Testing the Untestable in Language Education Amos Paran,Lies Sercu,2010 The testing and assessment of language competence continues to be a much debated issue in foreign language teaching and research This book is the first one to address the testing of four important dimensions of foreign language education which have been left largely unconsidered learner autonomy intercultural competence literature and literary competence and the integration of content and language learning Each area is considered through a theoretical framework followed by two empirical studies raising questions of importance to all language teachers How can one test literary competence Can intercultural competence be measured What about the integrated assessment of content and language in CLIL and teaching Is progress in autonomous learning skill gaugeable The book constitutes essential reading for anyone interested in the testing and assessment of seemingly largely untestable aspects of foreign language competence The title of this book is well chosen Despite the apparent oxymoron this collection of papers succeeds in addressing important issues of educational policy and theory with the precision born of empirical work combined with discussion of principles This book will open new options for testers for teachers and for those who make policy decisions Michael Byram School of Education University of Durham UK

English in Medical Education Peih-ying Lu,John Corbett,2012-08-13 This book addresses recent developments in medical and language education In both fields there have been methodological shifts towards task based and problem based learning In addition both fields have broadened their focus on clinical expertise and linguistic skills to address issues of cultural competence English in Medical Education responds to these changes by re imagining the language classroom in medical settings as an arena for the exploration of values and professional identity The chapters cover topics such as the nature of cultural competence how to understand spoken discourse in a range of medical settings the use of tasks and problems in language education for medics the development of critical skills and the use of literature and visual media in language education for doctors It will interest everyone teaching English for Medical Purposes

Cultures of Improvement in Scottish Romanticism, 1707-1840 Alex Benchimol,Gerard Lee McKeever,2018-04-17 The first applied research volume in Scottish

Romanticism this collection foregrounds the concept of progress as improvement as a constitutive theme of Scottish writing during the long eighteenth century It explores improvement as the animating principle behind Scotland's post 1707 project of modernization a narrative both shaped and reflected in the literary sphere It represents a vital moment in Romantic studies as a four nations interrogation of the British context reaches maturity Equally the volume contributes to a central concern in the study of Scottish culture amplifying a critical synthesis of Romanticism and Enlightenment Chapter 9 of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license

Sociological Reasoning Rob Stones, 1996-07-03 While sociological modernists were outrageously presumptuous in their claims for sociological knowledge postmodernists have gone to another extreme in claiming that it has no more truth status than fiction Critical of both positions Sociological Reasoning develops an original typology of approaches to social scientific theory and research which is distinguished by its openness and reflexive awareness of rhetorical and methodological aspects of knowledge claims Laced with graphic illustrative examples this is a strikingly well written text that will appeal to students at undergraduate level and beyond

Utilising Fiction to Promote English Language Acquisition Suhair Al Alami, 2013-07-29 The teaching of English in the United Arab Emirates is based upon the communicative approach and aims to enable EFL students to employ language skills for communication purposes as appropriate Personal experience and the author's colleagues observations however reveal that a number of EFL university students fail to achieve adequate communicative competence which in turn does not qualify them to exploit the foreign language of English as required by their curricula as well as by today's world Central to university education in the United Arab Emirates is critical thinking It seems reasonable then to assume that EFL university students are well equipped to tackle a reading text and to handle a writing task demonstrating through such activities an adequate repertoire of critical thinking skills Personal experience and the author's colleagues observations however indicate that this does not apply to a number of EFL university students studying in the country Seeking an effective remedy the author argues that utilising literature in the EFL classroom would be beneficial in terms of many essential aspects Based on a three year research project conducted at a private university in Dubai involving a number of EFL students the book concludes with some suggestions with regards to what criteria to adopt when utilising literary texts The current book as such is expected to be of use and interest to applied linguists as the study proposes an approach to integrating the teaching of language literature communication and critical thinking with the ultimate goal of promoting communicative competence and enhancing critical thinking on the part of EFL learners curricula designers since the study introduces a course for the enhancement of communicative competence and critical thinking and EFL instructors because the study offers instructional material which can be adopted or adapted when teaching EFL university students
