Uncontrollable Societies of Disaffected Individuals Bernard Stiegler, 2012-12-17 Max Weber argued that the development of capitalism would lead to the progressive rationalization and disenchantment of society today this process is reaching its endpoint and capitalism is collapsing into a disturbing kind of irrationality It engenders spiritual misery a paralysis of the function of the human mind or spirit where reason disappears as a motive of hope a kingdom of ends in Kant's sense Absolute disenchantment afflicts all those who no longer have anything to expect from the development of hyper industrial society Those who are desperate become desperados and they are becoming more and more numerous No longer having anything to expect means at the same time no longer having anything to fear And the proliferating repressive mechanisms that are supposed to cope with the effects of this loss of authority turn out to be less and less effective For such measures engender more and more the opposite of that for which they were intended but in extreme and totally irrational unpredictable forms This is where we are today the technical system of the hyper industrial epoch can maintain its power only so long as it is backed up by blind trust but this trust is undermined by the destructive irrationality stemming from the liquidation of the kingdom of ends From the moment this trust is lost hyper power is inverted into hyper vulnerability and impotence The loss of motives of hope then expands encompassing all of us like a contagious illness But this all is no longer a we it is a panic

Pedagogical Encounters in the Post-Anthropocene, Volume 2 Jan Jagodzinski, 2024-04-26 As a follow up to Pedagogical Encounters in the Post Anthropocene Volume I this book addresses three major areas in response to the post Anthropocene Technology Neurology Quantum Each of these areas is broadly addressed in relation to the concerns that have arisen both theoretically and educationally As in Volume I the author terms these to be encounters as each area presents a particular problematic when addressing the phase change that the planet is undergoing where the anthropogenic labour of global humanity is contributing to climate change endangering our very existence Technology in education has been a significant development There is a concerted effort to review this development placing stress on the rise of learning machines and algorithms In the second encounter the vast literature on neurology is addressed especially neurodiversity and the various symptoms that have emerged in the post Anthropocene era The last section reviews issues related to quantum theory as this is fundamental to tensions between physics and metaphysics The volume concludes with the author's own pedagogical proposal for the future

Emotional Capitalism Peter Wing-Kai Lok, 2024-02-23 As today's emotional capitalism increasingly carries out its core operation of regulating the psycho energy of individuals the need to analyse a variety of methods for emotional production becomes important By bringing together the works of Byung Chul Han Bernard Stiegler Emmanuel Levinas and Judith Butler this bold analysis offers a fresh perspective on the operation of emotional capitalism today with various possibilities for evolving a sensitivity to social injustice and the suffering of others through an ethical affective and bodily inter subjective connection

spectatorship is about the relationship between emergencies and the spectator In the early twenty first century emergencies are commonplace in the newsgathering and political institutions of western industrial democracies From terrorism to global warming the refugee crisis to general elections the spectator is bombarded with narratives that seek to suspend the criteria of everyday life in order to address perpetual exceptional threats The book argues that repeated exposure to these narratives through the apparatuses of contemporary technology creates a precarious spectatorship where the spectator's ability to rationalise herself or her relationship with the object of her spectatorship is compromised This precarity has become a destructive but too often overlooked aspect of contemporary spectatorship

Howells,2013-09-16 These 17 essays covers all aspects of Bernard Stiegler's work from poststructuralism anthropology and psychoanalysis to his work on the politics of memory libidinal economy technoscience and aesthetics keeping a focus on his key theory of technics throughout Stiegler brings together key concepts from Plato Freud Derrida and Simondon to argue that the human is invented through technics rather than a product of purely biological evolution Stiegler is a thinker at the forefront of our contemporary concerns with consumerism technology inter generational division political apathy and economic crisis His ambitious project is to go beyond these sources of social distress to uncover and examine precisely what makes life worth living Contributors include Stephen Barker University of California Irvine and translator of Stiegler Richard Beardsworth American University of Paris and translator of Stiegler Miguel de Beistegui University of Warwick Marc Crepon Ecole normale superieure and co founder of Stiegler's think tank Ars Industrialis and Daniel Ross co director of The Ister the award winning film on Heidegger and translator of Stiegler

The Thought of Bernard Stiegler Ross

Abbinnett,2017-07-06 This book provides a comprehensive account of the work of Bernard Stiegler focusing on his thought on hyperindustrial societies and the development of technological systems through which the social economic and political life of human beings has been transformed Exploring the reciprocal development of technical instruments and human faculties in the digital informatic and biotechnological programmes of hyperindustrial societies the author develops Stiegler's idea of technology as a Pharmakon a network of systems that provoke both existential despair and unprecedented modes of aesthetic literary and philosophical creativity that can potentially revitalize political culture

