Susan Booysen

Wits Application Forms 2015:

Fees Must Fall Susan Booysen, 2016-10-01 This book explores the student discontent a year after the start of the 2015 South African FeesMustFall revolt. FeesMustFall the student revolt that began in October 2015 was an uprising against lack of access to and financial exclusion from higher education in South Africa. More broadly it radically questioned the socio-political dispensation resulting from the 1994 social pact between big business, the ruling elite and the liberation movement. The 2015 revolt links to national and international youth struggles of the recent past and is informed by black consciousness politics and social movements of the international left. Yet its objectives are more complex than those of earlier struggles. The student movement has challenged the hierarchical top down leadership system of university management and its double speak of professing to act in workers and students interests yet entrenching a regressive system for control and governance. University managements while on one level amenable to change have also co-opted students into their ranks to create co-responsibility for the highly bureaucratised university financial aid that stands in the way of their social revolution. This book maps the contours of student discontent a year after the start of the FeesMustFall revolt. Student voices dissect colonialism, improper compromises by the founders of democratic South Africa, feminism, worker rights and meaningful education. In depth assessments by prominent scholars reflect on the complexities of student activism, its impact on national and university governance and offer provocative analyses of the power of the revolt.

Young Women Against Apartheid Emily Bridger, 2021 Provides a new perspective on the struggle against apartheid and contributes to key debates in South African history, gender inequality, sexual violence and the legacies of the liberation struggle. WINNER OF THE RHS GLADSTONE BOOK PRIZE 2022, WINNER OF THE SOCIETY FOR THE HISTORY OF CHILDREN AND YOUTH GRACE ABBOTT BOOK PRIZE 2021, SHORTLISTED FOR THE ASAUK FAGE. relate their personal experiences to collective histories of the struggle and insert themselves into a historical narrative from which they have been excluded. Through exploring these women's memories, this book serves as an important corrective to South Africa's male-centric literature on violence and provides a new gendered perspective on the wider histories of township politics, activism and conflict.

Digital Indonesia Edwin Jurriens, 2018-02-14 This book places Indonesia at the forefront of the global debate about the impact of disruptive digital technologies. Digital technology is fast becoming the core of life, work, culture and identity. Yet while the number of Indonesians using the Internet has followed the upward global trend, some groups – the poor, the elderly, women, the less well educated people living in remote communities – are disadvantaged. This interdisciplinary collection of essays by leading researchers and scholars, as well as e-governance and e-commerce insiders, examines the impact of digitalisation on the media industry, governance, commerce, informal sector, employment, education, cybercrime, terrorism, religion, artistic and cultural expression and much more. It presents groundbreaking analysis of the impact of digitalisation in one of the world's most diverse, geographically vast nations. In weighing arguments about the opportunities and challenges presented by digitalisation it puts the very idea of a technological revolution into critical perspective

Rethinking Higher Education in Post-Apartheid South Africa Emnet Tadesse Woldegiorgis,Logan Govender,Dennis Zami Atibuni,2025-07-25 This book explores the opportunities and epistemological and structural challenges facing higher education in postcolonial South Africa and argues for a fundamental transformation to meet the needs of the 21st century Taking the concept of transformation as a unifying thread this book discusses the evolving trajectories of higher education in South Africa with particular emphasis on the decolonial initiatives that have emerged in the post Apartheid era During this time there have been persistent calls for South Africa to move beyond Eurocentric education programmes and curricula in favour of a system that reflects the continent's culture and identities of all South Africans. The book argues that incremental reforms of existing structures are insufficient and that instead a deeper, more fundamental shift in higher education structures, values and systems is needed. Overall, the book calls for a comprehensive transformation to expand access for historically disadvantaged communities, enhance quality and competitiveness, address past injustices and improve the quality and capacity to act together for a more sustainable and just future. Also exploring the digital transformations which have accelerated in the wake of the COVID-19 pandemic, this book will be an essential read for researchers and policymakers working on higher education in South Africa. Contemporary Management Education Piet Naudé, 2021-11-05. Why are we so important? What value do we add and what good do we create? These are the opening questions posed to management educators in this book. This is followed by uncomfortable questions about colonization: Who is in the centre and whose knowledge counts and inequality? Whom do we exclude? After questioning the easy adoption of technology: What are we embracing and the challenge posed by global warming? Can management education help stop climate change? The author ends by sketching some leadership lessons required for the future. What lessons can we learn in a black swan event? Mixing philosophical analyses with anecdotes from experience, the author does not shy away from discussing controversial views to give direction to current debates. Tracing eight such crucial questions and providing well-researched perspectives, this book is an engaging read for anyone interested in the future direction of business schools in particular and management education in general. There are many books and articles on business education, but few as deep and insightful as Contemporary Management Education. I enthusiastically recommend it to anyone who seeks to understand and improve the training of business leaders. Peter Tufano, Saïd Business School, University of Oxford. An amazing read. Piet Naude is eclectic and sparkling. He applies his talents to the wicked maze of management education in society. No issue is more important for global business. No writer is better qualified. Thomas Donaldson, The Wharton School, University of Pennsylvania. A powerful, persuasive and superbly compelling book. Contemporary Management Education serves as an invaluable and informative reference to the essential issues that are shaping the future. Sherif Kamel, Dean, School of Business, The American University in Cairo. Youth In South Africa

