What Is A Literary Novel:

The Poetics of Genre in the Contemporary Novel Tim Lanzendörfer, 2015-11-19 The Poetics of Genre in the Contemporary Novel investigates the role of genre in the contemporary novel taking its departure from the observation that numerous contemporary novelists make use of popular genre influences in what are still widely considered to be literary novels it sketches the uses of the work and the value of genre It suggests the value of a critical look at texts genre use for an analysis of the contemporary moment From this it develops a broader perspective suggesting the value of genre criticism and taking into view traditional genres such as the bildungsroman and the metafictional novel as well as the kinds of amalgamated forms which have recently come to prominence In essays discussing a wide range of authors from Steven Hall to Bret Easton Ellis to Colson Whitehead the contributors to the volume develop their own readings of genre's work and valence in the contemporary novel

The Oxford History of the Novel in English Cyrus R. K. Patell, Deborah Lindsay Williams, 2024-03-05 The Oxford History of the Novel in English is a twelve volume series presenting a comprehensive global and up to date history of English language prose fiction written by a large international team of scholars The series is concerned with novels as a whole not just the literary novel and each volume includes chapters on the processes of production distribution and reception and on popular fiction and the fictional sub genres as well as outlining the work of major novelists movements and tendencies This book offers an account of US fiction during a period demarcated by two traumatic moments the eve of the entry of the United States into the Second World War and the onset of the Covid 19 pandemic The aftermath of the Second World War was arguably the high point of US nationalism but in the years that followed US writers would increasingly explore the possibility that US democracy was a failure both at home and abroad For so many of the writers whose work this volume explores the idea of nation became suspect as did the idea of national literature as the foundation for US writing Looking at post 1940s writing the literary historian might well chart a movement within literary cultures away from nationalism and toward what we would call cosmopolitanism a perspective that fosters conversations between the occupants of different cultural spaces and that regards difference as an opportunity to be embraced rather than a problem to be solved During this period the novel has had significant competition for the US public's attention from other forms of narrative and media film television comic books videogames and the internet and the various forms of social media that it spawned If however the novel becomes a residual form during this period it is by no means archaic The novel has been reinvigorated over the past eighty years by its encounters with both emergent forms such as film television comic books and digital media and the emergent voices typically associated with multiculturalism in the United States

Novel Ideas Paul Williams, 2019-12-24 This concise yet comprehensive study explores innovative practice in the novel and from the perspective of creative writing the astonishing resilience of the novel form It offers a practical guide to the many possibilities available to the writer of the novel with each chapter offering exercises to encourage innovation and to expand the creative writer's narrative skills Beginning with early iterations of the novel in the 17th century this book follows the evocation of innovation in the novel through Realism Modernism Postmodernism and into today's dizzying array of digital and interactive possibilities While guiding the reader through the possibilities available in both genre and literary fiction this book encourages both aspiring and established writers to produce novels with imagination playfulness and gravitas Dynamic and interactive this text is distinctive in offering a grounding in the literary history of the novel while also equipping readers to write in the form themselves It is an essential resource for any student of creative writing or anyone with an interest in writing their own novel

Judging a Book by Its Cover Nickianne Moody, 2016-12-05 How do books attract their readers This collection takes a closer look at book covers and their role in promoting sales and shaping readers' responses Judging a Book by Its Cover brings together leading scholars many with experience in the publishing industry who examine the marketing of popular fiction across the twentieth century and beyond Using case studies and grounding their discussions historically and methodologically the contributors address key themes in contemporary media literary publishing and business studies related to globalisation the correlation between text and image identity politics and reader reception Topics include book covers and the internet bookstore the links between books the music industry and film literary prizes and the selling of books subcultures and sales of young adult fiction the cover as a signifier of literary value and the marketing of ethnicity and lesbian pulp fiction This exciting collection opens a new field of enquiry for scholars of book history literature media and communication studies marketing and cultural studies

Suicide Century Andrew Bennett, 2017-10-05 Suicide Century investigates suicide as a prominent theme in twentieth century and contemporary literature Andrew Bennett argues that with the waning of religious and legal prohibitions on suicide in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries and the increasing influence of medical and sociological accounts of its causes and significance in the twentieth century literature responds to the act and idea as an increasingly normalised but incessantly baffling phenomenon Discussing works by a number of major authors from the long twentieth century the book explores the way that suicide makes and unmakes subjects assumes and disrupts meaning induces and resists empathy and insists on and makes inconceivable our understanding of ourselves and of others
