Evangelista,2023-08-15 Innovation and the Arms Race investigates the causes and mechanisms of the technological arms race between the United States and the Soviet Union Challenging the commonly held notion that Soviet weapons innovation processes simply mirror those of the United States Matthew Evangelista shows that the United States usually leads in introducing new military technology while the Soviets typically react to American initiatives Evangelista bases his study of pivotal nuclear weapons development decisions on a variety of US and USSR primary sources including the memoirs of weapons designers and scientists declassified intelligence analyses Soviet Academy of Science documents and Nikita Khrushchev's taped reminiscences He finds that in the United States impetus for innovation comes from the bottom at the initiative of corporate or government researchers and military officials whereas the centralized Soviet system produces innovations from the top in response to foreign developments A revelatory analysis of US military policy Soviet American relations and weaponry development Innovation and the Arms Race bears lessons for the study of great power competition and military innovation today

Target America Steve Zaloga,1993 From the development of the A bomb and the role of espionage surrounding it to the dire environmental consequences of its nuclear power program the development of nuclear technology and weaponry in the former Soviet Union is impressively researched in this important pioneering study

Green,2024-12-18 Imagine a world on the precipice of annihilation where the fate of humanity hangs in the balance of a single miscalculation This is the world of the Cold War where two superpowers the United States and the Soviet Union engaged in a deadly game of brinkmanship fuelled by suspicion paranoia and the relentless pursuit of ultimate power This book delves into the heart of this terrifying period exploring the escalating arms race that threatened to engulf the world in nuclear fire It unveils the complex strategies technological breakthroughs and ideological clashes that shaped this tumultuous era Step into the secret laboratories and war rooms witness the development of awe inspiring weapons like the hydrogen bomb and understand the psychological impact of living under the constant threat of mutually assured destruction The book reveals the human stories behind the political machinations showcasing the lives of scientists politicians and ordinary citizens caught in the crossfire of this global conflict It examines the motivations behind the arms race dissecting the intricate web of fears and ambitions that drove both superpowers towards the brink But beyond the dangers it also explores the unintended consequences like the rise of global nuclear proliferation and the enduring legacy of mistrust that still casts a shadow over international relations today Through meticulously researched accounts and captivating narratives this book offers a compelling and insightful look into the Cold War arms race It is a reminder of the fragility of peace and the enduring human capacity for both innovation and destruction The Arms Race and Sino-Soviet Relations Walter C. Clemens, 1968 The Second Superpower Gerard Holden, 1985
