Zimbabwe Ordinary Level History Study Guide:

(Re)Constructing Memory: Textbooks, Identity, Nation, and State James H. Williams, Wendy D.

Bokhorst-Heng, 2016-07-08 This book engages readers in thirteen conversations presented by authors from around the world regarding the role that textbooks play in helping readers imagine membership in the nation. Authors' voices come from a variety of contexts: some historical, some contemporary, some providing analyses over time. But they all consider the changing portrayal of diversity, belonging and exclusion in multiethnic and diverse societies where silenced, invisible, marginalized members have struggled to make their voices heard and to have their identities incorporated into the national narrative. The authors discuss portrayals of past exclusions around religion, ethnicity, sexual orientation as they look at the shifting boundaries of insider and outsider. This book is thus about who we are, not only demographically but also in terms of the past, especially how and whether we teach discredited pasts through textbooks. The concluding chapters provide ways forward in thinking about what can be done to promote curricula that are more inclusive, critical and positively bonding in increasingly larger and more inclusive contexts. Resources in Education, 2001

The Palgrave Handbook of History and Social Studies Education Christopher W. Berg, Theodore M. Christou, 2020-04-03 This Handbook presents an international collection of essays examining history education past and present. Framing recent curriculum reforms in Canada and in the United States in light of a century-long debate between the relationship between theory and practice, this collection contextualizes the debate by exploring the evolution of history and social studies education within their state or national contexts. With contributions ranging from Canada, Finland, New Zealand, Sweden, the Netherlands, the Republic of South Africa, the United Kingdom and the United States, chapters illuminate the ways in which curriculum theorists and academic researchers are working with curriculum developers and educators to translate and refine notions of historical thinking or inquiry as well as pedagogical practice.

States and the Making of Others Jeanne Bouyat, Amandine Le Bellec, Lucas Puygrenier, 2024-06-17 This volume offers a unique interdisciplinary and comparative perspective on contemporary processes of othering by state institutions in relation to dynamics of racism, xenophobia, sexism, homo transphobia, as well as ethnic and class-based discriminations. It focuses on eight original case studies empirically grounded in various domains of the social state in Southern African and Western European contexts: the education and health care systems, the regulation of work and of procreation, rights and institutions in charge of granting asylum. The authors provide key insights on how states produce Others and on how othering contributes in turn to the process of state formation and the politicization of public action.
