Unified Theories Of Cognition The William James Lectures:

Unified Theories of Cognition Allen Newell, 1994 Newell introduces Soar an architecture for general cognition A pioneer system in AI Soar is the first problem solver to create its own subgoals and learn continuously from its own experience Its ability to operate within the real time constraints of intelligent behavior illustrates important characteristics of human cognition

Unified Theories of Cognition Allen Newell, 1990 mind one of the great problems of philosophy should also transcend disciplines and attract a large scientific audience

The Boundaries of Humanity James J. Sheehan, Morton Sosna, 2024-03-29 To the age old debate over what it means to be human the relatively new fields of sociobiology and artificial intelligence bring new if not necessarily compatible insights What have these two fields in common Have they affected the way we define humanity These and other timely questions are addressed with colorful individuality by the authors of The Boundaries of Humanity Leading researchers in both sociobiology and artificial intelligence combine their reflections with those of philosophers historians and social scientists while the editors explore the historical and contemporary contexts of the debate in their introductions The implications of their individual arguments and the often heated controversies generated by biological determinism or by mechanical models of mind go to the heart of contemporary scientific philosophical and humanistic studies Contributors Arnold I Davidson John Dupr Roger Hahn Stuart Hampshire Evelyn Fox Keller Melvin Konner Alan Newell Harriet Ritvo James J Sheehan Morton Sosna Sherry Turkle Bernard Williams Terry Winograd This title is part of UC Press s Voices Revived program which commemorates University of California Press s mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice reach and impact Drawing on a backlist dating to 1893 Voices Revived makes high quality peer reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print on demand technology This title was originally published in 1991

Soar: A Cognitive Architecture in Perspective J.A. Michon, Aladin Akyrrek, 2013-03-12 Soar A Cognitive Architecture in Perspective represents a European perspective on Soar with the exception of the special contribution from Allen Newell arguing for Unified Theories of Cognition The various papers derive from the work of the Soar Research Group that has been active at the University of Groningen The Netherlands since 1987 The work reported here has been inspired in particular by two topics that precipitated the group s interest in Soar in the first place road user behavior and the temporal organization of behavior more specifically planning At the same time the various contributions go well beyond the simple use of Soar as a convenient medium for modeling human cognitive activity In every paper one or more fundamental issues are raised that touch upon the very nature and consistency of Soar as an intelligent architecture As a result the reader will learn about the operator implementation problem chunking multitasking the need to constrain the depth of the goal stack and induction etc Soar is still at a relatively early stage of development It does nevertheless constitute an important breakthrough in the area of computer architectures for general intelligence Soar shows one important direction that future efforts to build intelligent systems should take if they aim for a comprehensive and psychologically meaningful theory of cognition This is argued in a powerful way by Newell in his contribution to this volume For this reason the Soar system will probably play an important integrative role within cognitive science in bringing together important subdomains of psychology computer science linguistics and the neurosciences Although Soar is not the only architecture for intelligence it is one of the most advanced and theoretically best motivated architectures presently available Soar A Cognitive Architecture in Perspective is of special interest to researchers in the domains of cognitive science computer science and artificial intelligence cognitive psychology and the philosophy of mind Cognitive Modeling Thad A.
