Toni Morrisons A Mercy Critical Approaches:

Toni Morrison's A Mercy Shirley A. Stave, Justine Tally, 2011-08-08 Toni Morrison's ninth novel A Mercy has been received with much acclaim by both the critical and lay reading public. Hailed as her best novel after the award-winning Beloved, most critics to date have concentrated on its setting in the late seventeenth century, a time in which, according to the author herself, slavery was pre-racial, a time before the Terrible Transformation irrevocably linked slavery to skin color or race. Though a slender, easy-to-read novel, A Mercy is in fact a richly layered text full of multiple meanings and possibilities, a work of art that has only just begun to be mined for its critical import. The present volume is the first to deal with these possibilities, presenting a variety of critical approaches that include narrative theory, the eco-critical, the geographical, the allegorical, the Miltonian, the feminist, the metaphorical, and the Lacanian. As such, not only is it conceived to enrich the work of Morrison scholars and students, but also to illuminate the use of critical theory in elucidating a complex literary text. A Mercy clamors for close reading and thoughtful interrogation and promises to reward the perceptive reader. New Critical Essays on Toni Morrison's God Help the Child Alice Knox Eaton, Maxine Lavon Montgomery, Shirley A. Stave, 2020-07-23 Contributions by Alice Knox Eaton, Mar Gallego, Maxine Lavon Montgomery, Evelyn Jaffe, Schreiber, Shirley A. Stave, Justine Tally, Susana Vega, González, and Anissa Wardi. In her eleventh novel God Help the Child, Toni Morrison returned to several of the signature themes explored in her previous work: pernicious beauty standards for women, particularly African American women; mother-child relationships; racism and colorism; and child sexual abuse. God Help the Child, published in 2015, is set in the contemporary period, unlike all of her previous novels. The contemporary setting is ultimately incidental to the project of the novel; however, as with Morrison's other work, the story takes on mythic qualities, and the larger-than-life themes lend themselves to allegorical and symbolic readings that resonate in light of both contemporary and historical issues. New Critical Essays on Toni Morrison's God Help the Child: Race, Culture, and History, a collection of eight essays by both seasoned Morrison scholars as well as new and rising scholars, takes on the novel in a nuanced and insightful analysis, interpreting it in relation to Morrison's earlier work as well as locating it within ongoing debates in literary and other academic disciplines engaged with African American literature. The volume is divided into three sections. The first focuses on trauma, both the pain and suffering caused by neglect and abuse as well as healing and understanding. The second section considers narrative choices, concentrating on experimentation and reader engagement. The third section turns a comparative eye to Morrison's fictional canon from her debut work of fiction, The Bluest Eye, until the present. These essays build on previous studies of Morrison's novels and deepen readers' understanding of both her last novel and her larger literary output. The Theory and Practice of Reception Study Philip Goldstein, 2022-04-21 This book examines novels of Faulkner and Morrison as well as Mark Twain and Ralph Ellison in order to show that their works forcefully undermine the racial and sexual divisions characterizing both the South and contemporary culture in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries. Moreover, the book discusses theories of reader response and reception study and elaborates a theory of reception study based on the historical or archeological methods of Michel Foucault As a consequence unlike most studies of American literature which discuss its historical contexts or prescribe its readers responses this book explains the reception of these works including the academic criticism and reviews and because the internet exerts immense influence in the twenty first century the on line responses of ordinary readers Unlike most reception studies this book examines the institutional contexts of the readers responses Sacred Femininity and the Politics of Affect in African American Women's Fiction Vicent Cucarella Ramón, 2018-10-25 This book presents the way in which African American women writers Hannah Crafts Zora Neale Hurston and Toni Morrison have followed the spiritual endeavor of black Christianity as created by early nineteenth century spiritual narratives to construct a sacred reading of the black female self The sacred femininity that puts the ethics and aesthetics of African American women at the center of a certain mode of African Americanness relies on a view of spirituality that joins women ontologically and validates affective modes of representation as an innovative means to obtain social and personal empowerment Rewriting Early America Christopher K. Coffman, 2018-11-27 Recent poems and fictions set in the early Americas are typically read as affirmations of cultural norms as evidence of the impossibility of genuine engagement with the historical past or as contentious repudiations of received histories Inspired particularly by Mihai Spăroșu's arguments regarding literary playfulness as an opening to peace Rewriting Early America: The Prenatal Past in Postmodern Literature adopts a different perspective with the goal of demonstrating that many recent literary texts undertake more constructive and hopeful projects with regard to the American past than critics usually recognize While honoring writers pervasive critiques of hegemony this volume trades a preoccupation with antagonism for an interest in restoration and recuperation It describes how texts by John Barth John Berryman Susan Howe Toni Morrison Paul Muldoon Thomas Pynchon and William T Vollmann harness the ambiguities of the colonial past to find sociocultural possibilities that operate beyond the workings of power and outside the politics of difference Throughout this book remains devoted to uncovering the moments at which contemporary writers proffer visions of American communities defined not by marginalization and oppression but by responsive understanding and inclusion The Orphan in Fiction and Comics since the 19th Century Marion Gymnich, Barbara Puschmann-Nalenz, Gerold Sedlmayr, 2018-07-27 The orphan has turned out to be an extraordinarily versatile literary figure By juxtaposing diverse fictional representations of orphans this volume sheds light on the development of cultural concepts such as childhood family the status of parental legacy individualism identity and charity The first chapter argues that the figure of the orphan was suitable for negotiating a remarkable range of cultural anxieties and discourses in novels from the Victorian period This is followed by a discussion of both the rare examples of novels from the first half of the 20th century in which main characters are orphaned at a young age and Anglophone narratives written from the 1980s onward when the figure of the orphan proliferated once more The trope of the picaresque the theme of absence and the problem of parental substitutes are among the issues addressed in contemporary orphan narratives The book also looks at the orphan motif in three popular fantasy series namely Rowling s Harry Potter septology Pullman s His Dark Materials trilogy and Martin s A Song of Ice and Fire series It then traces the development of the orphan motif from the end of the 19th century to the present in a range of different types of comics including funnies and gag a day strips superhero comics underground comix and autobiographical comics New Critical Essays on Toni Morrison's God Help the Child Alice Knox Eaton,Maxine Lavon Montgomery,Shirley A.

