The World And The Bo Tree:

The World and the Bo Tree Helen Bevington, 1991 Each time I leave home I seem to go in search of something call it a bo tree or Shangri La or paradise which is only another name for peace itself and these days decidedly a fool s errand So writes Helen Bevington in The World and the Bo Tree a book that describes her travels taken amid the turbulence of the 1980s The world of the title is the one everybody knows a fairly troubled even threatening place to inhabit these days The bo tree which has flourished for centuries in India and Asia is itself a meaningful symbol of peace since under it the Buddha sat when he gained enlightenment and sought thereafter to share it with the world The book fashions a delightful fabric a weave of exotic journeys and chaotic recent history While we travel with Bevington to and from various destinations in Europe Asia South America Africa China and elsewhere we are conscious of the look of the world at home in striking contrast to the serenity occasionally glimpsed in distant places At home she reminds us of such global disturbances as the demise of the Equal Rights Amendment the Chernobyl nuclear disaster the explosion of the space shuttle Challenger and the possible destruction of the planet Abroad on some quest of their own we may encounter such fascinating passersby as Mark Twain in Bangkok Lord Byron in Italy Goethe in Sicily Marco Polo in China Isak Dinesen in Africa and Gladstone in the Blue Grotto of Capri Against the backdrop of the world Bevington discovers moments of peace in unexpected and unlikely places visible she says in Tibet or on the road to Mandalay in the look of the midnight sun or in the silence of Africa Fleeting and elusive though these moments are they are real and in themselves strangely enlightening

Jacobsen,Mikael Aktor,Kristina Myrvold,2014-08-27 Objects of worship are an aspect of the material dimension of lived religion in South Asia The omnipresence of these objects and their use is a theme which cuts across the religious traditions in the pluralistic religious culture of the region Divine power becomes manifest in the objects and for the devotees they may represent power regardless of religious identity This book looks at how objects of worship dominate the religious landscape of South Asia and in what ways they are of significance not just from religious perspectives but also for the social life of the region. The contributions to the book show how these objects are shaped by traditions of religious aesthetics and have become conceptual devices woven into webs of religious and social meaning. They demonstrate how the objects have a social relationship with those who use them, sometimes even treated as being alive. The book discusses how devotees relate to such objects in a number of ways and even if the objects belong to various traditions, they may attract people from different communities and can also be contested in various ways. By analysing the specific qualities that make objects eligible for a status and identity as living objects of worship, the book contributes to an understanding of the central significance of these objects in the religious and social life of South Asia. It will be of interest to students and scholars of Religious Studies and South Asian Religion, Culture and Society.
