To The Field Of Waterloo The First Battlefield Tourists 1815 1816:

The Collected Letters of Sir George and Lady Beaumont to the Wordsworth Family, 1803-1829 Jessica Fay, 2021

This edition presents and fully contextualizes an archive of letters that reveal the creative and personal significance of the friendship between William Wordsworth and Sir George Beaumont Spanning twenty six years this inter familial correspondence comprises discussion of literature and painting gardening and theatre politics and religion grief hope and aspiration Britons and their Battlefields Ian Atherton, 2024-08-19 While much attention has been paid to the commemoration of conflict in the twentieth century this book is the first to consider conflict memory in the long term arguing that modern practices were not created out of the mud of the trenches but evolved from much longer practices From the fourteenth century to the present day this work analyses the changing commemoration and memories of British battlefields at home and overseas from Bannockburn 1314 to Bosworth 1485 to Basra 2003 9 Across these seven centuries there has been a series of recurring post battle rituals that have shaped and continue to shape memories of conflict Three distinct but overlapping periods of memory can be delineated In the later Middle Ages battlefields were consecrated by the burial of the fallen and often by the erection of a battlefield cross or chapel or chantry to pray for the dead The second phase began with the Protestant Reformation in the 1530s when pilgrimage and prayers for the dead were abolished and battlefield chantries were dissolved and many battlefield crosses were demolished Memories shifted from the dead to the living especially the bodies of surviving veterans who commemorated the conflict by their wounds and from soil and stone to print and ink The third phase began in the eighteenth century when antiquaries and others established new monuments on past battlefields Monuments to survivors and the dead were established on contemporary battlefields such as Waterloo once again hailed as sacred ground hallowed by bloodshed fit destinations for a pilgrimage Not just officers but ordinary soldiers began to be memorialized by name on the battlefield culminating in the cult of the names of the dead enshrined by the creation of the War Graves Commission in 1917 and the idea that battlefields should be preserved unchanged as seen in modern heritage management Drawing on a wide variety of literary and historical sources and taking a uniquely longue dur e approach the book explores and links memory making practices from across the period to reconsider the ways in which battlefields are commemorated and re commemorated In so doing it makes a unique contribution to a wide range of historiographical fields British history since the fourteenth century memory studies heritage studies landscape history conflict archaeology and military history From Enlightenment to Romanticism Ian L. Donnachie, Carmen Lavin, 2004-04-08 This is the second of two anthologies designed to form an interdisciplinary exploration of the changes and transitions in European culture between 1780 and 1830 The collection of extracts in this anthology provide primary and secondary sources on industry and changing landscapes new forms of knowledge new conceptions of art and the artist and the exotic and the Oriental Each selection is accompanied by a detailed introduction explaining the context and significance of the sources Extracts in the anthology stimulate questions rather than providing reassuring answers but provide vital insights to the major events movements and personalities of the time This volume provides an invaluable resource for all students of European culture in the period A companion volume offers readings on the death of the Old Regime the Napoleonic phenomenon and slavery religion and reform

Trolling Before the Internet David Rudrum,2024-11-14 Trolling began long before the internet This accessible history traces the ancestry of its textual and rhetorical strategies by looking at literature from ancient Greece to the 1980s Trolling is the most controversial genre of writing to have risen to prominence in the 21st century with far reaching consequences for its writers and readers alike But it is too often regarded as a technological problem confined to the internet This book takes a very different approach it regards trolling as a cultural problem with a long and venerable literary history Taking in the contrarianism of Lord Byron the wit of Oscar Wilde insult trading in Shakespeare Jonathan Swift s disaster trolling Martin Luther s dissemination of heresy through a public discussion forum the grotesquely misogynistic abuse hurled in Archilochus s poetry the taunting provocations of avant garde manifestos and not forgetting public humiliations in Beowulf David Rudrum demonstrates that trolls rhetorical shenanigans are neither new nor unvanquishable

Paths to Fame Joanna Selborne,Andrew Wilton,Cecilia Powell,2008 This collection spans Turner s career ranging from an important early view of the Avon Gorge Bristol made when he was just 16 to examples of the monumental highly finished watercolours of his maturity and the celebrated expressive late works

Time in Maps Kären Wigen,Caroline Winterer,2020-11-20 As wide ranging imaginative and revealing as the maps they discuss these essays track how maps interpreted broadly convey time as well as space Richard White Stanford University Maps organize us in space but they also organize us in time Looking around the world for the last five hundred years Time in Maps shows that today s digital maps are only the latest effort to insert a sense of time into the spatial medium of maps Historians K ren Wigen and Caroline Winterer have assembled leading scholars to consider how maps from all over the world have depicted time in ingenious and provocative ways Focusing on maps created in Spanish America Europe the United States and Asia these essays take us from the Aztecs documenting the founding of Tenochtitlan to early modern Japanese reconstructing nostalgic landscapes before Western encroachments to nineteenth century Americans grappling with the new concept of deep time The book also features a defense of traditional paper maps by digital mapmaker William Rankin With more than one hundred color maps and illustrations Time in Maps will draw the attention of anyone interested in cartographic history the English language interested in the exploits of the troops of Hanover Brunswick and Nassau is in the form of dry official reports which stick to the basic facts and avoid all sentimentality and emotion However unbeknown to virtually anyone in the English speaking world interested in the more human aspects of these foreign troops fighting alongside the British at Waterloo there are a number of memoirs and sets of letters which have been published in Germany over the last two centuries Until now these had never been translated into English and so have been inaccessible to the vast majority This volume seeks to put this right and to bring to life the human story of these German troops their trials and tribulations their sufferings and their emotions and to finally reveal their views on the battle which many entered with mixed emotions Highlights include an account of the confusion in the final great advance at Waterloo eyewitness recollections of the defense of La Haye Sainte rare battle reports by the Duke of Wellington and a fascinating series of letters explaining the whereabouts of a number of missing Hanoverian regimental and staff surgeons and subsequent court martials
