Uncultural Behavior Uncultural Behavior:

A Forest of Dreams Noah Theriault, 2025-09-30 After the fall of the Marcos regime in 1986 the Philippines became the first country in Asia to codify Indigenous rights This hard fought reform aimed to protect the ancestral lands of the archipelago's remaining Indigenous communities Since then these communities have become increasingly embroiled in resource politics and many have found that claiming their rights does as much to facilitate their dispossession as to prevent it In A Forest of Dreams Noah Theriault examines the entanglement of capitalism conservation and indigeneity in southern Palawan a place widely coveted as the Philippines last frontier Drawing on a decade of research Theriault reveals how bureaucrats investors and conservationists impose their own designs on Indigenous rights as they vie for land labor and legitimacy But he also asks how those designs collide with the dreams both figurative and literal of Indigenous persons themselves What results is a story of unexpected agency and contingency in which humans wildlife and powerful forest beings complicate prevailing theories of social and environmental change Through the experiences of a specific community A Forest of Dreams traces how Palawan families understand and influence the powerful forces that have enclosed them within an ancestral domain a protected landscape and an expanding plantation zone Each chapter opens with a memorable historical or ethnographic episode from Lapulapu's fateful battle with Magellan and the primitivist visions of Charles Lindbergh to truckloads of tree planting college students a screeching civet oneiric owl sorcery and a bitter dispute over almaciga resin Informed by Palawan analyses of their own history Theriault argues that efforts to save the last frontier have reinforced rather than disrupted long term processes of colonization and capitalist expansion Yet he also shows how studies of the environment development and human rights in Southeast Asia can better account for the critical agency of those whose lands are at stake

Uncultural Behavior Charles J-H Macdonald, 2006-10-31 Until recently the people of Kulbi Kenipaagan lived on the fringes of the modern world following traditional customs and beliefs practicing shifting agriculture and leading an outwardly peaceful existence in a remote corner of Palawan island Yet this small community basically indistinguishable in society and culture from its immediate neighbors to the north has one of the highest rates of suicide in the world Why would the comparatively happy and well off inhabitants of Kulbi fall victim to despair Uncultural Behavior investigates the mystery of self inflicted death among this nonviolent and orderly people in the Southern Philippines To make sense of such a phenomenon Charles Macdonald probes the beliefs customs and general disposition of this Palawan people exploring how they live think behave and relate to one another Early chapters examine group formation and the spatialization of social ties material culture marriage and law providing an extensive ethnographic account of the Kulbi way of life The author offers insights into the spiritual world of the community and addresses the local theory of emotions and the words that supply the vocabulary and idiom of indigenous commentaries on suicide A well documented case study of a suicide and its aftermath gives readers an idea of how Kulbi people treat suicide and their conflicting views on the subject

Following an analysis of statistical information the author presents five profiles bringing together motivations actors and circumstances He concludes by examining the perspectives of neurobiology and genetics as well as psychology sociology and history

The Uncultured Wars Doctor Steven Salaita, 2010-08-17 The Uncultured Wars is a powerful indictment of dominant American liberal left discourse Through twelve stylish essays Steven Salaita returns again and again to his core themes of anti Arab racism and Islamophobia and the inadequacy of critical thought amongst the chattering classes showing how racism continues to exist in the places where we would least expect it By looking at topics as diverse as Is Jackass Justifiable Open Mindedness on Independence Day and Ambition Terrorism and Empathy Salaita explores why Arabs are marginalized and who seeks to benefit from this He goes on to make the case that Arabs and Muslims urgently need to be included in the conversations that people have about American geopolitics Part of a long tradition of politically engaged writing and a trailblazer in the emerging genre of Arab American writing this book is eminently readable and relevant to our times

