

A person is walking away from the viewer down a dark, tunnel-like passage. The passage is made of stone or concrete blocks, and the walls are rough and uneven. At the end of the passage, there is a bright, glowing light, creating a strong silhouette of the person walking towards it. The overall atmosphere is mysterious and somewhat ominous.

Underground Man Gabriel Tarde:

Underground Man Gabriel Tarde, 2010-09-01 The philosophy of the French thinker Gabriel Tarde Underground Man Gabriel Tarde, 2016-10-01 For millions of years the light of the sun has been one of the factors allowing life on Earth to flourish This chilling novella from French sociologist and writer Gabriel Tarde imagines what would happen if that life giving luminosity were suddenly to be extinguished Can humanity band together to survive in this new world of perpetual darkness

Underground Man Gabriel Tarde, 2017-02-23 Published in 1896 in French as Fragment D Histoire Future and in 1905 in English as The Underground Man Gabriel Tarde's story of the end of the world is a post apocalyptic dystopian classic This edition includes an introduction by H G Wells Dystopian Classic Editions publishes works of dystopian and utopian literature that have survived through the generations and been recognized as classics A dystopian society is an imagined society in which the people are oppressed however the government propagandizes the society as being a utopia or a perfect society Typical themes in dystopian literature include public mistrust police states and overall unpleasantness for the citizens Authors of dystopian works strive to present a worst case scenario and negative depiction of the way things are in the story so as to make a criticism about a current situation in society and to call for a change Each Dystopian Classic Edition selected for publication presents such a story Underground Man Gabriel de Tarde, 1905 Underground Man Gabriel de Tarde, 2019-11-27 In Underground Man Gabriel de Tarde crafts a thought provoking exploration of individuality and social interaction through the lens of his unique philosophical ideals Written in the context of late 19th century France Tarde's narrative oscillates between fiction and philosophical discourse employing a modernist style that subverts traditional storytelling As he delves into the psyche of his protagonist Tarde weaves a complex tapestry of psychological and social commentary challenging prevailing notions of morality human behavior and the interplay of influence among individuals in an increasingly mechanized society Gabriel de Tarde was a pioneering sociologist and philosopher whose ideas often clashed with positivism and traditional scientific thought His background in law and experience in the judicial system informed his perspectives on social dynamics and the nature of influence Tarde's emphasis on the role of imitation and the interconnectedness of social actions reflects his attempt to bridge the gap between individual agency and collective behavior culminating in the creation of Underground Man as a medium to articulate these convictions This book is a must read for those interested in the foundations of social theory and the psychological underpinnings of modernity Tarde's incisive prose and innovative thought not only offer a captivating narrative but also invite readers to reflect deeply on their own existence within the social fabric Underground Man Gabriel de Tarde, 1991 Utopianism for a Dying Planet Gregory Claeys, 2024-12-10 How the utopian tradition offers answers to today's environmental crises In the face of Earth's environmental breakdown it is clear that technological innovation alone won't save our planet A more radical approach is required one that involves profound changes in individual and collective behavior Utopianism for a Dying Planet examines the ways the expansive history of utopian thought from its origins in ancient Sparta and ideas of the Golden Age through to today's thinkers can offer moral and imaginative guidance in the face of catastrophe. The utopian tradition which has been critical of conspicuous consumption and luxurious indulgence might light a path to a society that emphasizes equality, sociability and sustainability. Gregory Claeys unfolds his argument through a wide-ranging consideration of utopian literature, social theory and intentional communities. He defends a realist definition of utopia focusing on ideas of sociability and belonging as central to utopian narratives. He surveys the development of these themes during the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries before examining twentieth and twenty-first century debates about alternatives to consumerism. Claeys contends that the current global warming limit of 1.5°C (2.7°F) will result in cataclysm if there is no further reduction in the cap. In response, he offers a radical Green New Deal program which combines ideas from the theory of sociability with proposals to withdraw from fossil fuels and cease reliance on unsustainable commodities. An urgent and comprehensive search for antidotes to our planet's destruction. Utopianism for a Dying Planet asks for a revival of utopian ideas not as an escape from reality but as a powerful means of changing it.

Inhuman Networks Grant Bollmer, 2016-08-11 Social media's connectivity is often thought to be a manifestation of human nature buried until now revealed only through the diverse technologies of the participatory internet. Rather than embrace this view, Inhuman Networks: Social Media and the Archaeology of Connection argues that the human nature revealed by social media imagines network technology and data as models for behavior online. Covering a wide range of historical and interdisciplinary subjects, Grant Bollmer examines the emergence of the network as a model for relation in the 1700s and 1800s and follows it through marginal, often forgotten articulations of technology, biology, economics and the social. From this history, Bollmer examines contemporary controversies surrounding social media, extending out to the influence of network models on issues of critical theory, politics, popular science and neoliberalism. By moving through the past and present of network media, Inhuman Networks demonstrates how contemporary network culture unintentionally repeats debates over the limits of Western modernity to provide an idealized future where the human is interchangeable with abstract, flowing data connected through well-managed distributed networks.

The Creature Prasanta Chakravarty, 2021-09-30 The Creature is an invitation to follow the mechanics between power and pain which begets the creature. Creatures confront power in and through conjunctures of radical contingency. The casual use of power is an exercise in distraction. It is an abiding conundrum that those who endure affliction also exert it as a force over other living bodies in equal measure, not as acts of vengeance or bad faith but through deeds of forgetful randomness. To ensure social indemnity and security, creatures exercise force over kindred embodiments through a process of collective mimicry. In the bargain, creatures begin to disfigure and distort each other. The line between mutual slaughter and mutual embrace begins to blur. Each transgresses its own soul. At other times, power is an opaque, magisterial and disdainful style of conveyance. It reveals itself out of nowhere. But the steadfast creature is as resilient as it is vulnerable. The more it endures, the greater its perdurance Perduring creatures may sometimes gain a second sight forged out of a sense of lyricality love and abdication But is abdication or taking refuge in the wondrous sufficient to release all creatures from the fatal loop of power and pain Or will they have to slowly shed creaturely affliction by a rigorous process of decreation Sifting through the writings of Giambattista Vico Niccol Machiavelli Gabriel Tarde Miguel de Unamuno Jibanananda Das Lev Shestov Raymond Geuss Jean Starobinski Ernst Bloch Simone Weil Simon Critchley Sarah Kane and others this volume explores the creaturely predicament and its possibilities of freedom The five chapters in Book I lay down fundamental questions for the creaturely condition the question of mimicry the relationship between taking initiative and being hounded the bridge between senses and destitution and the vehemence of radical contingency Book II posits the question of skepticism fideism and their connection to resilience and generosity in creatures Book III is entirely devoted to various ways of conceiving the aesthetic through the tragic the epiphanic the catastrophic and through militant material eruptions Book II and III essentially delve into the sites of freedom that lurk within the condition of the creaturely Book IV is constituted of a single chapter on the subject of decreation it grapples with questions of attention anonymity and abdication

On Flat Ontologies and Law Michał Dudek, 2024-05-13 This book examines the importance of flat ontologies for law and sociolegal theory Associated with the emergence of new materialism in the humanities and social sciences the elaboration of flat ontologies challenges the binarism that has maintained the separation of culture from nature and the human from the nonhuman Although most work in legal theory and sociolegal studies
