Japan and Europe during the Cold War were limited. During this period the IISS helped bridge the gap between the two exposing its membership base to the international affairs of Asia and Japan and providing Japanese scholars strategists and diplomats with a platform from which to amplify their voices in the West. Analyses by these experts often appeared in IISS publications but the Institute also gained key insights through its well established conferences and lecture series. These initiatives illuminated Japanese strategic thinking and perspectives on contemporary critical issues in Japan's and Asia's foreign security and defence policy. This Adelphi book through its collection of earlier analysis helps the reader to understand the evolution of Japanese strategic thought from the 1960s until today and shines a light on the continuities and changes in this thinking. New original analysis of the material seeks to identify areas where such thinking was prescient and remains relevant to the contemporary strategic environment and other areas where predictions failed or assumptions were proved wrong. These new essays were also informed by interviews of Japanese senior scholars and diplomats who spent time with the IISS. This book seeks to frame educate and guide strategic thinking on the most pressing issues of today both in and outside Japan and Asia and will be of great interest to analysts practitioners and students of international affairs.

Peaceful and Non-Peaceful Uses of Space Unidir United Nations Institute For Disarmament Research, 2021-01-26. This book first published in 1991 is the cumulative result of a long period of research by qualified experts in an attempt to analyse the legal and scientific problems of arriving at definitions in the task of preventing an arms race in outer space. Problems of definition confront the negotiator at the very outset of any discussion on preventing a space arms race. This book sets out to remove these problems by examining the possible definitions.

Space Law Francis Lyall, Paul B. Larsen, 2024-07-19. As space continues to attract substantial public and private investment and has become ever more active the third edition of this book has been updated to cover recent developments. This includes the legal bases of UN Resolution 76/3 the Space3030 Agenda which envisages space as a driver of sustainable development and sets out an extensive programme for the future. The work also takes account of adaptations and augmentations to basic space treaties. It examines the increasing commercialisation of space in areas such as space tourism and space mining for which four states have already adopted relevant legislation. The impact of new technologies such as satellite constellations and micro satellites are also scrutinised. At a time when space tourism is available to those who can afford it and when the moon will shortly be revisited with a prospect of permanent bases this third edition provides a firm base for the next generation of space lawyers. As with previous editions the work draws from governmental international organisational and other authoritative sources as well as the relevant literature in the field. The book will be an essential and comprehensive resource for students academics and researchers as well as space agencies governments and space active companies. It will also be of value to technical operatives and managers who need to know the legal context within which they work.
