

WATER BOTTLE: Drink plenty of fluids even in cold weather. Use a lightweight, unbreakable container with a secure lid.

EXTRA CLOTHING:

Temperatures can change during a trip. Have the clothing you need for warm days and cooler nights.

SUN PROTECTION:

Use sunscreen, and wear lip balm with an SPF of at least 15. Apply early in the day, and reapply often.

FIRST-AID KIT:

A few items will allow you to treat scratches, blisters, and other minor injuries. They should also allow you to provide initial care while waiting for help for more serious injuries.

FLASHLIGHT: A lightweight flashlight, a headlamp or a rugged penlight should serve all your backcountry needs. Bring extra batteries, too.

TRAIL FOOD: Bring more than you think you'll need in case you get stuck (or lost) in the woods. Mix your own trail mix, bring a small bag of granola and pack a handful of energy bars.

RAIN GEAR:

Rain can come in a hurry, and getting your clothes drenched is more than just uncomfortable — it can lead to hypothermia. Have your rain gear easily accessible.

MAP AND COMPASS:

A topographic map will help you identify landmarks along the way. Review your route-finding skills before you leave so you'll be sharp on the trail.

MATCHES AND FIRE STARTERS:

Store matches or lighters in resealable plastic bags. Plan so that you won't need an open fire, but be prepared to build one in an emergency.

POCKETKNIFE:

A useful all-purpose tool, use it to cut a cord, cut pieces of food, whittle a stake, tighten a screw and more. Keep your knife sharp and clean.

How to Survive Anything Martin K. Ettington,2020-07 I recently wrote a book titled 33 Incredible Real Life Survival Stories which caused my amazement at how people have the persistence to live when confronted by dangerous and deadly situations I m an old student of survival First in my experiences with the Boy Scouts and then my experiences as an adult backpacker and general sports activities There are other books out there by Special Forces operators and they prescribe lots of useful information In this book I ve included a lot of that type of survival information but I also wanted to take a little different approach The Boy Scouts have been part of my life since I was a kid I was a Cub Scout a Boy Scout A scouting Eagle Scout and later Scoutmaster and Assistant Scoutmaster Later on I also became a member of the Knoxville Tennessee Rescue Squad and a Private Pilot among many other things There is something to be said about the gradual acquiring of knowledge about survival and how it applies to how we live our lives So I ve taken that approach in this book starting with morals principles and the spiritual aspects of survival to the practical knowledge and then how that information can be generalized to most situations You can also bet that most military survival experts Seals and other Special Forces were probably Boy Scouts growing up too Most of them got their basis for survival skills and leadership skills in the Boy Scouts The Scout Motto is Be Prepared and planning ahead is essential for surviving unexpected situations Therefore in this book we will give you a lot of lists of things you should get as emergency supplies and what skills to know to survive The things you will learn about in this book are much of what we learned in the Scouts but we will be taking a deeper cut into the details
