Index to Journals in Education ,1980 Moving Beyond Myths National Research Council,Mathematical Sciences Education Board,Committee on the Mathematical Sciences in the Year 2000,1991-02-01 Over the next decade the mathematical community and the nation s colleges and universities must restructure fundamentally the culture content and context of undergraduate mathematics Acknowledging the weaknesses in the present college mathematics curriculum and the ways in which it is taught this book cites exemplary programs that point the way toward achieving the same world wide preeminence for mathematics education that the United States enjoys in mathematical research Moving Beyond Myths sets forth ambitious goals for collegiate mathematics by the year 2000 and provides a sweeping plan of action to accomplish them It calls on mathematics faculty their departments their professional societies colleges and universities and government agencies to do their parts to implement the plan help the public move beyond commonly held myths about mathematics and bring about a revitalization of undergraduate mathematics Dilemma in Teaching Mathematics Nafisah Kamariah Kamaruddin (Md.),Zulkarnain Amin (Md),2012 The challenge in mathematics education is finding the best way to teach mathematics When students learn the reasoning and proving in mathematics they will be proficient in mathematics Students must know mathematics before they can apply it Symbolism and logic is the key to both the learning of mathematics and its effective application to problem situations Above all the use of appropriate language is the key to making mathematics intelligible In a very real sense mathematics is a language Proficiency in this language can be acquired only by long and carefully supervised experience in using it in situations involving argument and proof Mathematics is essentially a structured hierarchy of proposition forged by logic on a postulation base However nowadays the teaching of mathematics is more on focusing the mathematical procedures Students learn variety of problem solving in mathematics and then on its application In addition the teaching of mathematics is moving towards the use of mathematics in the real world This method is said to motivate students to learn mathematics and enable them to transfer this knowledge in their daily live and future career

There are beliefs that due to the current over emphasis on problem solving and applications students who enjoy working the problems in high school math and hence decide that they like mathematics and want to major in it find that the nature of the subject changes abruptly when they encounter the proof courses They are bewildered and dismayed Their previous problem solving courses did not prepare them for this abrupt changed Is argument and proof in the applications problem centered domain of school mathematics being postponed suppressed and downgraded Are we sacrificing the essence of mathematics in order to motivate students to learn and appreciate mathematics In this paper the authors will discuss on this issue
