William Booth Booth Tucker,2015-07-08 Excerpt from William Booth The General of the Salvation Army Some men it has been said are born great others achieve greatness while others have greatness thrust upon them General Booth belongs to those who have in the teeth of adverse circumstances achieved greatness He needs no introduction he requires no apology Others may have a greater reputation within the borders of their own nation We know of none in modern days whose name while still living has become to such a degree a household word in every nation as a universal benefactor of mankind Indeed no nation can justly claim him as its own He is the universal property of all Wherever the poor man toils to earn his daily bread wherever the submerged masses of the world send forth their piteous wail of heart ache on God s air wherever the sins and miseries of humanity have reached the utmost limits of endurance the giant stride of this modern Apostle of Hope and Faith and Hard Work looms on the horizon leaving footprints of help and happiness behind Barriers that have heretofore seemed impervious to the advance alike of Science of Philosophy and Statesmanship fortresses of Vice and Crime of Poverty and Despair against which the combined forces of Christendom have waged an almost hopeless war have yielded before the assaults of the host of men and women warriors who have sprung to their feet at the bidding of this Prophet of the Poor to take part in his glorious Crusade About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works William Booth, the General of the

Salvation Army Booth Tucker,2001 The Nottingham Journal stated William Booth started out from Nottingham largely self educated penniless and practically friendless He had one fixed idea The whole of his effort and talent would be directed to one purpose saving the world Like his predecessor Wesley he took the whole world as his parish So well did he succeed that before he died his name was known in practically every country of that parish and his followers numbered in millions He began with nothing had no money no powerful friends only his golden voice his passion and the vision of man reconciled to God
