WAYS OF SEEING

Based on the BBC television series with

JOHN BERGER

Seeing comes before words. The child looks and recognises before it can speak.

But there is also another sense in which seeing comes before words. It is seeing which establishes our place in the surrounding world: we explain that world with words, but words can never undo the fact that we are surrounded by
it. The relation between what we see and what we know is never settled.

The Illustrated publisher Bingley commented on this always-present gap between words and seeing in a painting called The Kernal Dream.

The way we see things is affected by what we

Narrative and Other Readings in the Book of Esther Else K. Holt, 2021-04-08 This collection of essays considers the Book of Esther from a literary and sociological perspective In part one Else Holt outlines the main questions of historical critical research in the Book of Esther She also discusses the theological meaning of a biblical book without God and examines how the book was transmitted through the last centuries BCE She also explores how the Hebrew and Greek variants of the Book of Esther picture its main character Esther the Jewish queen of Persia In part two Holt offers deconstructive reading of themes hidden under the surface levels of the book Chapters include discussions of Esther's initiation into her role as Persian queen the inter textual conversation with two much later texts The Arabian Nights and The Story of O and the relationship between Mordecai the Jew and his opponent Haman the Agagite as a matter of mimetic doublings The last part of the book introduces the sociological concept of ethnicity construction as the backdrop for perceiving the instigation of the Jewish festival Purim and the violence connected to it and looks at the Book of Esther as an example of trauma literature The concluding chapter analyses the moral quality of the book of Esther asking the question Is it a bedtime story

Gender and the Media Rosalind Gill, 2015-10-02 Written in a clear and accessible style with lots of examples from Anglo American media Gender and the Media offers a critical introduction to the study of gender in the media and an up to date assessment of the key issues and debates Eschewing a straightforwardly positive or negative assessment the book explores the contradictory character of contemporary gender representations where confident expressions of girl power sit alongside reports of epidemic levels of anorexia among young women moral panics about the impact on men of idealized representations of the six pack but near silence about the pervasive re sexualization of women's bodies along with a growing use of irony and playfulness that render critique extremely difficult The book looks in depth at five areas of media talk shows magazines news advertising and contemporary screen and paperback romances to examine how representations of women and men are changing in the twenty first century partly in response to feminist queer and anti racist critique Gender and the Media is also concerned with the theoretical tools available for analysing representations A range of approaches from semiotics to postcolonial theory are discussed and Gill asks how useful notions such as objectification backlash and positive images are for making sense of gender in today s Western media Finally Gender and the Media also raises questions about cultural politics namely what forms of critique and intervention are effective at a moment when ironic quotation marks seem to protect much media content from criticism and when much media content from Sex and the City to revenge adverts can be labelled postfeminist This is a book that will be of particular interest to students and scholars in gender and media studies as well as those in sociology and cultural studies more generally

German Literature as World Literature Thomas Oliver Beebee, 2014-07-31 This new collection investigates German literature in its international dimensions While no single volume can deal comprehensively with such a vast topic the nine contributors cover a wide historical range with a variety of approaches and authors represented Together the essays begin to adumbrate the systematic nature of the relations between German national literature and world literature as these have developed through institutions cultural networks and individual authors In the last two decades discussions of world literature literature that resonates beyond its original linguistic and cultural contexts have come increasingly to the forefront of theoretical investigations of literature One reason for the explosion of world literature theory pedagogy and methodology is the difficulty of accomplishing either world literature criticism or world literary history The capaciousness as well as the polylingual and multicultural features of world literature present formidable obstacles to its study and call for a collaborative approach that conjoins a variety of expertise To that end this collection contributes to the critical study of world literature in its textual institutional and translatorial reality while at the same time highlighting a question that has hitherto received insufficient scholarly attention what is the relation between national and world literatures or more specifically in what senses do national literatures systematically participate in or resist world literature