Ariane De Lannoy, Malose Langa, 2021-05-05. South Africa is characterised by a youthful population and the challenges and possibilities that characterise the young generation are both warning signs and beacons of hope for a nation founded on social justice. Youth in South Africa Agency in visibility and national development takes stock of the nation's development as it affects young people. Authors offer both personal and professional insights into the ways in which the youth navigate their own pathways to adulthood. These include formal and informal engagements with politics as well as protest, unemployment, entrepreneurship, education, religion, experiences with sexuality and violence and a multitude of other life experiences. Contributors paint a picture of the initiative, agency and resilience of the youth as well as the challenges before them. Authors also identify the state of waithood faced by those unable to make the transition out of youth into full adulthood as a result of their socio economic circumstances and political context By engaging these experiences and insights and primarily informed by the inputs of young people the authors highlight the limitations of existing youth policies and frameworks The case is made for policy instruments to be informed by the lived experiences of the youth as they navigate a complex macrosocial environment and by the messages the youth communicate about the limitations of current approaches

Church Planting in Post-Christian Soil Christopher James, 2017-11-10 National headlines regularly herald the decline of Christianity in the United States citing historically low levels of confidence in organized religion drops in church attendance church closures and the dramatic rise of the Nones Scarcely heard are stories from the thousands of new churches and new forms of church that are springing up each year across the country In this book Christopher James attends carefully to stories of ecclesial innovation taking place in Seattle Washington a city on the leading edge of trends shaping the nation as a whole James s study of the new churches founded in this post Christian city offers both theological reflection and pragmatic advice After an in depth survey and interview based analysis of the different models of church planting he encountered James identifies five threads of practical wisdom 1 embracing local identity and mission 2 cultivating embodied experiential everyday spirituality 3 engaging community life as means of witness and formation 4 prioritizing hospitality as a cornerstone practice and 5 discovering ecclesial vitality in a diverse ecclesial ecology Stimulating encouraging and stereotype shattering this book invites readers to reconsider the narrative that portrays these first decades of the twenty first century as a period of ecclesial death and decline and to view our time instead as a hope filled season of ecclesial renewal and rebirth

Realigning International Trade Negotiation Asymmetry Ms. Olajumoke Omoniyi Oduwale, 2011 Recently it has become apparent to developing countries in the WTO that their limited bargaining power has in fact been a stumbling block to obtaining desired negotiation outcomes in the multilateral trade system Thus to execute any fundamental changes to the status quo there was a need to cluster together pool resources and form alliances to leverage their collective strength in the negotiations What remained unclear however was what role this increased coalition activity by developing countries played in the current WTO negotiations process Therefore the primary purpose of this dissertation is to describe how this shift toward coalitions as a negotiation strategy by developing countries occurred and to consider the possible implications of this coalition strategy for the future of the multilateral trading system Due to the complexity of the Doha Round I restricted my area of study to the Doha Round agriculture negotiations as a single case study since agriculture is the undisputed locomotive of the Round having set the tone for the majority of the negotiations Using qualitative data I captured a contextual description of four developing country agriculture coalitions Cotton 4 G 20 G 33 and G 90 as nested cases throughout the agriculture negotiation process from March 2003 to March 2010 I described the function of developing country coalitions in the negotiations by comparing and contrasting aspects of each coalition s negotiation strategy or tactics during the research study period In sum I investigate my preliminary assessment of the reason coalition strategy emerged as the dominant negotiation tool for developing countries in this particular WTO Round I then describe how these coalitions maneuvered in the ongoing negotiations during the study period At the end of my descriptive comparative analysis I was able to explain the significance of coalitions as a strategic tool for developing countries in WTO trade rules negotiations as well as assess the specific role that each of the four case study coalitions have played in the negotiation process In conclusion the study highlights some of the lessons learned from developing country coalition strategy in this Round The information derived could serve as a platform for further research in this area and eventually explain the raison d'être behind the negotiated outcomes