Suicide and Agency Ludek Broz, Daniel Münster, 2016-04-01 Suicide and Agency offers an original and timely challenge to existing ways of understanding suicide Through the use of rich and detailed case studies the authors assembled in this volume explore how interplay of self harm suicide personhood and agency varies markedly across site Greenland Siberia India Palestine and Mexico and setting self run leprosy colony suicide bomb attack cash crop farming middle class mothering Rather than starting from a set definition of suicide they empirically engage suicide fields the wider domains of practices and of sense making out of which realized imaginary or disputed suicides emerge By drawing on ethnographic methods and approaches a new comparative angle to understanding suicide beyond mainstream Western bio medical and classical sociological conceptions of the act as an individual or social pathology is opened up The book explores a number of ontological assumptions about the role of free will power good and evil personhood and intentionality in both popular and expert explanations of suicide Suicide and Agency offers a substantial and ground breaking contribution to the emerging field of the anthropology of suicide It will appeal to a range of scholars and students including those in anthropology sociology social psychology cultural studies suicidology and social studies of death and dying

The Evolution of Suicide C A Soper, 2018-07-23 A fascinating read Contrary to what the title might suggest this is an upbeat exploration of suicide with a positive message Jeanine Connor Therapy Today December 2018 This thought provoking volume offers a distinctly human evolutionary analysis of a distinctly human phenomenon suicide Its pain and brain model posits animal adaptations as the motivator for suicidal escape and specific human cognitive adaptations as supplying the means while also providing a plausible explanation for why only a relatively small number of humans actually take their own lives The author hypothesizes two types of anti suicide responses active and reactive mechanisms prompted by the brain as suicide deterrents Proposed as well is the intriguing prospect that mental disorders such as depression and addiction long associated with suicidality may serve as survival measures Among the topics covered Suicide as an evolutionary puzzle The protection against suicide afforded to animals and young children Suicide as a by product of pain and human cognition Why psychodynamic defenses regulate the experiencing of painful events Links between suicidality and positive psychology The anti suicide role of spiritual and religious belief In raising and considering key questions regarding this most controversial act The Evolution of Suicide will appeal to researchers across a range of behavioral science disciplines At the same time the book s implications for clinical intervention and prevention will make it useful among mental health professionals and those involved with mental health policy

Cultural Conceptions of Mental Health and Therapy Anthony J. Marsella,G. White,2012-12-06 Within the past two decades there has been an increased interest in the study of culture and mental health relationships This interest has extended across many academic and professional disciplines including anthropology psychology sociology psychiatry public health and social work and has resulted in many books and scientific papers emphasizing the role of sociocultural factors in the etiology epidemiology manifestation and treatment of mental disorders It is now evident that sociocultural variables are inextricably linked to all aspects of both normal and abnormal human behavior But in spite of the massive accumulation of data regarding culture and mental health relationships sociocultural factors have still not been incorporated into existing biological and psychological perspectives on mental disorder and therapy Psychiatry the Western medical specialty concerned with mental disorders has for the most part continued to ignore socio cultural factors in its theoretical and applied approaches to the problem The major reason for this is psychiatry s continued commitment to a disease conception of mental disorder which assumes that mental disorders are largely biologically caused illnesses which are universally represented in etiology and manifestation Within this perspective mental disorders are regarded as caused by universal processes which lead to discrete and recognizable symptoms regardless of the culture in which they occur However this perspective is now the subject of growing criticism and debate

Suicide Jason Manning,2020-06-11 The conventional approach to suicide is psychiatric ask the average person why people kill themselves and they will likely cite depression But this approach fails to recognize suicide s social causes People kill themselves because of breakups and divorces because of lost jobs and ruined finances because of public humiliations and the threat of arrest While some psychological approaches address external stressors this comprehensive study is the first to systematically examine suicide as a social behavior with social catalysts Drawing on Donald Black s theories of conflict management and pure sociology Suicide presents a new theory of the social conditions that compel an aggrieved person to turn to self destruction Interpersonal conflict plays a central but underappreciated role in the incidence of suicide Examining a wide range of cross cultural cases Jason Manning argues that suicide arises from increased inequality and decreasing intimacy and that conflicts are more likely to become suicidal when they occur in a context of social inferiority As suicide rates continue to rise around the world this timely new theory can help clinicians scholars and members of the general public to explain and predict patterns of self destructive behavior

