The Impact of Social Networks, Interpersonal and Mediated Communication on Self-efficacy Expectancies for Performing Preventive Dietary Behaviors Nalini Visvanathan, 1985 Social Networks and their Opinion Mining Bapurao Bandgar, 2020-01-22 Document from the year 2019 in the subject Communications Public Relations Advertising Marketing Social Media language English abstract Social media content has stirred much excitement and created abundant opportunities for understanding the opinions of the general public and consumers toward social events political movements company strategies marketing campaigns and product preferences Many new and exciting social geo political and business related research questions can be answered by analyzing the thousands even millions of comments and responses expressed in various blogs forums social media and social network sites virtual worlds and tweets This is one of the good medium to explore the opinion of people about the particular event and so that this may help in the making any business decisions or the feedback about political activities to be carried out in future Therefore we extracted the real time tweets on the social tweet keyword from the twitter web site news website etc using the twitter 4j Libraries and their API s and JSOUP Libraries for obtaining the real time tweets from the respective web sites for English keyword only These tweets are preprocessed and obtained the keyword related sentences only These preprocessed tweets further used for the removal of slang hash tags and URL and the removal of stop words We also used the abbreviations and emoticon conversion to get corresponding complete meaning full message from tweets The processed tweets are further classified using three unstructured models EEC IPC and SWNC The results of these models are compared by obtaining the confusion matrix and their parameter such as precision recall and accuracy The SWNC model showed good result of classification over the EEC and IPC Further the Hybrid model is used to reduce the number of the neutral tweets and obtained the corresponding results and shown by pie graph By comparing the results of the SWNC model and the Hybrid model it is observed that the numbers of neutral tweets are reduced in Hybrid model The % range of reduction is around 20 25% in comparison with the SWNC model Thus we classified the real time social tweets using unstructured and their hybrid models For obtaining these results we developed the windows based indigenous integrated and user friendly application in java and using NetBean s framework

Social Network Analysis in Program Evaluation Maryann M. Durland, Kimberly A. Fredericks, 2006-02-10 The application of social network analysis SNA is relatively new for mainstream evaluation and like most other innovations it has yet to be fully explored in this field This volume aims to fill the gaps within SNA methodology exploration by first reviewing the foundations and development of network analysis within the social sciences and the field of evaluation The focus then turns to the methodology Who holds power in a network and what measures indicate whether that power is direct or indirect Which subgroups have formed and where are they positioned in an organization How divided is an organization Who forms the core of collaboration and where are the experts in an organization These are the types of common questions explored in the four case studies of the use of network analysis within an evaluative framework

Consumer Behavior II Margaret Hogg, 2006-01-17 This landmark work contains classic and contemporary writings including some of the most provocative and influential contributions to the field from across the social sciences over the past thirty years thus representing the increasing interdisciplinary richness of research in consumer behavior The change in emphasis from research on the individual to the context in which individuals create meaning from their consumption choices is a key thematic device in these three volumes which focus on the field of advertising and consumption possessions brands and the self and sub cultures of consumption
