Urban Travel Demand Modeling Norbert Oppenheim, 1995-02-06 In addition models for optimal transportation supply decisions are integrated with the demand models Transit travel and goods movements are specifically addressed Urban and Regional Transportation Modeling Der-Horng Lee, David E. Boyce, 2004-01-01 This collection in honor of David Boyce contains genuinely interesting and quality papers that reflect the diversity of interests of the honoree David Boyce has made a number of significant contributions at the interface of transportation and regional science He has been a pioneer of injecting rigor and consistency into spatial analysis The papers here both reflect the ethos of this copious body of analysis and take it further in extensions and applications It will prove to be an enduring source of ideas and insight Kenneth Button George Mason University US Urban Travel Demand Modeling Norbert Oppenheim, 1995-02-06 In addition models for optimal transportation supply decisions are integrated with the demand models Transit travel and goods movements are specifically addressed Urban Travel Demand Modeling Norbert, 1995-01-01 Incorporating Telecommuting Into an Urban Travel Demand Model Shirley Chan, 1998 Equilibrium and Advanced Transportation Modelling P. Marcotte, Sang Nguyen, 2013-06-29 Each chapter in Equilibrium and Advanced Transportation Modelling develops a topic from basic concepts to the state of the art and beyond All chapters relate to aspects of network equilibrium Chapter One advocates the use of simulation models for the representation of traffic flow movements at the microscopic level Chapter Two presents travel demand systems for generating trip matrices from activity based models taking into account the entire daily schedule of network users Chapter Three examines equilibrium strategic choices adopted by the passengers of a congested transit system carefully addressing line selection at boarding and transfer nodes Chapter Four provides a critical appraisal of the traditional process that consists in sequentially performing the tasks of trip generation trip distribution mode split and assignment and its impact on the practice of transportation planning Chapter Five gives an insightful overview of stochastic assignment models both in the static and dynamic cases Chapters Six and Seven investigate the setting of tolls to improve traffic flow conditions in a congested transportation network Chapter Eight provides a unifying framework for the analysis of multicriteria assignment models In this chapter available algorithms are summarized and an econometric perspective on the estimation of heterogeneous preferences is given Chapter Nine surveys the use of hyperpaths in operations research and proposes a new paradigm of equilibrium in a capacitated network with an application to transit assignment Chapter Ten analyzes the transient states of a system moving towards equilibrium using the mathematical framework of projected dynamical systems Chapter Eleven discusses an in depth survey of algorithms for solving shortest path problems which are pervasive to any equilibrium algorithm The chapter devotes special attention to the computation of dynamic shortest paths and to shortest hyperpaths The final chapter considers operations research tools for reducing traffic congestion in particular introducing an algorithm for solving a signal setting problem formulated as a bilevel program Transportation and Traffic

Theory 2009: Golden Jubilee William H. K. Lam, S. C. Wong, Hong K. Lo, 2009-09-01 It is our great privilege and honor to present the proceedings of the 18 International Symposium on Transportation and Traffic Theory ISTTT held at The Hong Kong Polytechnic University in Hong Kong China on 16-18 July 2009. The 18 ISTTT is jointly organized by the Hong Kong Society for Transportation Studies and Department of Civil and Structural Engineering of The Hong Kong Polytechnic University. The ISTTT series is the main gathering for the world's transportation and traffic theorists and those who are interested in contributing to or gaining a deep understanding of traffic and transportation phenomena in order to better plan, design, and manage the transportation system. Although it embraces a wide range of topics from traffic flow theories and demand modeling to road safety and logistics and supply chain modeling, the ISTTT is hallmarked by its intellectual innovation, research, and development excellence in the treatment of real-world transportation and traffic problems. The ISTTT prides itself in the extremely high quality of its proceedings. Previous ISTTT conferences were held in Warren, Michigan (1959), London (1963), New York (1965), Karlsruhe (1968), Berkeley, California (1971), Sydney (1974), Kyoto (1977), Toronto (1981), Delft (1984), Cambridge, Massachusetts (1987), Yokohama (1990), Berkeley, California (1993), Lyon (1996), Jerusalem (1999), Adelaide (2002), College Park, Maryland (2005), and London (2007). This 18 ISTTT celebrates the 50th Anniversary of this premier conference series.

City and Transportation Planning Akinori Morimoto, 2021-08-09 Many urban and transportation problems such as traffic congestion, traffic accidents, and environmental burdens result from poor integration of land use and transportation. This graduate-level textbook outlines strategies for sustainably integrating land use and transportation planning, addressing the impact on land use of advanced transport like light rail transit and autonomous cars, and the emerging focus on cyber space and the role of ICT and big data in city planning. The text also explores how we can create sustainable cities for the future. In contrast to the compact city, which has been proposed as an environmentally friendly urban model, recent years have seen an acceleration in the introduction of ICT-based smart cities. As people's lives are drastically changed by COVID-19, a new form of city is being explored. The new concept of a smart sharing city is introduced as an urban model that wisely integrates physical and cyber space and presents a way to solve future urban issues with new technologies.

Simulation Modeling for Watershed Management James Westervelt, 2001 This book discusses the role of modeling in the watershed management process and gives an overview of state-of-the-art modeling applications. The first chapters provide background on the benefits and costs of modeling and use ecological and hydrologic applications as examples. The second section describes the latest models developed from a wide selection of environmental disciplines. The author emphasizes the importance of understanding the issues and alternatives in choosing, applying, and evaluating models. The final section discusses the future of watershed-based modeling.

Introduction to Intelligent Systems in Traffic and Transportation Ana L.C. Bazzan, Franziska Klügl, 2022-05-31 Urban mobility is not only one of the pillars of modern economic systems but also a key issue in the quest for equality of opportunity, once it can improve access to other services. Currently, however, there are a number of negative issues related to traffic especially in mega cities such as economical issues cost of opportunity caused by delays environmental externalities related to emissions of pollutants and social traffic accidents Solutions to these issues are more and more closely tied to information and communication technology Indeed a search in the technical literature using the keyword urban traffic to filter out articles on data network traffic retrieved the following number of articles as of December 3 2013 9 443 ACM Digital Library 26 054 Scopus and 1 730 000 Google Scholar Moreover articles listed in the ACM query relate to conferences as diverse as MobiCom CHI PADS and AAMAS This means that there is a big and diverse community of computer scientists and computer engineers who tackle research that is connected to the development of intelligent traffic and transportation systems It is also possible to see that this community is growing and that research projects are getting more and more interdisciplinary To foster the cooperation among the involved communities this book aims at giving a broad introduction into the basic but relevant concepts related to transportation systems targeting researchers and practitioners from computer science and information technology In addition the second part of the book gives a panorama of some of the most exciting and newest technologies originating in computer science and computer engineering that are now being employed in projects related to car to car communication interconnected vehicles car navigation platooning crowd sensing and sensor networks among others This material will also be of interest to engineers and researchers from the traffic and transportation community
