The Wetlands Of Central And Eastern Europe Environmental Research Series:

The Wetlands of Central and Eastern Europe ,1993 The Micro-reserves as a Tool for Conservation of Threatened Plants in Europe Emilio Laguna Lumbreras,Council of Europe,2001-01-01 Many threatened populations of plant species occupy a very small area ranging from a few square metres to a few hectares To protect them some countries have established legal systems that permit them to create and manage small or very small reserves called micro reserves This publication presents an analysis of micro reserves for plant species with special reference to those set up in the region of Valencia Spain Agriculture and the Environment in the Transition to a Market Economy Centre for Co-operation with Economies in Transition,Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development,1994 The papers in this volume were presented at an international conference on Agriculture and the Environment in the Transition to a Market Economy held on 14 16 September 1993 in Vilnius Lithuania Foreword The Lowland Grasslands of Central and Eastern Europe IUCN East European Programme,1991 The Environment in Eastern Europe International Union for Conservation of Nature and Natural Resources,1991 Best Practice for Conservation Planning in Rural Areas ,2005-08-15 This report draws on lessons learned from observations made at seven case study sites all of which permit economic activities especially recreation that are not harmful to the biological values and natural functions of the area There is now a need to translate these experiences into policy instruments The guidelines summarized in some 20 pages offer sound and well documented advice on how to proceed Ocean Yearbook Elisabeth Mann Borgese,Norton Sydney Ginsburg,2000 Environmental Status Reports: USSR IUCN East European Programme,1991 Water Resources Management in Balkan Countries Abdelazim M. Negm,Gheorghe Romanescu,Martina Zelenakova,2019-10-29 This book presents an overview and knowledgeable on water resources management in Balkan countries Slovenia North Macedonia Serbia Croatia Greece and Bulgaria The book shows the state of the art and also the latest research findings of the different aspects of water resources management in Balkan countries with case studies that reveal the best practice in water resources management development and protection Researchers and scientists from the Balkan countries present their experiences and expertise on a wide range of water resources topics Therefore the book is of particular interest to decisions planners makers and stakeholders Also the book will be useful to experts professionals researchers scientists practitioners academics working in the field of water resources management in Balkan countries and analogous regions World Resource Review ,1997 Managing Protected Areas in Central and Eastern Europe Under Climate Change Sven Rannow,Marco Neubert,2014-01-18 Beginning with an overview of data and concepts developed in the EU project HABIT CHANGE this book addresses the need for sharing knowledge and experience in the field of biodiversity conservation and climate change There is an urgent need to build capacity in protected areas to monitor assess manage and report the effects of climate change and their interaction with other pressures The contributors identify barriers to the adaptation of conservation management such as the mismatch between planning reality and the decision context at site level Short and vivid descriptions of case studies drawn from investigation areas all over Central and Eastern Europe illustrate both the local impacts of climate change and their consequences for future management These focus on ecosystems most vulnerable to changes in climatic conditions including alpine areas wetlands forests lowland grasslands and coastal areas The case studies demonstrate the application of adaptation strategies in protected areas like National Parks Biosphere Reserves and Natural Parks and reflect the potential benefits as well as existing obstacles A general section provides the necessary background information on climate trends and their effects on abiotic and biotic components Often the parties to policy change and conservation management including managers land users and stakeholders lack both expertise and incentives to undertake adaptation activities The authors recognise that achieving the needed changes in behavior habit is as much a social learning process as a matter of science based procedure They describe the implementation of modeling impact assessment and monitoring of climate conditions and show how the results can support efforts to increase stakeholder involvement in local adaptation strategies The book concludes by pointing out the need for more work to communicate the cross sectoral nature of biodiversity protection the value of well informed planning in the long term process of adaptation the definition of acceptable change and the motivational value of exchanging experience and examples of good practice

Protecting Nature Jeffrey A. McNeely, 1994 This volume describes the major issues facing protected areas both terrestrial and marine and discusses the approaches needed to address these issues An additional section drawing upon the expertise of CNPPA's vice chair marine and members of 14 task forces specifically addresses protected area issues in the coastal marine environment

Eurasian Steppes. Ecological Problems and Livelihoods in a Changing World Marinus J.A. Werger, Marja A. van Staalduinen, 2012-06-14 Steppes form one of the largest biomes Drastic changes in steppe ecology land use and livelihoods came with the emergence and again with the collapse of communist states Excessive ploughing and vast influx of people into the steppe zone led to a strong decline in nomadic pastoralism in the Soviet Union and China and in severely degraded steppe ecosystems In Mongolia nomadic pastoralism persisted but steppes degraded because of strongly increased livestock loads After the Soviet collapse steppes regenerated on huge tracts of fallow land Presently new restorative steppe land management schemes are applied On top of all these changes come strong effects of climate change in the northern part of the steppe zone This book gives an up to date overview of changes in ecology climate and use of the entire Eurasian steppe area and their effects on livelihoods of steppe people It integrates knowledge that so far was available only in a spectrum of locally used languages

The Wetlands Handbook, 2 Volume Set Edward Maltby, Tom Barker, 2009-07-23 Forty two chapters by international experts from a wide range of disciplines make The Wetlands Handbook the essential tool for those seeking comprehensive understanding of the subject A departure from more traditional treatises this text examines freshwater wetland ecosystem science from the fundamentals to issues of management and policy Introductory chapters address the scope and significance of wetlands globally for communities culture and biodiversity Subsequent sections deal with processes underpinning wetland functioning how wetlands work their uses and values for humans and nature their sensitivity to external impacts and how they may be restored The text is illustrated by numerous examples emphasising functional and holistic approaches to wetland management including case studies on the wise use and rehabilitation of wetlands in farmed urban industrial and other damaged environments highlighting the long term benefits of multiple use The Wetlands Handbook will provide an invaluable reference for researchers managers policy makers and students of wetland sciences

Setting Priorities Environmental Action Programme for Central and Eastern Europe, 1998 Despite efforts by Central and Eastern European CEE countries to tackle environmental problems there are still a number of serious environmental problems that require immediate and urgent action The Environmental Action Programme EAP provides a framework and guide for identifying the highest priority problems and for developing realistic efficient and cost effective solutions This book describes the features of the broad strategy and action framework that EAP represents Annexes provide summaries of topics such as human health problems and pollution hot spots the impact of economic reform and industrial restructuring and priorities for environmental expenditure Boxes discuss nitrates in drinking water in Romania short term threats to the environment in Russia and debt for environment swaps in Poland

Parks for Life, 1994 This plan sets out the policies and actions needed to ensure an adequate effective and well managed network of protected areas in Europe It outlines how potential areas should be integrated with other sectors such as agriculture forestry and tourism sets out priorities at European sub regional and national level proposes actions to strengthen the legal framework planning and management of Europe's protected areas and explains how to create the public support necessary for success Over 200 individuals and institutions have contributed to what has become IUCN's largest ever exercise in regional collaboration between government agencies NGOs and the individual staff of protected areas
