Prepare a speech on the title "The Will to Win" to be delivered before the class at a competition. [Textbook page 68]

Good morning, respected teacher and all my fellow classmates.

All of us like to taste the sweetness of the fruit called 'success'. But that comes only when we have the will to win. Permit me then to present my views on the same.

Winning is the direct effect of one's constant effort, guided by one's principles and virtues. It is not a one-time or sometime thing, it is an all time thing, which should be cultivated as a habit.

Confucius once stated, "The will to win, the desire to succeed, the urge to reach your full potential... these are the keys that will unlock the door to personal excellence." These words inspire us to strive for and accomplish all the goals to which I set my mind. Our continual endeavor must always be to attain our fullest potential, better our life, and stretch the possibilities of our future. In order to develop this will to win, one must be persevering, dedicated, devoted and determined. Discipline plays an equally integral role in enhancing one's will to win. In any endeavour, one has got to put one's body, mind, heart and soul. The proverb 'Nothing succeeds
