Intergenerational Bonds Mary Renck Jalongo, Patricia A. Crawford, 2022-02-22 This book studies the many different ways in which the lives of the first third and fourth generations intersect and the reciprocal benefits that can accrue from establishing positive intergenerational bonds The unifying feature across the chapters is that the authors view these relationships as a powerful influence on Quality of Life QoL The book takes the stance that older adults figure prominently in the QoL of young children with the latter group defined here as ranging in age from infancy up to and including eight years of age It examines how bonds with older adults can affect young children s functioning across developmental domains physical emotional social and cognitive It addresses questions of importance to those who have a commitment to the very young such as What benefits can young children derive from positive bonds with older adults How do young children understand the aging process and develop respect for the elderly How can published research be used to guide both informal and formal interactions between the older generation and the newest one and finally How can various stakeholders such as professionals families organizations and communities collaborate to enrich and enlarge the kind and amount of support that older adults provide to the very young child

Teaching Compassion: Humane Education in Early Childhood Mary Renck Jalongo,2013-07-23 In response to highly publicized incidents of school violence educators across the United States and in many other nations are seeking effective ways to prevent and modify aggressive and anti social behaviors in students One of the major recommendations of the research is that efforts to prevent cruelty need to begin early during the early childhood years of birth through age eight The focus of Teaching Compassion Humane Education in Early Childhood is guiding young children to accept responsibility for and to be kind in their interactions with fellow human beings animals and the environment Although humane education is a relatively new concept in the field of early childhood education professionals in the field are very familiar with many of the related concepts including promoting positive interpersonal interactions teaching children the skills of self regulation giving children experience in caring for living things and protecting the environment This edited volume is an interdisciplinary compendium of professional wisdom gathered from experts in the fields of education child development science psychology sociology and humane organizations As the book amply documents the concept of humane education is powerful integrative timely and appropriate in work with young children Teaching Compassion Humane Education in Early Childhood shows how it is possible for adults dedicated to the care and education of young children to balance attention to the cognitive and affective realms and in so doing to elevate the overall quality of early childhood programs for children families and communities