Entertainment Media in Indonesia Mark Hobart, Richard Fox, 2007-11-23 Entertainment media now comprise one of the worlds largest industries yet they remain one of the least studied aspects of contemporary mass media Every day hundreds of millions of people watch television programs that might broadly be described as entertainment notably in the rapidly developing countries of Asia However we still have little Representations of Global Poverty Nandita Dogra, 2013-09-30 Through the efforts of increasingly media aware NGOs people in the west are bombarded with images of poverty and inequality in the developing world Representations of Poverty is the first comprehensive study of the communications and imagery used by international NGOs to represent the developing world In this meticulously researched and original book Nandita Dogra examines the full cycle of representation

integrating analyses of the public messages of international development NGOs in the UK with the views of their staff and audiences Exploring the Europeanised discourses inherent in appeals to this notion of a common humanity she argues for a greater acknowledgment of NGOs as significant mediating institutions which can expand understandings of global inequalities and their historical causation The book is a timely addition to the growing fields of development and media studies and will be a key resource for academics policymakers and practitioners alike who have an interest in global poverty aid NGOs and the politics of representation Touring Poverty Bianca Freire-Medeiros, 2014-11-13 Touring Poverty addresses a highly controversial practice the transformation of impoverished neighbourhoods into valued attractions for international tourists In the megacities of the Global South selected and idealized aspects of poverty are being turned into a tourist commodity for consumption The book takes the reader on a journey through Rocinha a neighbourhood in Rio de Janeiro which is advertised as the largest favela in Latin America Bianca Freire Medeiros presents interviews with tour operators guides tourists and dwellers to explore the vital questions raised by this kind of tourism How and why do diverse social actors and institutions orchestrate perform and consume touristic poverty In the context of globalization and neoliberalism what are the politics of selling and buying the social experience of cities cultures and peoples With a full and sensitive exploration of the ethical debates surrounding the sale of emotions elicited by the first hand contemplation of poverty Touring Poverty is an innovative book that provokes the reader to think about the role played by tourism and our role as tourists within a context of growing poverty It will be of interest to students of sociology anthropology ethnography and methodology urban studies tourism studies mobility studies development studies politics and international relations

Museum Objects Sandra H. Dudley, 2012 Museum Objects provides a set of readings that together create a distinctive emphasis and perspective on the objects which lie at the heart of interpretive practice in museums material culture studies and everyday life This reader brings together classic and up to date texts on the nature and definition of the object itself the senses and embodied experience of objects No other volume brings together such perspectives in this way and no other volume includes such a focus on the museum context Museum Objects incorporates both theorised and more practical readings from a range of international academic and contextual perspectives The overall result is a definitive set of readings that offers a comprehensive understanding of objects and their place within the museum context Learning Outside the Primary Classroom Fred Sedgwick, 2012-05-31 We believe that every young person should experience the world beyond the classroom as an essential part of learning and personal development whatever their age ability or circumstances Learning outside the classroom is about raising achievement through an organised powerful approach to learning in which direct experience is of prime importance LOTC Initiative manifesto In Learning Outside the Primary Classroom the educationalist and writer Fred Sedgwick explores in a practical way the many opportunities for intense learning that children and teachers can find outside the confines of the usual learning environment the classroom This original work is based on tried and tested methods from UK primary schools The author draws on current concerns in the educational world regarding outdoor learning as exemplified by the eight sector Learning Outside the Classroom LOTC initiative supported by Ofsted but remains refreshingly independent in approach Using a metaphor of concentric circles Learning Outside the Primary Classroom starts with a brief opening chapter based in the classroom itself before moving outwards to explore the learning possibilities presented by the immediate environs of the school playgrounds gym halls sports fields etc Later chapters move beyond the school gates to explore the local shops parks religious centres libraries and town halls and the myriad learning opportunities they represent The final chapters explore the possibilities of larger scale day trips to major galleries and museums and more ambitious field trips
