The author has spent most of his life in the outdoors studying, pursuing, and controlling wildlife. Harding, 2016-10-30 There are certain wild animals which when hard pressed by severe cold and hunger will raid the farmers' and ranchmen's yards, killing fowls and stock. There are, however, no animals that destroy so much stock as wolves and coyotes, as they largely live upon the property of farmers, settlers, and ranchmen to which they add game as they can get it. While these animals are trapped, shot, poisoned, hunted with dogs, etc., their numbers in some states seem to be on the increase rather than the decrease in face of the fact that heavy bounties are offered. The fact that wolf and coyote scalps command a bounty in many states and in addition their pelts are valuable makes the hunting and trapping of these animals of no little importance One thing that has helped to keep the members of these howlers so numerous is the fact that they are among the shrewdest animal in America The day of their extermination is no doubt far in the distance This book contains much of value to those who expect to follow the business of catching wolves and coyotes A great deal of the habits and many of the methods were written by Mr E Kreps who has had experience with these animals upon the Western Plains in Canada and the South Additional information has been secured from Government Bulletins and experienced wolfers from various parts of America A R Harding