Deleuze and Baudrillard

Sean McQueen,2016-06-01 Sean McQueen rewrites and re envisions Gilles Deleuze's and Jean Baudrillard's relationship with Marxism and with each other from their breakdowns to their breakthroughs He theorises shifts in and across critical approaches to capitalism science technology psychoanalysis literature and cinema and media studies He also brings renewed Marxian readings to cyberpunk texts previously theorised by Deleuze and Baudrillard and places them at the heart of the emergence of biopunk and its relation to biocapitalism by mapping their generic technoscientific libidinal and economic exchanges

Automatic Society, Volume 1 Bernard Stiegler,2017-01-17 In July 2014 the Belgian newspaper Le Soir claimed that France Belgium the United Kingdom Italy Poland and the United States may lose between 43 and 50 per cent of their jobs within ten to fifteen years Across the world integrated automation one key result of the so called data economy is leading to a drastic reduction in employment in all areas from the legal profession to truck driving from medicine to stevedoring In this first volume of a new series the leading cultural theorist Bernard Stiegler advocates a radical solution to the crisis posed by automation and consumer capitalism more generally He calls for a decoupling of the concept of labour meaningful intellectual participation from employment dehumanizing banal work with the ultimate aim of eradicating employment altogether By doing so new and alternative economic models will arise where individuals are no longer simply mined for labour but also actively produce what they consume Building substantially on his existing theories and engaging with a wide range of figures from Deleuze and Foucault to Bill Gates and Alan Greenspan Automatic Society will appeal to students and scholars across the social sciences and humanities as well as anyone concerned with the central question of the future of work

Psychoanalysis, Philosophy and Myth in Contemporary Culture Angie Voela, 2017-08-09 This book examines the use of myth in contemporary popular and high culture and proposes that the aporetic subject the individual that does not know is the ideal contemporary subject Using several contemporary novels films and theatrical plays that illustrate aporia such as Percy Jackson and the Lightning Thief Riordan 2007 Tron Legacy Koninski 2010 Welcome to Thebes Buffini 2010 The Photographers Koundouros 1998 Prometheus 2012 and Prometheus Retrogressing Sfikas 1998 Angie Voela introduces common ground between Lacanian psychoanalysis and some of Freud's most ardent critics Michel Foucault and Jean Baudrillard as well as the cultural philosopher Bernard Stiegler These unprecedented systematic comparisons broaden the scope and impact of Lacanian psychoanalysis in inter disciplinary debates of philosophy and culture and Voela argues that apart from dealing with the past psychoanalysis must also deal more explicitly with the present and the future She presents a unique inquiry into modern subjectivity that will be of great interest to scholars of psychoanalysis philosophy film literature and contemporary culture

The Ethos of Digital Environments Susanna Lindberg, Hanna-Riikka Roine, 2021-05-27 While self driving cars and autonomous weapon systems have received a great deal of attention in media and research the general requirements of ethical life in today's digitalizing reality have not been made sufficiently visible and evaluable This collection of articles from both distinguished and emerging authors working at the intersections of philosophy literary theory media and technology does not intend to fix new moral rules Instead the volume explores the ethos of digital environments asking how we can orient ourselves in them and inviting us to renewed moral reflection in the face of dilemmas they entail The authors show how contemporary digital technologies model our perception narration as well as our conceptions of truth and investigate the ethical moral and juridical consequences of making public and societal infrastructures computational They argue that we must make the structures of the digital environments visible and learn to care for them

Going Nowhere, Slow Mikkel Krause Frantzen, 2019-11-29 Using examples from art and literature Frantzen explores the social political and economic implications of both real and imagined depression Is feeling blue a symptom of the death of progress Was the suicide of David Foster Wallace a proverbial canary in a coal mine Margaret Thatcher once declared that there is no alternative to the social order that we now reside within Have we accepted her slogan as a fact and is that why so many are on Prozac and other anti depressants Frantzen examines the works of Michel Houellebecq Claire Fontaine and David Foster Wallace as he seeks out an answer and a way to formulate a new future oriented left movement

