Unveiling Inequality A World Historical Perspective:

Unveiling Inequality Roberto Patricio Korzeniewicz, Timothy Patrick Moran, 2009-11-25 Despite the vast expansion of global markets during the last half of the twentieth century social science still most often examines and measures inequality and social mobility within individual nations rather than across national boundaries Every country has both rich and poor populations making demands via institutions political processes or even conflict on how their resources will be distributed But shifts in inequality in one country can precipitate accompanying shifts in another Unveiling Inequality authors Roberto Patricio Korzeniewicz and Timothy Patrick Moran make the case that within country analyses alone have not adequately illuminated our understanding of global stratification The authors present a comprehensive new framework that moves beyond national boundaries to analyze economic inequality and social mobility on a global scale and from a historical perspective Assembling data on patterns of inequality in more than ninety six countries Unveiling Inequality reframes the relationship between globalization and inequality within and between nations Korzeniewicz and Moran first examine two different historical patterns High Inequality Equilibrium and Low Inequality Equilibrium and question whether increasing equality democracy and economic growth are inextricably linked as nations modernize Inequality is best understood as a complex set of relational interactions that unfold globally over time So the same institutional mechanisms that have historically reduced inequality within some nations have also often accentuated the selective exclusion of populations from poorer countries and enhanced high inequality equilibrium between nations National identity and citizenship are the fundamental contemporary bases of stratification and inequality in the world the authors conclude Drawing on these insights the book recasts patterns of mobility within global stratification The authors detail the three principal paths available for social mobility from a global perspective within country mobility mobility through national economic growth and mobility through migration Korzeniewicz and Moran provide strong evidence that the nation where we are born is the single greatest determining factor of how we will live Too much sociological literature on inequality focuses on the plight of have nots in wealthy nations who have more opportunity for social mobility than even the average individual in nations perennially at the bottom of the wealth distribution scale Unveiling Inequality represents a major paradigm shift in thinking about social inequality and a clarion call to reorient discussions of economic justice in world historical global terms

The World is Out of Joint Immanuel Wallerstein, 2015-11-17 The dominant view in social science has been that the modern world shows a pattern of linear development in which all positive social trends rise albeit at an uncertain speed toward a relatively homogenized world In the post 1945 period some analysts contested this linear model arguing that the modern world was rather one of escalating polarization Their view was strengthened by the separate emergence within the natural sciences of complexity studies which suggested that natural systems inevitably moved away from equilibrium and at a certain point bifurcated radically This book based on a truly collaborative international research project evaluates the empirical evidence in this debate in order to 1 give an adequate portrayal of the historical realities of the world system 2 draw a nuanced assessment about this debate and 3 provide the basis on which we can not only envisage probable future trends but also draw conclusions about the policy and or political implications of past and future research The work of ten research clusters based on crucial topics of overlapping nodes of social activity provides a vantage point with which to assess the basic issue a clear picture emerges of world historical interpretations of continuing polarizations

Routledge Handbook of World-Systems Analysis Salvatore J. Babones, Christopher K. Chase-Dunn, 2012 This volume reviews the state of the field of world systems analysis World systems analysts study the structure of the relationships among people organisations and states and how those relationships change over time

Inequality Beyond Globalization Christian Suter, 2010 This volume debates the complex nature of the relationships between globalization social and economic transformations and growing inequalities Employing a global world historical and comparative perspective the 16 articles brought together in this volume deal with three central questions Firstly the question of the spatio temporal evolution and variations of growing inequalities secondly the relative importance of globalization as compared to other factors explaining growing inequalities and thirdly institutional variations of inequality dynamics and globalization impacts Christian Suter is Professor of Economic Sociology at the University of Neuchâtel and President of the World Society Foundation domiciled at the University of Zurich Switzerland

Global Inequalities in World-Systems Perspective Manuela Boatca, Andrea Komlosy, Hans-Heinrich Nolte, 2017-09-22 During its 500 year history the modern world system has seen several shifts in hegemony Yet since the decline of the U S in the 1970s no single core power has attained a hegemonic position in an increasingly polarized world As income inequalities have become more pronounced in core countries especially in the U S and the U K global inequalities emerged as a new topic of social scientific scholarship ignoring the constant move toward polarization that has been characteristic of the entire modern world system At the same time the rise of new states most notably the BRICS and the relative economic growth of particular regions especially East Asia have prompted speculations about the next hegemon that largely disregard both the longue durée of hegemonic shifts and the constraints that regional differentiations place on the concentration of capital and geopolitical power in one location Authors in this book place the issue of rising inequalities at the center of their analyses They explore the concept and reality of semiperipheries in the 21st century world system the role of the state and of transnational migration in current patterns of global stratification types of catching up development and new spatial configurations of inequality in Europe's Eastern periphery as well as the prospects for the Global Left in the new systemic order The book links novel theoretical debates on the rise of global inequalities to methodologically innovative approaches to the urgent task of addressing them

Egalitarianism and Global Justice Kevin K. W. Ip, 2016-07-28 In this book Kevin Ip articulates and defends an egalitarian conception of global distributive justice grounded on the value of equality as a normative ideal of how human relations should be conducted Arguing that relationships of equality rather than those characterized by domination or exploitation are a requirement for a just system Ip spells out the real world implications of this approach Ip defends the ideal of equality against the diverse objections which have been brought to bear and the responsibilities we bear in our aspirations towards global justice

Unequal Europe Jason Beckfield,2019-02-26 Unequal Europe shows how European integration changes welfare states and income inequality in the European Union To identify who wins and who loses from European integration the book marshals original evidence from household income surveys case studies of welfare states and new measures of social policy and regional integration

South Africa and the World Economy William G. Martin,2013 Once an international pariah South Africa has emerged as a respected and influential African state projecting its economic and political power across the continent South Africa and the World Economy Remaking Race State and Region chronicles the volatile history of this resurgence from the nation s rise as an industrialized white state and subsequent decline as a newly under developing country to its current standing as a leading member of the Global South Contrasting with much of the latest scholarship which examines South Africa as a discrete national case this volume places the country in the global social system analyzing its relationships with the colonial powers and white settlers of the early twentieth century the costs of the neoliberal alliances with the North and the more recent challenges from the East This approach offers a bold reinterpretation of South Africa s developmental successes and failures over the last century as well as clear yet contentious lessons for the present Publisher description

Global Inequalities Beyond Occidentalism Manuela Boatcă,2016-04-22 Based on theoretical developments in research on world systems analysis transnational migration postcolonial and decolonial perspectives whilst considering continuities of inequality patterns in the context of colonial and postcolonial realities Global Inequalities Beyond Occidentalism proposes an original framework for the study of the long term reproduction of inequalities under global capitalism With attention to the critical assessment of both Marxist and Weberian perspectives this book examines the wider implications of transferring classical approaches to inequality to a twenty first century context calling for a reconceptualisation of inequality that is both theoretically informed and methodologically consistent and able to cater for the implications of shifts from national and Western structures to global structures Engaging with approaches to the study of class gender racial and ethnic inequalities at the global level this innovative work adopts a relational perspective in the study of social inequalities that is able to reveal how historical interdependencies between world regions have translated as processes of inequality production and reproduction As such it will be of interest to scholars of sociology political and social theory and anthropology concerned with questions of globalisation and inequality