For the Sake of Forests and Gods Wolfram H. Dressler,2025-02-15 For the Sake of Forests and Gods documents the consequences of nonstate actors impinging on the existence of Indigenous peoples in the remote highlands of Palawan Island the Philippines Nimble focused and well funded religious and environmental organizations increasingly assume governmental authority over the lives and livelihoods of the Pala wan people within their ancestral territories Wolfram H Dressler traces these actors history and contemporary practices revealing how they bypass the state to govern the less governed In the highlands environmental NGOs valorize customary objects and practices to suppress swidden and support forest conservation while evangelical missionaries regulate Pala wan beliefs health and hygiene Bridging material studies and biopolitics For the Sake of Forests and Gods explores how these nonstate actors use customary objects for comprehensive reforms of Pala wan bodies and souls centering on how the unique properties of the Tingkep basket mediate nonstate biopower These reforms impact highlanders differently some adopt biopolitical ideals willingly others for political and economic gain Yet others resist interventions prioritizing family livelihoods Ultimately Dressler argues that Indigenous sovereignty matters more than ever as nonstate biopower intensifies in Southeast Asia s uplands

Spirits and Ships Andrea Acri,Roger Blench,Alexandra Landmann,2017-03-10 This volume seeks to foreground a borderless history and geography of South Southeast and East Asian littoral zones that would be maritime focused and thereby explore the ancient connections and dynamics of interaction that favoured the encounters among the cultures found throughout the region stretching from the Indian Ocean littorals to the Western Pacific from the early historical period to the present Transcending the artificial boundaries of macro regions and nation states and trying to bridge the arbitrary divide between inherently cosmopolitan high cultures e g Sanskritic Sinitic or Islamicate and local or indigenous cultures this multidisciplinary volume explores the metaphor of Monsoon Asia as a vast geo environmental area inhabited by speakers of numerous language phyla which for millennia has formed an integrated system of littorals where crops goods ideas cosmologies and ritual practices circulated on the sea routes governed by the seasonal monsoon winds The collective body of work presented in the volume describes Monsoon Asia as an ideal theatre for circulatory dynamics of cultural transfer interaction acceptance selection and avoidance and argues that despite the rich ethnic linguistic and sociocultural diversity a shared pattern of values norms and cultural models is discernible throughout the region

Bioethics and Biopolitics in Israel Hagai Boas, Yael Hashiloni-Dolev, Nadav Davidovitch, Dani Filc, Shai J. Lavi, 2018-01-11 Although the Israeli case of bioethics has been well documented this book offers a novel understanding of Israeli bioethics that is a milestone in the comparative literature of bioethics Bringing together a range of experts the book's interdisciplinary structure employs a contemporary sociopolitical oriented approach to bioethics issues with an emphasis on empirical analysis that will appeal not only to scholars of bioethics but also to students of law medicine humanities and social sciences around the world Its focus on the development of bioethics in Israel makes it especially relevant to scholars of Israeli society both in and out of Israel as well as medical practitioners and health policymakers in Israel

The Power of Parasites Dalia Iskander, 2021-11-30 This book describes how malaria both frustrates and facilitates life for Indigenous Palawan communities living in the forested foothills of the municipality of Bataraza on the island of Palawan in the Philippines Tracing the arc of malaria on the archipelago from colonial encounters to the present day it examines the ways in which malaria parasites have become entangled in contemporary lives It uniquely explores the experiences of local government leaders working towards sustainably developing this last ecological frontier health workers trying to meet international targets to eliminate malaria and Palawan people trying to keep their bodies social relations and the cosmos in careful balance In exquisite detail Dr Dalia Iskander shows how malaria emerged from and was intrinsic to a whole host of strategically orientated social practices that were enacted in as well as around the disease's name as people worked day to day to gain power in different guises in different arenas

Culture, Suicide, and the Human Condition Marja-Liisa Honkasalo, Miira Tuominen, 2014-03-01 Suicide is a puzzling phenomenon Not only is its demarcation problematic but it also eludes simple explanation The cultures in which suicide mortality is high do not necessarily have much else in common and neither is a single mental illness such as depression sufficient to lead a person to suicide In a word despite its statistical regularity suicide is unpredictable on the individual level The main argument emerging from this collection is that suicide should not be understood as a separate realm of pathological behavior but as a form of human action As such it is always dependent on the decision that the individual makes in a cultural ethical and socio economic context but the context never completely determines the decision This book also argues that cultural narratives concerning suicide have a problematic double function in addition to enabling the community to make sense of self inflicted death they also constitute a blueprint depicting suicide as a solution to common human problems