Deleuze and the Passions Ceciel Meiborg (Ed.), Sjoerd van Tuinen, 2016 In recent years the humanities social sciences and neuroscience have witnessed an affective turn especially in discourses around post Fordist labor economic and ecological crises populism and identity politics mental health and political struggle This new awareness would be unthinkable without the pioneering work of Gilles Deleuze who replaced judgment with affect as the very material movement of thought every concept is an affective experience a becoming Besides entirely active affects the highest practice of thought there is no thought without passive affects or passions Instead of a calm and rational philosophy of passions Deleuzian thought is therefore inseparable from isolated and passionate cries that deny what everybody knows and what nobody can deny every true thought is an aggression This inseparability of reason and passion is by no means an anti intellectualist or irrationalist stance Rather it is critical since it protects reason from its self imposed stupidity by relating it to the unthought forces that condition it And it is clinical because thought becomes possessed by a power of selection The purely active i e free floating unrecorded desire is never enough to produce a consistent relation to the future which is why we need the passions to give us an initial orientation to force and enable us to think Passions are the beliefs perceptions representations and opinions that attach us to the world they make up the very material of which our lives and thoughts are composed Instead of truth as the ultimate criterion of judgment the only principle according to which affective becomings can be selected and evaluated is the extent to which they proliferate joy Spinoza and Marx show how the recruitment of desire traditionally takes place through the tyrants and priests who inspire sad passions in us Similarly the work of Deleuze and Guattari on capitalism and schizophrenia can be read as an encyclopedia of the passions that constitute the affective infrastructure of the socius of contemporary capitalism If it takes a lot of inventiveness or imagination to be able to diagnose our present becomings this is because becomings are always composites of joyful and sad passions Capitalism could not exist if it did not also inspire happiness love courage and perhaps even beatitude That is why today we witness the spectacle of the happily dominated Fr d ric Lordon of the self entrepreneur the managerial class the flex worker the citizen consumer the bean roasting hipster and the self managed team It is within this field of contradictory and heterogeneous passions that the authors of this volume pursue the diagnosis of our past and present becomings Their contributions add up to a systematic taxonomy of the passions and indicate their importance for a thinking that reaches beyond itself

Boever, 2018-03-06 Finance Fictions takes the measure of what it means to live in a world ruled by high finance by examining the tension between psychosis and realism that plays out in the contemporary finance novel. When the things traded at the center of the economy cease to be things at all but highly abstracted speculations, how do we come to see the real? What sorts of narrative can accurately approach the actual workings of a neoliberal economy marked by accelerating cycles of market crashes, economic and political crisis, and austerity? Revisiting such twentieth-century classics of the genre as Tom Wolfe's Bonfire of the Vanities and Bret Easton Ellis's American Psycho, De Boever argues that the twenty-first century is witnessing the birth of a new kind of realistic novel that can make sense of complex financial instruments like collateralized debt obligations, credit default swaps, and digital algorithms operating at speeds faster than what human beings or computers can record. If in 1989 Wolfe could still urge novelists to work harder to tame the billion-footed beast of reality, today's economic reality confronts us with a difference that is qualitative rather than quantitative: a new financial ontology requiring new modes of thinking and writing. Mobilizing the philosophical thought of Quentin Meillassoux in the close reading of finance novels by Robert Harris, Michel Houellebecq, Ben Lerner, and less well-known works of conceptual writing such as Mathew Timmons' Credit, Finance Fictions argues that realism is in for a speculative update if it wants to take on the contemporary economy as it is, whose implications turn out to be deeply political. Part literary study and part philosophical inquiry, Finance Fictions seeks to contribute to a new mindset for creative and critical work on finance in the twenty-first century. The Neoliberal Imagination Ross Abbinnett, 2020-10-29 This book presents a polemical account of the historical development of the neoliberal imagination. Inspired by the thought of Frederic Jameson, Bernard Stiegler, and Timothy Morton, it argues that the evolution of virtual and information technologies has transformed the ideological imaginary of capitalism. Owing to the inseparability of the process of commodification from developments in the sphere of media technology, particularly the rise of the digital networks through which information is processed and disseminated, the aesthetic forms of the neoliberal imaginary are not external to the accelerated productivity and adaptability of human beings. Rather, they are essential both to the vision of progress that informs the technoscientific organization of capitalist society and to the practical formation of the self that takes place within its networks. A snapshot of the evolving world picture that is formed in the neoliberal imagination as articulated in its particular regime of capitalization, The Neoliberal Imagination will appeal to scholars of social theory and social philosophy with interests in neoliberalism. Predator Empire Ian G. R. Shaw, 2016-08-15 What does it mean for human beings to exist in an era of dronified state violence? How can we understand the rise of robotic systems of power and domination? Focusing on U.S. drone warfare and its broader implications, as no other book has to date, Predator Empire argues that we are witnessing a transition from a labor-intensive American empire to a machine-intensive Predator Empire. Moving from the Vietnam War to the War on Terror and beyond, Ian G. R. Shaw reveals how changes in military strategy, domestic policing, and state surveillance have come together to enclose our planet in a robotic system of control. The rise of drones presents a series of existential crises he suggests that are reengineering not only spaces of violence but also the character of the modern state Positioning drone warfare as part of a much longer project to watch and enclose the human species he shows that for decades centuries even human existence has slowly but surely been brought within the artificial worlds of technological civilization Instead of incarcerating us in prisons or colonizing territory directly the Predator Empire locks us inside a worldwide system of electromagnetic enclosure in which democratic ideals give way to a system of totalitarian control a machinic rule by Nobody As accessibly written as it is theoretically ambitious Predator Empire provides up to date information about U S drone warfare as well as an in depth history of the rise of drones
