

...it's still a bad color. I see this and see the glow that holds the light and dark together. These facilitate the transition or gradation of the light values to the dark values, and usually comprise the largest area of the painting. The best paintings have a distinguished pattern of mid-tone values. The mid-tones help create harmony in a painting, as opposed to light and dark values that create contrast.

Morning in Cape Porpoise
19 x 27" (48 x 69 cm)

I did this painting at a workshop demonstration in Cape Porpoise, Maine, to emphasize to my students the role of the mid-tones. The sky and shadows on the house were conceived as one connected mid-tone value. This declaration of a large mid-tone shape occurs early. The lights and darks are secondary. Blue is the dominant color.

Winter Meadow
19 x 27" (48 x 69 cm)

The mid-tone values of the mid-tones on the wind-swept trees and snow in the lights and darks of the snow on the quiet mid-tone of the soil connect with the stronger values of the snow exterior.

My second method of painting involves light shapes with the appearance of being very light. I do not even use the pale yellow on the lightest and I am careful not to use reds and blues. It may be necessary to add darker values to create lightings as it is light and dark tones that have given us the ability to see. To show it to take the light of the mid-tones. The value range of the mid-tones is about 30 to 40 percent.

...the mid-tones have a lot of shape and contrast.

The strength here is in the mid-tone values. The drama is in the mid-tones, not in the light and dark. It is the relationship to the mid-tones that makes it to shine. My greatest effort is always to see the mid-tones and their relationship to the light and dark.

Chick in Watfield, Vermont, 19 x 27" (48 x 69 cm)

To you recognize the importance of the mid-tone values in this painting? Is the value pattern that was shaped simplified? If the answer to these questions is "yes," you're beginning to
