An Occupational Therapist's Guide to Home Modification Practice Elizabeth Ainsworth, Desleigh de Jonge, 2024-06-01
Older people and people with a disability have a right to be included in all aspects of home and community life and yet environmental barriers continue to exist in the built environment There are concerns about how well homes can support older people and people with a disability over time as their needs change Occupational therapists are well suited to determining the most appropriate home modification solutions to address environmental barriers They possess the knowledge and skills necessary to evaluate people's current and future needs in the context of the nature and use of the environment and can work collaboratively with design and construction professionals to develop solutions To be comprehensive and effective in their approach occupational therapists need to understand not only the individual's requirements but also the ethical and legal contexts for practice the technical aspects of the built environment the relevance and intent of access standards and design approaches and the application of a range of products and finishes An Occupational Therapist's Guide to Home Modification Practice Second Edition by Elizabeth Ainsworth and Desleigh de Jonge and their team of expert contributors provides comprehensive information to inform occupational therapists about current practice and research This includes the authors using a transactional approach to examine the person occupation environment interaction and providing occupational therapists with a detailed understanding of the various dimensions of the home environment that can impact on client's home modification decisions New material has been provided relating to research and practice issues such as an overview of the latest home modification outcome research findings as documented in literature an update on outcome evaluation new research information about the dimensions of the home impacting on decision making additional information grabrail and ramp prescription and the inclusion of new case studies illustrating minor and major modification solutions for clients who present with diverse needs In the Second Edition you'll find A detailed understanding of aspects of the home environment that impact home modification decisions A review of legislative environment and funding systems that facilitate service delivery An overview of home modification services as well as future trends A range of comprehensive case studies illustrated by photographs Additional theory to inform knowledge and skill development that can be used in home modification practice worldwide Included with the text are online supplemental materials for faculty use in the classroom An Occupational Therapist's Guide to Home Modification Practice Second Edition provides a range of resources and tools and it can be used as a teaching aid to support students interns and novice therapists or as a manual for reflection and practice for more experienced home modification practitioners Design for Biodiversity Kelly Gunnell,Carol Williams,Brian Murphy,2019-07-25 The built environment has the potential to have a major impact on biodiversity not least with the increasingly demanding requirements to design more energy efficient and airtight buildings leaving less space for species to inhabit The construction industry has an important role to play in ensuring that buildings are designed and refurbished in a way in which biodiversity can be enhanced Through written guidance and architectural drawings this book advises on how to incorporate provision for biodiversity within developments With sections on different building reliant species general principles for design ready made products that be incorporated into designs and legislation policy and regulations this book is an invaluable resource for all architects ecologists and anyone involved in designing or briefing for biodiversity in buildings The Original Log Home Guide for Builders & Buyers ,1986 Houston Architectural Guide Stephen Fox,1990 Contractor's Guide to the Building Code Jack M. Hageman,1992 Industrial Arts & Vocational Education ,1966 South African National Bibliography ,1994
