Winning by Negotiation Tessa Albert Warschaw,1991      The Negotiation Sourcebook Ira Asherman,Sandy

Asherman,1990      Interviewing Joseph P. Zima,1991      Negotiations Daniel Druckman,1977-08 There s an excitement generated in these essays as the authors seek to push toward the creation of new and alternative processes Not content only to tie the artificial phenomena of the laboratory to the field a number of the researchers are creating new phenomena in their own experiments and simulations These social inventions portend policy applications to negotiation processes that are of significance to those practitioners working within a myriad of sites from labor management relations to international affairs Harold Guetzkow      The Department Chair Alan T. Seagren,John W. Creswell,Daniel W. Wheeler,1993-02-14 This monograph explores the changing role of the academic department chair in the areas of leadership influence and faculty development The paper uses research insights to explore the situation of an academic chair who is squeezed between the demands of upper administration and the expectations of faculty staff and students Studies of the roles and responsibilities of chairs consistently show that the role is ambiguous unclear in authority and difficult to classify as faculty or administrator The tradition of faculty ownership dictates that chair leadership must emphasize empowering activities The most effective use of political influence and power understands the political forces and processes of the institution and maneuvers groups and coalitions to achieve the autonomy and control necessary to a strong department Faculty evaluation provides a chair with a powerful opportunity for developing quality In addition the chair must recognize how institutional type history and culture model of governance and discipline can influence what is expected In the coming years chairs will need a program of professional development on many fronts to acquire the skills to address the complex challenges they will face Contains over 200 references JB      Negotiating Essentials Michael R.
