Maxwell, Ann E. Person, 2017-01-19 Community colleges face pressure to do more with less that have prompted many college leaders to consider fundamental changes to the ways they have typically done business. Because piecemeal solutions have not often been effective or efficient, colleges are moving far beyond discreet programs or interventions and are attempting to implement comprehensive reform efforts. This volume conceptualizes comprehensive reform as being marked by a focus on student success, a theory of change that ties programmatic components together in an intentional and cohesive package implemented at multiple levels throughout the college and touching the majority of students, and a culture of evidence that uses data to continuously assess programs and processes against student success. Presenting original analyses that describe the rationale for comprehensive reform, this volume examines the challenges involved in implementing, evaluating, and sustaining those efforts. This is the 176th volume of this Jossey-Bass quarterly report series. Essential to the professional libraries of presidents, vice presidents, deans, and other leaders in today's open-door institutions, New Directions for Community Colleges provides expert guidance in meeting the challenges of their distinctive and expanding educational mission.

Reaching All Writers Joanne Baird Giordano, Holly Hassel, Jennifer Heinert, Cassandra Phillips, 2024-02-21 Reaching All Writers brings together decades of writing studies experience, research, and scholarship to help organize first-year writing courses around inclusive teaching practices and foundational concepts that support disciplinary learning for all college writers, including students who have been excluded from more selective higher education institutions. Using threshold concepts and transfer as a foundation, the authors provide an invaluable resource for multiple contexts: instructors working off the tenure track and/or at multiple institutions, two-year college programs without a writing program administrator and writing program graduate teaching assistant training courses. Each chapter includes an overview of a threshold concept, disciplinary background readings, practical teaching strategies, assignment and learning activity ideas, assessment principles, examples from student and instructor perspectives, and questions for reflection and discussion. Reaching All Writers describes effective teaching practices to help all college writing instructors, regardless of their institutional contexts, make changes that support equitable and inclusive learning opportunities with a focus on teaching students whose backgrounds and learning experiences are different from those with more educational or economic privilege. Both new and experienced teachers adapting first-year college writing courses will find the book's blend of practical strategies and disciplinary knowledge a useful companion for facilitating new classroom and program needs or designing new teaching assistant training courses.

Immigrant-Origin Students in Community College Carola Suárez-Orozco, Olivia Osei-Twumasi, 2019 This groundbreaking volume is the first to concentrate specifically on the experiences, challenges, and triumphs of immigrant-origin community college students. Drawing on data from the Research on Immigrants in Community College Study (RICC), chapters highlight the unique needs of these students, the role of classrooms and campus settings, out-of-class time spent on campus, the importance of relationships, expectations versus outcomes, and key recommendations for policy and practice. The text integrates an array of important topics, including developmental challenges language learning the undocumented student experience microaggressions counseling center use and academic engagement Above all this book looks at what community colleges can do to better help this growing population of new Americans succeed This book is a gift of hope and possibility to all of us who know that community colleges are the pathway to educational opportunity and equity for the students who in the not too distant future will be the face of America Estela Mara Bensimon director of the Center for Urban Education USC Rossier School of Education Offers detailed analysis and concrete recommendations on how community colleges could better serve students from immigrant backgrounds It is a must read for policymakers and practitioners in the field Randy Capps Migration Policy Institute

Transformative Practices for Minority Student Success Dina C. Maramba, Timothy P. Fong, 2023-07-03 Between 2000 and 2015 the Asian American Pacific Islander population grew from nearly 12 million to over 20 million at 72% percent recording the fastest growth rate of any major ethnic and racial group in the US This book the first to focus wholly on Asian American and Native American Pacific Islander Institutions AANAPISIs and their students offers a corrective to misconceptions about these populations and documents student services and leadership programs innovative pedagogies models of community engagement and collaborations across academic and student affairs that have transformed student outcomes The contributors stress the importance of disaggregating this population that is composed of over 40 ethnic groups that vary in immigrant histories languages religion educational attainment levels and socioeconomic status This book recognizes there is a large population of underserved Asian American and Pacific Islander college students who given their educational disparities are in severe need of attention The contributors describe effective practices that enable instructors to validate the array of students' specific backgrounds and circumstances within the contexts of developing such skills as writing leadership and cross cultural communication for their class cohorts as a whole They demonstrate that paying attention to the diversity of student experiences in the teaching environment enriches the learning for all The timeliness of this volume is important because of the keen interest across the nation for creating equitable environments for our increasingly diverse students This book serves as an important resource for predominantly white institutions who are admitting greater numbers of API and other underrepresented students It also offers models for other minority serving institutions who face similar complexities of multiple national or ethnic groups within their populations provides ideas and inspiration for the AANAPISI community and guidance for institutions considering applying for AANAPISI status and funding This book is for higher education administrators faculty researchers student affairs practitioners who can learn from AANAPISIs how to successfully engage and teach students with widely differing cultural backgrounds and educational circumstances Square Pegs and Round Holes Fred A. Bonner II, Rosa M. Banda, Stella L. Smith, aretha f. marbley, 2023-07-03

Developing alternative student development frameworks and models this groundbreaking book provides student affairs practitioners as well as faculty with illuminating perspectives and viable approaches for understanding the development of today's diverse student populations and for building the foundation for their academic success and self authorship With the increasing number of adult working students minoritized multiracial LGBTQ and first generation students this book offers readers vital insights into and ways to interrogate existing practice and develop relevant responses to the needs of these populations Building on and critiquing the past frameworks and integrating the insights of contemporary scholarship on student development the contributors collectively put forward a robust theoretical and methodological foundation for this work using Critical Race Theory as their central frame CRT allows chapter authors to situate race related encounters at the center of their proposed alternative framework or model and deconstruct and challenge commonly held assumptions about diverse college student development In the tradition of CRT each author offers an alternative model or framework that can be applied to the diverse population upon which the chapter is framed prompting readers to address such questions as Who are our college students What set of experiences do our students bring to the higher education context What role have their environments contexts i e home p 12 community family peer groups mentors played in our student's lives What impact have intervening variables i e race oppression power had on their experiences What strategies do they use to overcome developmental obstacles How do they define success and how they know they have achieved it By laying bare the experiences of these diverse college students that inform this volume's alternative frameworks this book contests that notion that they constitute square pegs that must fit into the round holes of traditional frameworks
