Historicizing Self-Interest in the Modern Atlantic World Christine Zabel, 2021-03-15 This volume historicizes the use of the notion of self interest that at least since Bernard de Mandeville and Adam Smith's theories is considered a central component of economic theory Having in the twentieth century become one of the key features of rational choice models and thus is seen as an idealized trait of human behavior self interest has despite Albert O Hirschman's pivotal analysis of self interest only marginally been historicized A historicization of self interest however offers new insights into the concept by asking why when for what reason and in which contexts the notion was discussed or referred to how it was employed by contemporaries and how the different usages developed and changed over time This helps us to appreciate the various transformations in the perception of the notion and also to explore how and in what ways different people at different times and in different regions reflected on or realized the act of considering what was in their best interest The volume focuses on those different usages knowledges and practices concerned with self interest in the modern Atlantic World from the seventeenth to twentieth centuries by using different approaches including political and economic theory actuarial science anthropology or the history of emotions Offering a new perspective on a key component of Western capitalism this is the ideal resource for researches and scholars of intellectual political and economic history in the modern Atlantic World

The Emergence of Routines Daniel M. G. Raff, Philip Scranton, 2016-12-06 This book is a collection of essays about the emergence of routines and more generally about getting things organized in firms and in industries in early stages and in transition These are subjects of the greatest interest to students of entrepreneurship and organizations as well as to business historians but the academic literature is thin The chronological settings of the book's eleven substantive chapters are historical reaching as far back as the late 1800s right up to the 1990s but the issues they raise are evergreen and the historical perspective is exploited to advantage The chapters are organized in three broad groups examining the emergence of order and routines in initiatives studying the same subject in ongoing operations and a third focusing specifically on the phenomena of transition The topics range from the Book of the Month Club to industrial research at Alcoa from the evolution of procurement and coordination to project based industries such as bridge and dam building and the governance of defence contracting and from the development of project performance appraisal at the World Bank to the way the global automobile industry collectively redesigned the internal combustion engine to deal with after the advent of environmental regulation The chapters are vivid and thought provoking in themselves and for pedagogical purposes offer excellent jumping off points for discussion of relevant experiences and cognate academic literature

To Reform the World Guy Fiti Sinclair, 2017-02-16 This book explores how international organizations IOs have expanded their powers over time without formally amending their founding treaties IOs intervene in military financial economic political social and cultural affairs and increasingly take on roles not explicitly assigned to them by law Sinclair contends that this mission creep has allowed IOs to intervene internationally in a way that has allowed them to recast institutions within and interactions among states societies and peoples on a broadly Western liberal model Adopting a historical and interdisciplinary socio legal approach Sinclair supports this claim through detailed investigations of historical episodes involving three very different organizations the International Labour Organization in the interwar period the United Nations in the two decades following the Second World War and the World Bank from the 1950s through to the 1990s The book draws on a wide range of original institutional and archival materials bringing to light little known aspects of each organization s activities identifying continuities in the ideas and practices of international governance across the twentieth century and speaking to a range of pressing theoretical questions in present day international law and international relations

Global 1968 A. James McAdams,Anthony P. Monta,2021-06-01 Global 1968 is a unique study of the similarities and differences in the 1968 cultural revolutions in Europe and Latin America The late 1960s was a time of revolutionary ferment throughout the world Yet so much was in flux during these years that it is often difficult to make sense of the period In this volume distinguished historians filmmakers musicologists literary scholars and novelists address this challenge by exploring a specific issue the extent to which the period that we associate with the year 1968 constituted a cultural revolution They approach this topic by comparing the different manifestations of this transformational era in Europe and Latin America The contributors show in vivid detail how new social mores innovative forms of artistic expression and cultural religious and political resistance were debated and tested on both sides of the Atlantic In some cases the desire to confront traditional beliefs and conventions had been percolating under the surface for years Yet they also find that the impulse to overturn the status quo was fueled by the interplay of a host of factors that converged at the end of the 1960s and accelerated the transition from one generation to the next These factors included new thinking about education and work dramatic changes in the self presentation of the Roman Catholic Church government repression in both the Soviet Bloc and Latin America and universal disillusionment with the United States The contributors demonstrate that the short and long term effects of the cultural revolution of 1968 varied from country to country but the period s defining legacy was a lasting shift in values beliefs lifestyles and artistic sensibilities Contributors A James McAdams Volker Schl ndorff Massimo De Giuseppe Eric Drott Eric Zolov William Collins Donahue Valeria Manzano Timothy W Ryback Vania Markarian Belinda Davis J Patrice McSherry Michael Seidman Willem Melching Jaime M Pensado Patrick Barr Melej Carmen Helena T llez Alonso Cueto and Ignacio Walker
