against civilians But in most ways they couldn't have been more different Picasso was a communist and probably the only thing Harry Truman hated more than communists was modern art Picasso was an indifferent father a womanizer and a millionaire Truman was utterly devoted to his family and despite his fame far from a rich man How did they come to be shaking hands in front of Picasso's studio in the south of France Truman's meeting with Picasso was quietly arranged by Alfred H Barr Jr the founding director of New York's Museum of Modern Art and an early champion of Picasso Barr knew that if he could convince these two ideological antipodes the straight talking politician from Missouri and the Cubist painter from M'laga to simply shake hands it would send a powerful message not just to reactionary Republicans pushing McCarthyism at home but to the whole world modern art was not evil Truman author Matthew Algeo retraced the Trumans Mediterranean vacation and visited the places they went with Picasso including Picasso's villa Picasso's ceramics studio in Vallauris and Chateau Grimaldi a museum in Antibes A rigorous history with a heartwarming center When Harry Met Pablo intertwines the biographies of Truman and Picasso the history of modern art and twentieth century American politics but at its core it is the touching story of two old men who meet for the first time and realize they have more in common and are more alike than they ever imagined Making American Culture P. Bradley, 2009-09-14 This book offers a social and cultural history of American culture in the formative years of the twentieth century examining forms such as vaudeville early film popular songs modernist art and many others in the context of contemporary social changes Walter Pach (1883-1958) Laurette E. McCarthy, Walter Pach, 2011 Explores the career of Walter Pach 1883-1958 an influential figure in twentieth century art and culture As critic agent liaison and lecturer Pach helped win the acceptance of modern European American and Mexican art throughout the North American continent Provided by publisher Walt Kuhn Emily M. McEwan-Upright, 2015 Walt Kuhn an American artist born in New York is often overlooked for his contribution to Modern American Art Kuhn is typically recognized for his organizational and curatorial role in the 1913 Armory Show but he was also internationally known in his time for his paintings of show people and as a creative director for several vaudeville and circus acts over his lifetime During his career as a creative director Kuhn's art work evolved from superficial renderings of theatre scenes to psychologically intense trionies of performers Kuhn and other American artists including the Ashcan group and Edward Hopper examined the relationship between popular entertainment and the urbanization of New York expressing modernity in visual terms through scenes of popular entertainment Kuhn set himself apart from his American counterparts by isolating the performer in a manner similar to that of Jean Antoine Watteau's and Picasso's paintings of commedia dell'arte figures Utilizing the performer as an alter ego these artists represent the harsh realities of life including social alienation Sociological theories from Georg Simmel Emile Durkheim and Louis Wirth regarding modernity and the urbanization of large cities are used to further analyze the isolated performer in Kuhn's paintings Ultimately this thesis argues that Kuhn's trionies are not only symbols of modernity but also act as metaphorical devices they penetrate the veil of isolation created by modernity and in turn establish an intimate connection with the viewer Sale Catalogues American Art Association, Anderson Galleries (Firm),1927 Art Museums Plus Traute M.
