

System introduction, EVC

Starting sequence

- 1 When the main switch is closed, the engine control unit (EDC 7), PCU, SHCU and SUS receive system voltage (via pins 3 and 4 in the "Engine interface" connector).
- 2 When the starter key is turned to position "I" (pin 1) 5a on the starter switch is connected to pin 30), the engine control unit (pin 39) receives an activation signal from the PCU (via pin 5 in the "Engine interface" connector).
When the ignition is switched, the EVC equipment such as the control panels and instruments are activated. All relays connected to the starter switch and start - /stop panels are activated to supply current which does not belong to the EVC.

- 3 Check that all controls are in the neutral position and that the stop button is not depressed.
- 4 Turn the key to position III (pin 50 on the starter switch is connected to pin 30). Then pin 5 on the engine control unit receives an electric voltage and the starter motor is activated.
