The Church-as-family and Ethnocentrism in Sub-Saharan Africa Gerald K. Tanye, 2010 Ethnocentrism is one of the greatest obstacles to peace on the African continent Taking the Church as Family of God as a model of evangelization this work explores means of inculturating the Gospel message in African cultures in order to transform them make them blossom and enable Africans to live as authentic Christians in their cultures It examines the values of African extended families and the prospects of interreligious dialogue as means through which the various religious bodies can effectively work together to overcome ethnocentrism and its evil effects and thus establish a wholesome African society where every human person is at home irrespective of family orientation or tribal background

International Handbook of Inter-religious Education Kath Engebretson, Marian de Souza, Gloria Durka, Liam Gearon, 2010-08-17 This Handbook is based on the conviction of its editors and contributing authors that understanding and acceptance of as well as collaboration between religions has essential educational value The development of this Handbook rests on the further assumption that interreligious education has an important role in elucidating the global demand for human rights justice and peace Interreligious education reveals that the creeds and holy books of the world's religions teach about spiritual systems that reject violence and the individualistic pursuit of economic and political gain and call their followers to compassion for every human being It also seeks to lead students to an awareness that the followers of religions across the world need to be and to grow in dialogical relationships of respect and understanding An essential aim of interreligious education is the promotion of understanding and engagement between people of different religions and therefore it has great potential to contribute to the common good of the global community Interreligious education has grown from the interfaith movement whose beginning is usually identified with the World Parliament of Religions held in Chicago in 1893 This was the first time in history that leaders of the eastern and western religions had come together for dialogue and to consider working together for global unity

Dialogue Among the Faith Communities Lucien F. Cosijns, 2008 After twenty five centuries of rapid human evolution dialogue has now come to be a word and concept of daily use in the media and a theme of discussion all over the world In this current period of our human history the centuries long struggle for survival and our belligerent confrontation with each other is being replaced by a new era of collaboration in dialogue The most intriguing aspect of this new dialogue is that the interfaith conversation has extended worldwide within the past fifteen years Ultimately this new conversation has resulted in efforts towards a corroborative dialogue between the world of faiths and the political world This book s aim is to sketch this striking movement in its philosophical and religious evolution and expression

Understanding Religion Ulrich Riegel, Stefan Heil, Boris Kalbheim, Alexander Unser, 2019-10-14 Today religion is a complex issue In Western Europe the so called Christian heritage is challenged by both other religious traditions and secular worldviews It is therefore essential to understand the complexity of religion in different contexts This volume addresses four questions in this regard How can we assess religion and religiosity appropriately What are important markers of religiosity How does religion affect recent society How can religion be taught in modern society By dealing with these questions the contributions to this volume offer an insight into the recent state of the art of research on religion and religiosity within the field of religious education on an international level

Understanding Spirituality and the Sacred in Social Work Practice Mary Jo McVeigh, Joel Hollier, Jioji Ravulo, 2025-03-31

Social work is constantly epistemically evolving and embracing diverse bodies of knowledge to inform its ontology and practice frameworks. Over the years, the impact of feminist, post-colonial and queer theory, for example, has broadened the social work lens and invited a welcome departure from dominant Westernised patriarchal and positivist paradigms. However, the separation of the spiritual realm from casework, clinical, community and group work traditions of social work remained steadfast. The last decade or so has seen forays into the issues of social work and spirituality. This examination into spirituality and social work has shown that for many service users, spiritual practices, be they religious or non-religious, are important in their lives and their way out of difficulties. Concurrently, relationships between socio-political movements and global religions have grown increasingly complex. To create a truly holistic approach to the needs of service users, it is important that social work policy and practice give voice to these complexities and understand the place of spirituality within service delivery. This book critically reflects upon and discusses the intersecting role of spirituality in the lives of people who access social work services. By gathering contributions from people with lived experience, practitioners and academics, this book will explore a comprehensive range of issues, opening the area of spirituality to current critical socio-political and cultural thought. It will be of interest to all social work scholars, students and practitioners.
