rear children has been a central topic for psychology ever since psychology began to develop as a science The other research literature is a good deal younger though quickly expanding Theory of mind ToM has to do with understanding of the mental world what people children in particular know or think about mental phenomena such as beliefs desires and emotions An important question that research on TOM addresses is where do children s ToM abilities come from In particular how do children s experiences shape their development If we know the formative experiences that underlie ToM then we may be able to optimize this important aspect of development for all children The last 15 or so years have seen a rapid expansion of the literature on the social contributors to ToM including hundreds of studies directed to various aspects of parenting These studies have made clear that parents can be important contributors to what their children understand about the mental world This is the first book to comprehensively bring together the literature on ToM and parenting summarizing what we know about how parenting contributes to one of the most important outcomes in cognitive development and outlining future directions for research in this growing area

Cognition Literature and History models the ways in which cognitive and literary studies may collaborate and thereby mutually advance It shows how understanding of underlying structures of mind can productively inform literary analysis and historical inquiry and how formal and historical analysis of distinctive literary works can reciprocally enrich our understanding of those underlying structures Applying the cognitive neuroscience of categorization emotion figurative thinking narrativity self awareness theory of mind and wayfinding to the study of literary works and genres from diverse historical periods and cultures the authors argue that literary experience proceeds from qualitatively heightens and selectively informs and even reforms our evolved and embodied capacities for thought and feeling This volume investigates and locates the complex intersections of cognition literature and history in order to advance interdisciplinary discussion and research in poetics literary history and cognitive science The Literature of America: From the beginning to the civil war Arthur Hobson Quinn,Albert Croll Baugh,Will David Howe,1929 Theory of Mind Rebecca Saxe,Simon Baron-Cohen,2007 The articles in this special issue use a wide range of techniques and subject populations to address fundamental questions about the cognitive and neural structure of theory of mind Academy and Literature Charles Edward Cutts Birch Appleton,Charles Edward Doble,James Sutherland Cotton,Charles Lewis Hind,William Teignmouth Shore,Alfred Bruce Douglas,Ellis Ashmead-Bartlett,Thomas William Hodgson Crosland,1901 The Saturday Review of Politics, Literature, Science and Art ,1870 Restoring the Human Context to Literary and Performance Studies Howard Mancing,Jennifer Marston William,2022-01-28 Restoring the Human Context to Literary and Performance Studies argues that much of contemporary literary theory is still predicated at least implicitly on outdated linguistic and psychological models such as post structuralism psychoanalysis and behaviorism which significantly contradict current dominant scientific views By contrast this monograph promotes an alternative paradigm for literary studies namely Contextualism and in so doing highlights the similarities and differences among the sometimes conflicting contemporary cognitive approaches to literature and performance arguing not in favor of one over the other but for Contextualism as their common ground
