Interactions Between Agroecosystems and Rural Communities Cornelia Flora, 2001-02-05 There is an increasing realization among biophysical scientists that human behavior drastically impacts the degree to which sound agroecosystems are implemented Written by an international team of experts assembled by a leading rural sociologist Interactions Between Agroecosystems and Rural Communities shows how human behavior impacts agroecosyst A Rediscovered Frontier Philip L. Jackson, Robert Kuhlken, 2006 A Rediscovered Frontier describes the changing land use issues taking place in the rapidly growing western United States paying special attention to the previously unexplored area of private lands planning and local growth management The book begins by exploring the term New West and then describes prototypical land use patterns found throughout the West It examines the spatial circumstances of rural and small town growth patterns and provides examples of the kinds of development that could occur elsewhere in areas having similar geographic situations The book takes a close look at Oregon s statewide planning approach to managing growth and concludes with a forward looking cooperative approach to comprehensive planning Intended as a text for college students taking courses in land use planning a sourcebook for land use planning and environmental management professionals as well as anyone who cares about western environments A Rediscovered Frontier addresses the social economic political and above all geographical realities of land use in the West today Agricultural Policy for the 21st Century Luther G. Tweeten, Stanley R. Thompson, 2008-06-02 Agricultural policy reform has become a very hot topic Over the next couple of years we will see the funding for these programs being hotly debated The thesis of this book is that a better informed public is essential to bring rationality to farm policy This book provides telling evidence that markets work that competent commercial farmers will earn returns on their resources as high as those earned elsewhere in the absence of income transfer to farmers

Smarter Growth John H. Spiers, 2018-04-17 Suburban sprawl has been the prevailing feature and double edged sword of metropolitan America s growth and development since 1945 The construction of homes businesses and highways that were signs of the nation s economic prosperity also eroded the presence of agriculture and polluted the environment This in turn provoked fierce activism from an array of local state and national environmental groups seeking to influence planning and policy Many places can lay claim to these twin legacies of sprawl and the attendant efforts to curb its impact but according to John H Spiers metropolitan Washington D C in particular laid the foundations for a smart growth movement that blossomed in the late twentieth century In Smarter Growth Spiers argues that civic and social activists played a key role in pushing state and local officials to address the environmental and fiscal costs of growth Drawing on case studies including the Potomac River s cleanup local development projects and agricultural preservation he identifies two periods of heightened environmental consciousness in the early to mid 1970s and the late 1990s that resulted in stronger development regulations and land preservation across much of metropolitan Washington Smarter Growth offers a fresh understanding of environmental politics in metropolitan America giving careful attention to the differences between rural suburban and urban communities and demonstrating how public officials and their constituents engaged in an ongoing dialogue that positioned environmental protection as an increasingly important facet of metropolitan development over the past four decades It reveals that federal policies were only one part of a larger decision making process and not always for the benefit of the environment Finally it underscores the continued importance of grassroots activists for pursuing growth that is environmentally fiscally and socially equitable in a word smarter
