continued to apprentice with Kondo during his high school years at Punahou and after obtaining his anthropology degree from the University of Pennsylvania Kirch joined a Bishop Museum expedition to Anuta Island where a traditional Polynesian culture still flourished His appetite whetted by these adventures Kirch went on to obtain his doctorate at Yale University with a study of the traditional irrigation based chiefdoms of Futuna Island Further expeditions have taken him to isolated Tikopia where his excavations exposed stratified sites extending back three thousand years to Niuatoputapu a former outpost of the Tongan maritime empire to Mangaia with its fortified refuge caves and to Moorea where chiefs vied to construct impressive temples to the war god Oro In Hawaii Kirch traced the islands history in the Anahulu valley and across the ancient district of Kahikinui Maui His joint research with ecologists soil scientists and paleontologists elucidated how Polynesians adapted to their island ecosystems Looking back over the past half century of Polynesian archaeology Kirch reflects on how the questions we ask about the past have changed over the decades how archaeological methods have advanced and how our knowledge of the Polynesian past has greatly expanded