Stave,2020-07-23 Contributions by Alice Knox Eaton Mar Gallego Maxine Lavon Montgomery Evelyn Jaffe Schreiber Shirley A Stave Justine Tally Susana Vega Gonz lez and Anissa Wardi In her eleventh novel God Help the Child Toni Morrison returned to several of the signature themes explored in her previous work pernicious beauty standards for women particularly African American women mother child relationships racism and colorism and child sexual abuse God Help the Child published in 2015 is set in the contemporary period unlike all of her previous novels The contemporary setting is ultimately incidental to the project of the novel however as with Morrison s other work the story takes on mythic qualities and the larger than life themes lend themselves to allegorical and symbolic readings that resonate in light of both contemporary and historical issues New Critical Essays on Toni Morrison s God Help the Child Race Culture and History a collection of eight essays by both seasoned Morrison scholars as well as new and rising scholars takes on the novel in a nuanced and insightful analysis interpreting it in relation to Morrison s earlier work as well as locating it within ongoing debates in literary and other academic disciplines engaged with African American literature The volume is divided into three sections The first focuses on trauma both the pain and suffering caused by neglect and abuse as well as healing and understanding The second section considers narrative choices concentrating on experimentation and reader engagement The third section turns a comparative eye to Morrison s fictional canon from her debut work of fiction The Bluest Eye until the present These essays build on previous studies of Morrison s novels and deepen readers understanding of both her last novel and her larger literary output

Contested Boundaries Maxine L. Montgomery,2013-10-03 Contested Boundaries aims to map the space between A Mercy Toni Morrison s ninth and arguably most enigmatic novel and the fiction comprising the author s multiple text canon The volume accomplishes this through the inclusion of eight original essays representing a range of critical approaches that trouble narrative boundaries demarcating the novels included in Morrison s evolving opus with A Mercy serving as a locus for discussion of her re figuration of concerns central to her narrative project Issues relevant to the conflicted mother child relationship the haunting legacy of slavery the black female body as a site of trauma the thorny quest for an idealized home the perilous transatlantic journey the demands associated with love and yes the desire for mercy recur but they do so with a difference a Morrisonian twist that demands close intellectual scrutiny Essays included in this volume are invested in a persistent scholarly investigation of this narrative and rhetorical play The publication of A Mercy represents a climactic moment in Morrison s evolving political consciousness her fictional geography and consequently a shift in the margins marking her multiple text universe The complicated markers of difference figuring in Recitatif and continuing with Paradise and Love culminate in the author's ninth work of fiction This volume ventures to chart that change not for the sake of encoding it but in an effort to open up new ways of interrogating her writing The Oxford
