

Visual Basic® for Applications 2016 Introduction

Visual Basic for Applications (VBA) is the programming language, or code, used to automate tasks in Microsoft Office applications. You can manually compare your own code with the code that is provided for you, or you can use the code as a template for your own code. When you use the code as a template, you can change the code to suit your needs, or you can use the code as is.

Code Name Rules

- Code names must begin with a letter.
- Subsequent characters should only be letters, numbers, or underscore characters.
- Good practice makes names shorter than 25 characters, and subnames, underscores, for spaces.
- Avoid names that are the same as well-known names in Excel or other Office applications, such as `Worksheet`.

VBA Editor Tips

- The Project Explorer pane is best used to navigate between code windows.
- Use the code window's Procedure drop list (see Navigating Code Window Lists) to navigate between subroutines in a long code window.
- Click the Project Explorer pane icon (see Project Explorer) at the top of the pane to toggle between a grouped list (folders) and a single list. Making this change in any one Office application will affect all Office applications.
- To maximize the code window, close all other windows and panes.
- To directly edit a macro in Excel or Word, press Alt+F8, select the macro name, then Ctrl+D, Ctrl+D, and then Alt+F8 to close the VBA Editor and return to the Office application.

Using Code Window Lists

Object	Procedure List
Worksheet	Worksheet
Workbook	Workbook

The Object and Procedure drop lists at the top of any code window. They can be used to navigate between subroutines or macro events triggered code.

1. Select an appropriate item from the Object drop list.
 2. Then select an appropriate item from the Procedure drop list.
 3. Write code into the newly created subroutine.
- For example, a subroutine can be created to calculate Area from Side, with Area as the argument, before the Area is used. Select the Area from the Object drop list at the top of the code window. A new subroutine is automatically created called Area from the Object drop list. The Area argument is used in the code window.
